STILLMAN FIGHTS LOVE SUIT

CHEAP MONEY IS NOISY ISSUE NOW ON CAPITOL HILL

Inflation Schemes Fill Congress.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The atmosphere of Capitol hill is surcharged with talk of inflation. More than 50 bills proposing all sorts of schemes of inflation for the purpose of cheapening money for debtors and boosting commodity prices for producers are pending and each day some new plan is brought forth.

The inflationists are getting chesty and predicting cheap money legislation before the end of this session. The anti-inflationists merely smile tolerantly, confident that President Hoover would successfully check any program of inflation with a veto.

Await Word from Headquarters.

The inflation bills are pending in various committees which have done nothing thereon up to date, although holding out promises of hearings on the various measures within the next fortnight. So far as the Democratic house is concerned the disciples of the "new deal" are all at sea.

Assistant New Dealer John N. Garner and all the other new dealers don't know exactly to what extent, if any, cheap money enters into the new deal. Hence the committees are proceeding warily till they can find out.

Some hope is entertained among the Democrats that they will be led out of the perplexities on this subject by the head new dealer himself, President Elect Roosevelt, when he sojourns in Washington tomorrow and Friday. Mr. Roosevelt has not clearly defined his attitude toward inflation, although his utterances in the presidential canvass on the relief of the debtor class appeared to exclude resort to cheap money.

Platform for Sound Money.

The Democratic platform declared for a "sound currency to be preserved at all hazards." The only concession it made to the inflationists was espousal of an international conference for the rehabilitation of silver.

New York financiers, believing that inflation is going to be a big issue during the Roosevelt régime, have been at considerable pains to learn the attitude of the head new dealer. As a result the word was being passed around Wall street yesterday that the President elect is opposed to inflation of the currency, but is in favor of inflation of credit through the operations of the federal reserve system.

If this be true, Mr. Roosevelt is in accord with the present policy of the federal reserve system, which, for nearly a year, has pursued a credit inflation policy through purchasing of more than a billion dollars' worth of government securities.

One of the purposes of this policy was to boost commodity prices, a purpose which has not been attained up to date, mainly because while the means of credit inflation has been provided there has been no inflation.

The reserve bank operations resulted in piling up excess member bank reserves of more than 500 millions of idle money upon which more than five billions of credit could be based. But partly because industry, at a standstill, is seeking few loans and partly because the banks are fearful of making long term loans this reservoir of credit has not been tapped.

With the prices of farm products down 50 per cent or more the agrarian demand reflected in congress is for either a scaling down of the debts of the farmers or a cheapening of the money with which to pay the debts. At present the movement is toward both of these objectives.

Filibuster Based on Inflation.

The cause of the inflationists has suddenly been brought into the limelight by the filibuster against the Glass bank reform bill conducted by Senators Huey Long [Rad. Dem., La.] and Elmer Thomas [Rad. Dem., Okla.], both of whom are inflationists credited with maneuvering to force acceptance of a currency inflation program as the price of passage of the Glass bill.

In the house much significance attaches to the introduction yesterday by Representative Henry B. Steagall [Dem., Ala.], chairman of the banking and currency committee, of a bill for the remonetization of silver. This step followed hard on the declaration of Majority Leader Henry T. Rainey that silver remonetization legislation is about as far as he is disposed to go toward currency inflation.

There is a pretty general opinion

SEE ROOSEVELT, HOOVER ACCORD ON DEBTS MOVE

Conference Will Be Held Tomorrow.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—A Hoover-Roosevelt agreement on some form of war debt negotiations procedure is in sight, according to advance information reaching the capital today through informal sources.

The war debts matter is to be one of the major problems discussed at the White House conference Friday by President Hoover, President Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, Secretary of the Treasury Mills, Secretary of State Stimson, and one or two advisors for the incoming chief executive. The parley will mark the third attempt by the Hoover administration to persuade the President elect to cooperate in launching a new debts revision move.

Meanwhile it became certain that a special session of congress will be called by the new President.

Stimson Paves Way.

While the White House confined its advance publicity to the single statement that foreign affairs were to be discussed by the outgoing and incoming Presidents, it was made known in other quarters that emphasis is to be placed on the war debt problem and plans for working out a basis of cooperation. The report was that both principals have evinced a willingness to get together since Secretary Stimson talked with Mr. Roosevelt in New York a few days ago.

According to an official in touch with the war debts situation both President Hoover and President Elect Roosevelt are in agreement that something should be done in the matter. Both are said to be in tentative accord that some form of commission should be set up to open negotiations with Great Britain and other powers which have not defaulted on their war debts.

Great Britain Anxious.

Great Britain has been reported anxious to begin negotiations on the debts at once. It was said in this connection that it was being argued by the Hoover administration that early reopening of the debts matter with Great Britain would make possible the pushing forward of the date for the forthcoming international economic conference. Under the plan discussed above no decision would be made by the American commission prior to Mr. Roosevelt's assumption of office.

Thus far no agreement has been reached on how this commission would be appointed. At both earlier Hoover attempts to reach an agreement on a war debt precedure with the President elect Mr. Roosevelt declined to accept joint responsibility for the action of a suggested debt commission.

Proposal Turned Down.

At the first conference Mr. Hoover suggested the President elect join with him in the appointment of a commission which would negotiate individually with the powers seeking war debt revision. Mr. Roosevelt countered with a suggestion that the administration appoint a fact finding commission to gather data which would be turned over to the new administration on March 4. The President turned the proposal down cold. The inference was plain that the administration would accept nothing less than Mr. Roosevelt's agreement in advance to debt revision.

ROOSEVELT LEAVES TODAY

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

New York, Jan. 17.—[Special.]—President Elect Roosevelt tonight is preparing to leave tomorrow morning for a three weeks' absence that will include a conference with President Hoover, a two weeks' sojourn at Warm Springs, Ga., and a week's hideaway cruise in southern waters.

The President elect made it plain at today's press conference that from his point of view his discussion with President Hoover at the White House at 11 o'clock on Friday morning will be general.

The way the President elect put it, he and Mr. Hoover will chat upon all the subjects concerning the presidency, with a view to informing the incoming President of the pending matters he is bound to inherit.

It is considered likely that Mr. Roosevelt may seek approval from the President of a plan by which Mr. Roosevelt's agents may start now upon the work of investigating tariff and debt problems—which is considered by the President elect's closest advisers as a most pressing duty at this time. Or he may discuss the problems of the budget and the possibilities of a presidential veto of the beer bill with Mr. Hoover.

PUTTING ON THEIR ACT

Technocrats' 'Experts' Are on Relief List

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Those "technocrats" who have been getting themselves considerable publicity of late by telling how our industrial civilization is a flop received a shot of "acid in the eye" today.

The "acid" came in the form of a revelation that, while they may be conducting their "energy survey" through the bigness of their hearts, they are, in fact, drawing money from the jobless pay roll of the city's relief committee.

Howard Scott, chief of the technocrats, is not himself on the list, but 106 "experts" who are operating under Scott's direction are getting a total of $5,724 per month from the emergency work and relief bureau. Each man receives $54 per month, which is the customary allowance for idle workers who get their names on the roll.

Use University Quarters.

The disclosure concerning the source of revenue for the technocracy campaign followed less than 24 hours after President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university had disclaimed official responsibility for the movement. Mr. Butler admitted that the technocrats are using quarters at the university and that some of the university faculty are part and parcel of the movement, but he insisted that there is no "academic link" between the university and the technocrats. They are, in fact, "on their own," according to Dr. Butler.

Inquiry developed that the money for the support of this group of economic specialists is coming from the Gibson committee, which has just completed its task of raising $15,000,000 by public subscription for the relief of idle.

Paid for Research Work.

R. W. Houston, assistant director of the relief bureau, said the technocrats were not being paid as a group by the emergency relief, but that idle engineers and architects were paid by the committee for doing research work in the "energy survey." As far as the bureau was concerned, he said, it was "just like any other research project" and was approved by a committee at Columbia headed by Dr. Leo Wolman.

The proposal for technical assistance in the energy survey, Mr. Houston explained, came from Prof. Walter Rautenstrauch, head of the university's department of industrial engineering. The supplying of men for this work, he said, was begun several months ago by the architects' emergency committee fund, which sent thirty men. When the architects' fund ran out of money, Mr. Houston said, the work bureau began placing men in this work early in December.

The technocrats have been proclaiming that the machine age has speeded up production far beyond the capacity of the population to consume, and that our economic system will have to be revised on an "energy" basis and that money as a medium was out of date. Their statistics have been attacked from various quarters.

They were to be used for burial purposes."

Dahlberg May Have to Prove Suits Too Tight

A demand that Bror Dahlberg, president of the Celotex company, appear in court and don two dress suits and a like number of business suits to prove his claim that they are ill-fitting was taken under advisement yesterday by Municipal Judge Holland.

The motion was made during the hearing of a suit brought by the F. L. Dunne company, a New York tailoring firm, for $800.

Calls Material Inferior.

The answer of Dahlberg asserted that the clothing was poorly tailored and of a quality much inferior to that of the goods which he had selected.

"If that is his contention," said Attorney Henry N. Miller, representing the tailoring company, "let him appear in court, put on the suits and let your honor decide."

"Although I believe that such a spectacle would be a trespass upon the dignity of this court, I will give you a chance to present legal decisions to show there is precedent for such an action," Judge Holland ruled.

Bill Describes Purchases.

The bill of the tailoring company sets forth in detail the purchases of Dahlberg. They consisted of two dress suits, coats and trousers, one suit valued at $215 and the other at $190; two sack suits at $165 each, and a linen dress waistcoat, $35.

The objections of Dahlberg to the dress suits were listed as follows:

"Trousers too tight, sleeves too narrow, coat too short, and tails are prone to split. The waistcoat was too tight in the waistline. The same faults were found in the sack suits, with the additional facts that the collars tended to slip down and the vests were too loose."

Mrs. Gardner Asks Balm for Her Dead 'Pal'

Pal, a wire haired terrier, is dead and the peace that used to prevail around Ash street and Ridge avenue, Winnetka, is gone.

Last night Mrs. Albert S. Gardner, who was formerly Caroline de Windt, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Heyliger Adams de Windt and a great-great-great-granddaughter of President John Adams, went before Justice of the Peace Byron Nelson of Winnetka and filed a $500 damage suit against her next door neighbor, Louis H. Northrop, assistant cashier in the bond department of the First Union Trust and Savings bank.

The ground for the suit was not stated in writing, but Albert Gardner and his cousin, William G. Reeves, ended the slight mystery that clung about the action.

There's No Mystery Now.

Mr. Gardner, who is a descendant of Henry Clay and some of the first families of Virginia, said his wife was suing because Mr. Northrop last Sunday afternoon slugged her dog, Pal, with a blunt instrument and caused his death.

At 745 Ash street stands the residence of the Gardners. At 413 Ridge avenue is the residence of Mr. Northrop. The lawns adjoin. In times gone by Pal had looked across the dividing line and seen a Sealyham that belongs to Mr. Northrop. It is now stated by the Gardners that the dogs did not like each other, but that there were no particular hostilities until Sunday.

The first intimation the Gardner household had of trouble outside came when 7 year old William A. Gardner II. ran in and reported that Pal was being slugged.

Testimony of Cousin Reeves.

"I looked out," said Cousin Reeves, "and saw Mr. Northrop striking Pal. I am not sure just what the instrument was, but he was certainly beating the dog."

Mr. Gardner then related how Pal was picked up and carried into the Gardner home. A veterinarian was summoned, he said, and gave the injured pet a hypodermic. Pal died the same afternoon, however, of a fractured skull.

Mr. Northrop was informed last night of the filing of the suit.

"Fine," he said.

"But we would like to know," added his questioner, "did you or did you not hit Mr. and Mrs. Gardner's dog Pal?"

"I have nothing to say," responded Mr. Northrop.

MERCURY MAY GO TO 56° TODAY TO SET NEW RECORD

Partly clouded skies and a temperature that may break the record in Chicago for Jan. 19 were indicated for today by the weather bureau.

Forecaster W. P. Day said the winds would be from the southwest and that the mercury might climb up to 56 degrees. From midnight until 3 this morning unofficial thermometers registered 50 degrees. The highest ever recorded here on this date was 55, in 1907.

An unusually heavy rain fell yesterday. For the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. the precipitation was .96 of an inch. In the succeeding two and a half hours .56 of an inch more fell. There was a cessation of the rain before midnight.

Since Jan. 1 there has been an average temperature of more than 35 degrees. The normal mean for this date is 23 degrees. It is unlikely, however, that the month will be the warmest January on the weather bureau books. In 1880 the mean temperature was 39.5.

MILLION ASKED BY A HUSBAND; LIBEL CHARGED

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—James A. Stillman, former president of the National City bank, who figured 12 years ago in a prolonged and sensational divorce suit, has been sued for alienation of affections and for libel. It is reported that the plaintiff has demanded $1,000,000 from the 62 year old financier.

The suits were brought by Luc Rochefort, former manager of a Canadian investment house and twice an unsuccessful candidate for mayor of Montreal, Quebec.

Complaints in the suits have not been filed, but an affidavit submitted in behalf of Mr. Stillman today before Supreme Court Justice Edward Riegelmann in Brooklyn disclosed the basis of the suits.

Lived in Long Island City.

This affidavit revealed that early last fall Mr. Rochefort accused Mr. Stillman of alienating the affections of his wife, Marjorie Rochefort, who formerly lived in Long Island City.

In this affidavit Mr. Stillman denied that he knew Mrs. Rochefort was married and accused Mr. Rochefort of not only knowing of the friendship but of secretly encouraging it and accepting from his wife "substantial sums" which Mr. Stillman had given her.

The affidavit, which was signed by Malcolm Sumner, counsel for Mr. Stillman, indicated that summonses in both actions and the complaint in the alienation suit, which are marked for Queens county, have been served on the defendant. Mr. Stillman now is said to be in Havana.

Seeks to Examine Stillman.

The case came up in court today on a motion by Alfred Becker, counsel for Mr. Rochefort, for an order permitting him to examine Mr. Stillman concerning matters relating to the libel action. The complaint for the libel suit has not yet been drawn, it was said.

In opposing this motion Mr. Sumner characterized the suits as a deliberate attempt to intimidate Mr. Stillman and to extort from him a large sum of money in settlement in order to forestall litigation and the resultant publicity.

Mr. Sumner asked the court to discipline Mr. Becker, and in a separate memorandum of law pointed out that the lawyer had once been suspended from practice by the Appellate division in New York on two charges, one for making false statement to the court and the other for appearing for the defendant in a criminal action when the circumstances disqualified him from acting in that capacity.

Plan to Fight Suits.

"Obviously, Mr. Stillman does not relish the resulting publicity," Mr. Sumner said out of court, "but he is emphatic in his preference to face it rather than submit to being coerced through fear of publicity to settle any such wholly unwarranted claims. Perhaps his attitude may help to discourage, if only to a limited extent, the unfortunately growing tendency to make men similarly situated to himself the seemingly [illegible] for this type of attack."

Mr. Sumner's affidavit stated that the relationship between Mr. Stillman and Mrs. Rochefort began in April, 1932, when Rochefort, his wife, and Mrs. Emily Baker, mother of Mrs. Rochefort, were living in a three room apartment in Long Island City, together with a woman described as Astrid Haug.

Introduced as "Widow."

"All of them were in an impecunious condition," the affidavit continued. "It was discussed between said Haug and Mr. and Mrs. Luc Rochefort and Mrs. Baker that said Haug should invite Mr. Stillman, with whom said Haug was well acquainted, to visit her and then to introduce him to Marjorie Rochefort; that evening Mr. Stillman called—which was his first visit to Miss Haug in her Long Island City apartment—he was introduced by her to Marjorie Rochefort as a widow; that said Luc Rochefort, with knowledge of the proposed meeting, left said apartment and spent the night at a hotel, after receiving $5 from his wife with which to pay for a hotel room; that thereafter in talks between Mr. and Mrs. Luc Rochefort and said Haug it was discussed [illegible] said Marjorie Rochefort and Miss Haug should encourage Stillman to take them to Havana, where said Stillman has a home, to finance them there in a beauty parlor business."

Mr. Sumner said that in October, November, and December he had several conferences with Mr. Becker, during which the latter showed him two letters from Mr. Stillman to Mrs. Rochefort, and attempted to persuade him to settle for $25,000. Mr. Sumner, however, refused to settle and obtained affidavits from Miss Haug which he said "stated a different set of facts." In this connection, he revealed that Mrs. Rochefort had taken steps to begin an action of her own against Mr. Stillman, but that was "apparently dropped," before her husband's suits were begun.

Attorney Sumner said that Mrs. Rochefort had not been supported by her husband for the last seven years and had not lived with him as his wife during that time, although from October, 1930 to November, 1931, she permitted him to share an apartment with her and her mother. Mrs. Rochefort and her mother are now living somewhere in Massachusetts.

Figured in Sensational Suit.

More than twelve years ago Mr. Stillman figured in a sensational legal case in which he brought charges against his wife. She is now the wife of Fowler McCormick, son of Harold S. McCormick and grandson of John D. Rockefeller.

Mr. Stillman married her on June 2, 1910. He filed an action for divorce on July 13, 1920, charging her with misconduct with an Indian guide, Fred Beauvais, and accusing Beauvias of being the father of "Baby Guy" Stillman. Mrs. Stillman, denying the charge, set forth in a counter charge that her husband had been supporting Flo Leeds, a former chorus girl, and that he was a father of her son.

Stillmans Are Reconciled.

A referee in September, 1923, handed down a decision here clearing Mrs. Stillman of the charges against her and establishing the legitimacy of her child. The ruling censured Stillman for his relationship with Miss Leeds. The decision was appealed through various courts and at the height of the litigation in 1926 the Stillmans were reconciled and sailed off to Europe together on what they described as "a second honeymoon."

The reconciliation did not last, however, for in June, 1931, Mrs. Stillman obtained a divorce in Rockland county and was subsequently married to Mr. McCormick. Mr. Stillman, it was learned after his former wife's second marriage, settled $3,000,000 on their four children, including Guy.

Ex-Wife Declines to Talk.

Billings, Mont., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Mrs. Fowler McCormick, former wife of James A. Stillman, New York bank president who is being sued by a Canadian for alienation of his wife's affections, and her husband stopped in Billings tonight. They are on their way to the west coast.

Mrs. McCormick expressed an unwillingness to talk at length about Mr. Stillman or to talk at all about the suit. She said that an interview attributed to her during the afternoon had been "embroidered."

"It is true I said Mr. Stillman had never grown up in his love life and that women found him an easy mark because he couldn't see clearly," she said. "But as for my [illegible] out of any scrapes, I may have done so, but that is my private business. I did not say that I had helped him. That is no one's business."

CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Luc Rochefort, plaintiff in a suit for alienation of affections of his wife against James A. Stillman, was formerly a prominent citizen of Montreal, although he has not lived here for some years. According to reports, he left here in 1927 and has not been back since.

He came before the Montreal public in 1921 in a mayoralty campaign, and was at that time general manager of Credit Canada, Ltd., a French Canadian investment house.

LINCOLN PARK AUDIT EXPLAINS SHIFT OF FUNDS

Meeting Bond Maturities Called Businesslike.

Sheldon Clark, vice president of the Lincoln park board, issued a statement yesterday explaining the financial condition of the park system. The statement was in reply to published reports of a shortage in several park board funds. Mr. Clark denied there was any shortage but stated that money had been transferred from current operating funds to pay bond interest and retire maturing bonds of other funds, thus averting a default and saving the board's credit.

SHELDON CLARK.

Mr. Clark said that a total of $752,970 was transferred from the board's operating fund to retire outer drive link bridge and the park extension bond issues which had matured. In addition the sum of $79,359 was transferred from the general fund to the link bridge and park extension funds. Mr. Clark said the transfer of these funds was "legal and businesslike."

Tax Collections Slow.

The link bridge and park extension bond issues normally would be retired by funds received from the state, which levies a special tax for the purpose, the statement pointed out. Because of slow tax collections the state fell behind in these payments, Mr. Clark explained, and when the issues matured the necessary funds were borrowed from current funds.

During the day Mr. Clark sent a telegram to Gov. Horner calling attention to news items indicating there was a deficit of $365,000 in the park's operating fund. In his telegram Mr. Clark quoted figures from an audit recently completed by the firm of Rossetter & Co., and concluded: "I am confident you would not personally sanction any such repudiation of the present board."

Horner Sends Answer.

"The personnel of the present board is such that I would be most hesitant in basing on rumors any definite statement on my part," Gov. Horner replied by wire.

The subject of the Lincoln park finances arose through a recent recommendation by the present commissioners, headed by Warren Wright, who is out of the city, that refunding bonds in the amount of $4,000,000 be authorized to meet maturing bond issues in 1933 and 1934.

"The bonds issued by the commissioners of Lincoln park for park extension and outer drive link bridge purposes are registered with the state auditor of public accounts," said Mr. Clark's statement, after telling of economies effected during the last three years. "Tax levies for the retirement of such bonds and the interest thereon are made by the state auditor. He receives directly from the county treasurer collections on these tax levies and retires these bonds and interest coupons.

"Because of the delay in tax collections in Cook county the state auditor has not had sufficient funds available to retire these bonds as they matured. In order to prevent default, the commissioners have retired from other funds bonds and interest coupons of these issues in the total amount of $3,202,970.

"As of Dec. 31, 1932, the audit report will show that the operating funds of the park still held bonds and interest coupons of these issues retired for the benefit of the other funds in the total amount of $752,970. In addition, there was owing to the general fund at Dec. 31, 1932, from the park extension fund and outer drive link bridge fund the amount of $79,357."

Mr. Clark said the audit shows that on Dec. 31 the operating funds of the park had a consolidated operating surplus of $4,981,515, which was an increase during the year of $977,670, due to economies.

A statement issued by Rossetter & Co., auditors, was to the effect that the facts and figures given by Commissioner Clark were correctly stated. It concludes with the statement:

"We find the affairs of Lincoln park have been carried on in a strictly businesslike manner, that material economies have been effected, and that, considering the present delay in tax collections in Cook county, the affairs of the park are in excellent condition."

Mr. Wright submitted his resignation as president and member of the Lincoln park board on Jan. 10, a day after Gov. Horner was inaugurated. At that time it was said his record of administration was excellent. He had reduced the tax levy for Lincoln park 17 per cent in the last year and credit was given to him for the reduction in the operating costs from year to year.

Demands the Church Drop Its Vague Piety on Sex Problems

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

In place of the effort to create a vague piety which gives unreal answers to real problems of youth, a charge often aimed at the Protestant churches, Dr. Herbert W. Gates of Boston, demands that the churches come to earth and face youth problems as real things.

Dr. Gates, who is the head of the educational work of the Congregational Christian United church, yesterday continued his appeal before the national executive council of that church meeting at the First Congregational church in Evanston and faced the church leaders with more questions John and Mary ask in secret. Dr. Gates said that those whispered queries should be spoken out in meeting. He said that a group of youngsters, under able and effective religious leadership, would be able to solve such problems for themselves.

Follows New Youth Manual.

In outlining the methods to be used in guiding young people through their intimate problems, Dr. Gates followed the new youth manual, prepared for use in Congregational churches and schools.

When Mary asks: "What's wrong with spooning?" or "What is passion?"—questions cited in the new manual—Dr. Gates contends they should not be answered vaguely and with suspicious glances. Rather, he contends, the church should step in with proper methods to help Mary and her friends to find wholesome answers for themselves.

"John's problems are just as real as Mary's, and the solutions, like those found by Mary, too often have come from clandestine and morbid whisperings, Dr. Gates holds.

Boys More Inquisitive.

The new manual, which was used as a guide by Dr. Gates and which has created a sensation in religious educational circles, was prepared by Dr. Benjamin S. Winchester. From the actual questions compiled which arose from Dr. Winchester's leadership of boys' and girls' groups, the boys seem to have been more inquisitive than girls in matters of young peoples' relationships. Thirty-two questions suffice to show the range of Mary's questions, while John needed forty-two.

One of John's real questions was, "Just what wrong is there in secret sins?" To this Mary counters, "What if a boy just steals a kiss?"

But the manual, in quoting youth questions, seems to point to Mary's greater frankness and clearer details. For instance, one girl put the following question:

"A group of us went on a hike. My boy friend and I went to get water. The spring was a pretty place. We sat down to rest. First he ran his hand up my arm, then he put his arm around me. Then he seemed to see how mad I was and seemed so ashamed! After we got back he seemed to forget all about it. I won't go with him now, and he seems to feel that I do him wrong. The girls say, 'O, you'll get used to it!'"

Girls' Questions Verbose.

While the girls' questions cited in the manual tended to be prolix, boys generally came to the point suddenly. They ask:

"Is it wrong to 'neck'?"
"Do girls enjoy 'necking'?"
"Define love."
"Is it true that girls know if a boy is innocent or not?"
"How far is a fellow supposed to go?"
"What are girls thinking about?"
"What evil comes from spooning?"

Questions asked by boys seem from the new manual to indicate another difference from those asked by girls. The boys' questions invariably dealt with their own individual problems. Girls, on the other hand, seemed to show a larger interest in what one girl should think of some other girl's actions. Girls ask:

"What do you think of a girl who will stay out until 2 o'clock in the morning with a boy? When a girl will slip out of the house to be with a boy, what should other girls do about it?"

Signs of Rebellion.

No rebelliousness is revealed in the 42 boy questions. But girls ask:

"Don't you think this business of girls' having to be in by 10:30 is childish, and their 'dates' having to go at that time is childish? We are women. Why should we have to have a lot of rules to eat and sleep by?"

The method advocated by Dr. Winchester denies that these questions can be answered by some rule of thumb system. On the contrary, it provides that separately organized groups of boys and girls, through wise leadership, are to be led not only to ask but also to face their own queries bearing on their relationships.

THREE INJURED AS 500 RIOT AT RELIEF STATION

Two policemen and an alleged communist were injured yesterday in a riot at the Lawndale relief station, 2133 South Kedzie avenue. A crowd of 500 persons, most of them women, took part in the disturbance. Five of the rioters were arrested.

DIANE WALMAN.

Sergt. Frank Miller and Patrolman Michael McCarthy of the Lawndale station were bruised and cut on the head. Both were taken to St. Anthony's hospital for treatment. George Fenenholtz, 30 years old, 4018 West 13th street, alleged communist, was clubbed on the head after he had attacked Sergt. Miller. He was taken to the Bridewell hospital. Police fired a volley of shots in the air to disperse the crowd.

Refuses to Receive Delegates.

The cause of the riot, according to Mrs. Betty J. Hoff, superintendent of the station, was her adherance to a recent ruling of the Emergency Relief commission prohibiting heads of the branch stations from receiving delegations or committees for any purpose.

When she refused to admit a committee chosen by the demonstrators, the crowd started a rush for the doors. Sergt. Miller and his squad, summoned earlier by Mrs. Hoff, drew their clubs and ordered the rioters to retreat. Several of them refused and the melee ensued.

More Police Sent to Scene.

Riot calls to the Lawndale police station and the detective bureau brought ten additional squads to the scene, but the crowd had dispersed when they arrived.

The rioters arrested are Fenenholtz, Peter Dattolo, 44 years old, 2114 Coulter street; Frances Galowich, 31 years old, 3302 West 35th place; Diane Walman, 23 years old, 3302 North Albany avenue, and Wilma Patala, 30 years old, 1829 West 21st street.

Karl Lockner, secretary of the Unemployed Councils of Cook County, issued a statement after the riot in which he asserted that four of the demonstrators had been wounded by the police. "These four workers are in private homes," he said, "and are being hidden to prevent their being taken to the Bridewell hospital."

FREED OF RIOT CHARGE

Five women and three men charged with inciting a riot were acquitted yesterday by a jury in the court of Municipal Judge Frank M. Padden. Thomas C. Elliott, foreman of the jury, said later that the jurors felt that the prosecution had not proved that the defendants had started the riot, which occurred on Nov. 28 in front of a relief station at North and Fairfield avenues.

Those acquitted were Donald Gold, 1332 North Campbell avenue; William Janssen, 1619 North Whipple street; Walter Wajsiatt, 1630 Keenan street; Miss Jean Cohen, 4714 North Central Park avenue; Mrs. Eva Arkin, 2949 Walton street; Mrs. Minnie Freeman, 1307 North Campbell avenue; Mrs. Minnie Gibbs, 1121 North Campbell avenue, and Mrs. Elizabeth Rubin, 3329 Division street.

RADICALS WRECK RELIEF OFFICE; 8 GO TO HOSPITAL

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 18.—[Special.—Hurling water bottles, ink wells and chairs, more than 100 members of the communists idleness council this afternoon wrecked offices of the bureau of county welfare on the twelfth floor of a building and sent four police officers to the hospital for treatment of injuries. Five radicals were arrested and four also were sent to hospitals.

The riot began as a demonstration for the asserted hungry of the city. Those arrested were booked on charges of suspicion of criminal syndicalism. During the fight, blood was strewn over rugs and desks and chairs, and windows in all the offices were smashed.

Tear gas was used to quell the riot.

MRS. JUDD CRIES: 'HALLORAN, YOU KILLED 3 WOMEN'

Hysterically Turns on Him at Phoenix Hearings.

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 18.—(AP)—In an emotional storm of tears and screams Winnie Ruth Judd sobbed out her story of the killing of two women as a witness in the preliminary hearing of Jack Halloran, alleged accessory, today.

When counsel for the wealthy lumberman resumed a cross-examination begun yesterday and led her through the details of the double murder of Agnes Anne Leroi and Hedvig Samuelson her hysteria mounted until the court ordered a recess.

The climax to a wild outburst of frayed nerves came when she leaped from the witness chair, dashed across the courtroom, and, leaning across a counsel table where Halloran sat, screamed:

"I hope you suffer everything Anne's mother and my mother and Sammy's mother have suffered!"

Halloran gazed at her calmly. Nor had his poise failed him a moment previously when she cried out from the witness chair:

'He don't care that Anne is dead and Sammy is dead and that I am going to die—he just sits there and laughs about it. He don't care so long as he can play around."

Tells of Fatal Fight.

The slender, blonde young woman, sentenced to die on Feb. 17 at the Arizona prison for the murder of Mrs. Leroi, told, with tears pouring down her face, how she had fought with the two women in the apartment here on the night of Oct. 16, 1931, and slain them when they attacked her. She was convicted for the murder of Mrs. Leroi and has never been tried on an information charging her with the killing of Miss Samuelson.

On the night of the slaying she said she had gone to the apartment in response to an invitation from Mrs. Leroi to make a fourth hand at bridge, but when she arrived Evelyn Nace, who was to have played with them, had left.

Halloran, who, she charged yesterday, planned the disposition of the bodies and aided her escape to Los Angeles, where she was captured, was to have seen her that night, but she telephoned him she could not reach him and went instead to the apartment.

Start of Argument.

An argument started, she said, when Mrs. Leroi asked her if she knew how Halloran had become acquainted with a certain girl and she replied she had introduced them. Anne upbraided her, she said, and when she attempted to pass it off lightly Mrs. Leroi threatened to tell her husband, Dr. William C. Judd.

"I told her that was a lie and that I knew too much about her," Mrs. Judd said she replied. She turned and went into the kitchen and suddenly found "Sammy" facing her with a pistol and saying, "'You say anything about Anne and I'll kill you."

Mrs. Judd said she reached for the weapon and they struggled over it. She saw a bread knife and seized it, stabbing Miss Samuelson twice. "Sammy," she said, dischargedt he weapon and a bullet wounded her in the hand.

Anne screamed, "Shoot! Sammy, shoot!" Mrs. Judd said. They fell on the floor and as they plunged down she twisted Sammy's hand and the weapon was discharged again as it pointed toward Miss Samuelson's chest.

Beaten with Ironing Board.

Mrs. Leroi beat her with an ironing board, Mrs. Judd testified, and cried to Miss Samuelson to "Give me that gun!"

"Sammy and I were struggling for the gun," she cried, her voice almost a scream. "Anne came in with the ironing board and beat me—we were rolling on the floor—I got the gun—Anne was braining me with the ironing board. Anne came toward me and I fired. As I shot she hit me with the ironing board—she fell and I fell—there I was, between Anne and Sammy on the floor.

"I hate to tell it all—it was awful," Mrs. Judd exclaimed frequently with a shudder. Once the defense suggested that if the courtroom were cleared she might feel more at ease.

"I'm not paying attention to any one here," she shot back with a show of indignation.

On a similar occasion the defense counsel, suggesting a closed courtroom, added that "I must say Jack Halloran is as innocent as any person in this room." Quickly Mrs. Judd cried out hysterically:

"He is not! He is responsible for the deaths of three girls in this state!"

Says Wrong Ironing Board.

Late in the day, after a two hour recess and resumption of the hearing, the ironing board with which she was supposed to have been beaten by Mrs. Leroi was brought into court, but Mrs. Judd said the board used by her assailant was a larger one.

After the recess, little progress was made, either in adducing additional details in Mrs. Judd's story, or in the state's efforts to corroborate it. She was roused to anger several times and sobbed once or twice.

Most of the time before adjournment was consumed with arguments as to admissibility of testimony.

Two Other Witnesses.

A barrage of defense objections ended testimony of Miss Maud Marshall, school teacher, who lived in an apartment next to Mrs. Judd's. She said she heard a motor car the night of the killings, but could not identify the machine as Halloran's and could not say whether he or Mrs. Judd or any one else entered Mrs. Judd's apartment.

Another state witness was Mrs. Maud Wade, who was challenged and halted before she had answered a single question.

Mrs. Judd had told of paying Mrs. Wade $15 for groceries the day of the killings. The state contended Mrs. Wade's testimony would corroborate Mrs. Judd's story that she had not sufficient money to flee to Los Angeles and that Halloran had promised to get some for her at his office.

The question of admissibility of such testimony was set over until tomorrow by the court for further argument.

ITALIANS GETTING NO CASH; WILL END SOVIET TRADE PACT

ROME, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The commercial treaty of 1924 between Italy and soviet Russia, the only document under which Italy formally recognized the soviet government, will be renounced by this country on or before Feb. 7, giving the required six months' advance notice of withdrawal on the expiration date, Aug. 7. This does not mean a break in diplomatic relations.

Italy is disgruntled over the fact that the balance of trade was two to one against them in 1931, and five to four on Sept. 1, 1932. They also are dissatisfied with the procedure by which Russia paid with credit for Italian goods and Italy with cash in its Russian purchases.

"FIGHT FOR FINAL GOAL," EX-KAISER URGES GERMANY

Wilhelm Is Revered on Reich's Birthday.

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—(AP)—One thousand devotees of monarchism, assembled today under the auspices of the League of the Upright on the sixty-second anniversary of the founding of the German empire, reverently rose when a message from "our most gracious kaiser and king" was read to them.

In the statement Wilhelm exhorted them "not to lose heart until the final goal is reached." The message ended with the words, "With God, for kaiser and reich."

Celebrate Kaiser's Birthday.

Led by Friedrich Everling, a member of the reichstag, who on several occasions has declared that the German monarchy will be restored, the league this year combined its founding day exercises with an advanced celebration of the former kaiser's seventy-fourth birthday. Wilhelm will observe his birthday Jan. 27.

Besides sending the message Wilhelm delegated Prince and Princess Oscar to represent him at the feast.

According to the east Prussian steel helmet leader, Count Eulenburg, "the German republic is like an African Negro who struts about in silk topper, celluloid cuffs, and with a red parasol, thinking he is a civilized gentleman."

Eulogizes the Sword.

Count Eulenburg, in his speech at the meeting, also asserted that "there is no better capital investment than the sword; bread comes through the sword."

Everling berated the republic, claiming that it "did absolutely nothing except destroy what bigger and better persons created."

He defined the democrats as "mere bugs" and democratic journalists as "beetles," and asserted that the end of the republic will "come soon."

The audience, among whom were many retired generals, at the close of the meeting raised their hands in a pledge to restore the monarchy as soon as possible.

Other Assemblies Held.

The anniversary of the founding of the reich was also celebrated with fervid oratory at other patriotic assemblies. Members of the Stahlhelm, the steel helmeters, conducted a big meeting, at which their president, Theodore Duesterberg, presided and at which the former crown prince and other Hohenzollerns appeared and were loudly acclaimed.

Former Chancellor Franz Von Papen delivered the principal speech in which he outlined Bismarck's work. He declared he was confident President Von Hindenburg would establish governmental authority as against the authority of political parties.

The imperial colors waved alongside the republican flag on the diet building today for the first time since the revolution. Socialists protested that the flying of the imperial flag was contrary to the constitution.

Hans Kerri, president of the diet, praised the Hohenzollerns in a commemorative address before the diet.

"The empire would always have remained a Utopia if the Hohenzollerns had not become the sponsors of the idea of a united Germany," Kerri asserted amid cheers by Nazi members of the diet.

At the close of the exercises some one spontaneously proposed former Kaiser Wilhelm's health, whereupon the whole audience cheered.

'KING' OTTO SLIPS TO BERLIN; SEES AUSTRIAN CHIEFS

Mystery Veils Intentions of Hapsburg Clan.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—Otto von Hapsburg, hereditary king of Hungary and claimant to the throne of the former Austro-Hungarian empire, has slipped secretly into Berlin and conferred with secret envoys of the present Austrian government and other Austrian leaders.

Kurt Schuschnigg, Austrian minister of justice, is said to have been the main official who took part in the secret conversation. Otto also expects to meet representatives of King Victor Emmanuel and Premier Mussolini of Italy before leaving Berlin.

Mother Stays in Background.

The 22 year old Otto was accompanied only by Count Degenfeld, who has been the prince's tutor for years. The ambitious former empress, Zita, who has sworn to devote every ounce of her strength to return her son to the throne of his ancestors, decided it was wiser not to accompany him to insure the incognito.

Zita asked the Austrian grandees with whom Otto is stopping to keep her son's visit a secret and keep him away from the Hohenzollerns. The Hapsburgs were never very fond of the Hohenzollerns, and the empress figured that if Otto called on the princes of the former German imperial house his visit would become known.

Has an Alibi for Visit.

Should anybody recognize Otto despite the precautions taken he has an alibi for his visit already. Like so many other students on the eve of writing a doctor's thesis, Otto finds it necessary to delve into German archives for scientific material.

For four years he has been studying at Louvain university with the aim of graduating as a doctor of state sciences. His thesis is to deal with the constitution of the state of Tyrol, a once prized possession of Austria, which is now in the hands of Italy. Otto is searching for material in the Institute for Agrarian Sciences.

Seeks Province for Otto.

Tyrol plays an important part in Otto's life. Many negotiations between Zita and French and Italian financiers and politicians have dealt with this unhappy province. For years Zita has been hoping to arrange a match between Otto and Princess Maria, daughter of the Italian king. She thinks the king would be willing to give Tyrol to his son-in-law.

Once Otto has Tyrol, Zita and her friends believe it will be easy for him to win control of penniless Austria, while Hungary is considered sure to flock to Otto as soon as he shows himself. Hundreds of small communities throughout Tyrol tendered "honorary citizenship" to Otto on his 21st birthday.

Shortly before he came to Berlin, Otto made use of his rights as grand master of the golden fleece, conferred upon him on his 21st birthday. He named Count Degenfeld a knight of the golden fleece. He also conferred this honor upon Baron Gudenus, who stood by the side of former Emperor Karl and Zita in their troubles.

STUDY "FORWARD TO SOIL" PLAN TO AID ILLINOIS IDLE

Find State Has Plenty of Unoccupied Land.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

"Forward to the soil," instead of back to the land, may become one of the big Illinois state supported movements in connection with the efforts to solve the growing burden of public relief for the idle.

President Elect Roosevelt's recent statement indicating his belief that the ultimate solution of this problem, the way to regain social equilibrium, lay partially at least in getting the unemployed out of the big centers on some sort of self-supporting basis, has given impetus to the study of this situation in Illinois, and it is expected that some plan along this line will be presented to Gov. Horner and the legislature.

Economist to Make Report.

Gov. Horner's recently appointed commission on unemployment, headed by Harry A. Wheeler, has this in consideration among other measures and a report is to be made on the subject by Ernest L. Bogart, head of the department of economics at the University of Illinois and an authority on the economic history of agriculture.

"This is one of the things that has got to be done," said Mr. Wheeler. "I am not willing to go so far as the President elect did in his reported statement on this subject, but it is one important project."

Prof. W. E. Dodd of the University of Chicago, president of the American Historical association, has advised that a joint federal and state commission be appointed to handle this problem.

"The Roosevelt statement is the most constructive made by any one since the panic began," said Prof. Dodd yesterday. "His is the only way out of the unemployment dilemma. We are unofficially informed that it will cost $80,000,000 to care for the idle in Illinois in 1933. These are mostly in Cook county. No state can stand this long without bankruptcy.

Some Way to Pay Upkeep.

"The President and the governor should get together and send those back to the land where they have had any sort of contact with land and with the others find some way to pay their upkeep without feeding them out of the public purse.

"There is nothing more apt to undermine the self-respect of people than being taken care of out of the public purse. It is one of the most dangerous things in America today. We cannot allow this situation to remain.

"Every great depression since 1819 has been solved by the retreat of the unemployed to the free lands. During the last century men could fish and hunt enough to subsist while building their cabins and planting first crops. This is illustrated by the life of Lincoln.

"As the depressions began to lift these thousands entered the market for industrial goods and soon got back their self-respect and made good citizens of the republic.

Free Lands Are Gone.

"Another factor which conspired to help us recover more quickly was the immigration from Europe by people who brought over at least $100 in cash each.

"Now the free lands and immigration are gone and the unemployed are in the same situation. But there is still unoccupied land. There are millions of acres in the west and south where any self-respecting jobless man could make a living on five acres.

"It will not cost more to put him back on the land and start him off with tools and seed than we now have to give him for a year of idleness. There is where the federal government should lend a hand, but the state should do the most of it, as the state could do it more cheaply. The county authorities now have control of the public lands. It will take intelligent planning, a commission, but it is the only way the equilibrium of society can be kept up."

STEALS DRESSES; SENT TO PRISON.

Logansport, Ind., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The desire to give a Christmas present to a woman acquaintance led to the state prison for Fred Schreckenhaust, 44. He was sentenced today on a plea of guilty to grand larceny charge in connection with the theft of dresses from a local store on the day before Christmas, one of which was given as a present.

France's Heart Bleeding for U.S. Hungry; Near Riot to Aid

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—"The heart of France, she bleeds for those hungry Americans, and you may assure your countrymen, Mr. President, that the great popular French fund for the relief of the American people is increasing by millions of francs every hour."

Thus spoke the French ambassador, M. Paul Claudel, to President Hoover today, according to an exclusive story obtained by your correspondent. The manner in which your correspondent obtained this story is a story in itself. Your correspondent had intended to cover the debate in the senate, but sat up in the room at the hotel reading essays about conditions and the situation in fifty cent magazines until three o'clock in the morning and didn't wake up till one p. m. Then your correspondent took a ride for exercise, and while cantering briskly along in this cab suddenly came upon this big scoop, right there in the cab, alone, mind you. It was just one of those things.

Confirmed by Another.

The ambassador or minister, or whatever he is, from Belgium, called with the French ambassador to tell Mr. Hoover practically the same thing that M. Claudel told him. Your correspondent didn't get the name of the Belgian ambassador or minister, or whatever he is, but you can find it in some book. Or call up the paper and ask.

And was Mr. Hoover surprised? For a long time he just stood there, unable to say a word.

"I tell you," M. Claudel said, "that this American relief thing is simply a ball of fire in France. A great big blazing ball of fire. Our citizens tore the front off the bourse this afternoon in their rush to throw their money into this great work of mercy and loving sympathy. The gendarmes had to shoot six of our leading industrial magnates for trying to muscle into the head end of the line to leave their contributions. We are a democratic people, and we stand for no special privilege. They should have taken their places in line, but then, I suppose they were only trying to save time so they could dash away and get some more money to give to the cause.

Line Hard to Control.

"At fifteen o'clock in the afternoon the line extended three times around the bourse, like that double wingback formation in the Vassar daisy chain, and then up past Harry's bar—you remember Harry's, don't you; or do you? Anyway, it went up past Harry's and way on out past the Bastille. Everybody crowding and shoving and yelling 'Hurry up in front there, as we wish to contribute to the relief of those suffering Americans.'"

"It was the same in Brussels," the Belgian representative said, "only on a smaller scale. We only had to shoot three industrial magnates for trying to jump the line, but several others sneaked in through the cellar, left their money, and escaped before the mob could catch them."

"Yes," M. Claudel said, "and we had to suppress the Petit Journal and the Intransigeant because they were whooping this thing up so loud with fatty type and editorials all over page one, urging people to give to this great cause. They were like to cause a general riot all over the country. Our problem is to organize things and get the people to take it easy. But the minute they began to hear that their old friends, the Americans, were having trouble they wanted to do it all at once."

Loads of Relief.

"Me, too," said the Belgian representative. "I mean us, too. A big crowd grabbed hold of a boat this morning and inside of two hours they had it loaded to the portholes with Brussels sprouts, Belgian hares, suits of clothes, shoes, overcoats, ladies' and misses' ready to wear, linens, and house furnishings. Let 'em off, please."

"In France," M. Claudel went on, "every French family is going to adopt an American family and every little French boy and girl is going to write to some little American kiddie and send over such things as drums, slingshots, dollies, and so forth. The food ships should be on their way any minute now. There will be hors d'œuvres, including artichokes, saucisson, sardines, mushrooms, beets, beans, and anchovies. Then there will be sole bon femme and bifsteak and legumes, and, of course, crêpes suzettes by the million of bales, or French pastry if you prefer. And, of course, all this will be in addition to the money. You know what I mean. Our treasure. We are pouring out our treasure. I love that phrase. It says so much so beautifully.

Glad to Pay Customs Duty.

"I understand that there may be some question about your customs when these imports arrive, and some one, I think it was Hiram Johnson, suggested that you would be willing to waive the duty. That was a tactless remark. It would wound our people to the very soul if they heard about it. I would resent it myself, only I think I understand that he meant no offense. But our people wouldn't listen to such a thing. We are going to pay the tariff ourselves.

"And another thing, we are getting up a big prize fight in Paris to raise money to lift the mortgages on the farms of your peasants which have been devastated by the depression. Our leading society people are behind it and they are fighting for tickets at 2,500 francs apiece. Absolutely stabbing each other for tickets.

"You know, Mr. President," M. Claudel said, "every true Frenchman has two countries, France and the United States. And it is an old saying among our people that when a Frenchman dies he wants to wake up in Indianapolis."

"The same with us, practically," the gentleman from Belgium said, "only we want to go to Columbus, O., when we die. Oo-la-la! That gay Columbus."

All this time Mr. Hoover was just standing there, too touched for utterance. At last he managed it:

"You boys wouldn't kid me, would you?" said Mr. Hoover.

Blood Transfusion Helps Oak Park Girl in Stupor

Beneficial effects of a blood transfusion performed Jan. 16 on Miss Patricia Maguire, 27 years old, 523 Clarence avenue, Oak Park, who has been in a stupor since Feb. 15, 1932, were noted yesterday by her physicians. They said her appearance is improved and she is taking nourishment more easily. The blood for the transfusion was given by her stepfather, Peter Miley.

Premier of Denmark May Visit Chicago Fair in June

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 18.—Premier Thorvald A. M. Stauning will leave for the United States in June to attend the Century of Progress exposition at Chicago and subsequently to confer with President Roosevelt in Washington concerning reciprocal trade agreements between Denmark and the United States, according to the newspaper Ekstrabladet.

HORNER URGES BETTER CONTROL OF INSURANCE

Selects Ernest Palmer for That Job.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Ernest Palmer, 1229 Hinman avenue, Evanston, general counsel for the Chicago board of underwriters since 1923, has been offered the office of state superintendent of insurance by Gov. Horner.

ERNEST PALMER.

With that offer went a promise of real opportunity to develop the division so as to place Illinois on a par with the states of highest standing in insurance regulation.

Rumors that Mr. Palmer had been chosen were confirmed by the governor at his afternoon press conference. He said for two weeks he had been attempting to persuade Mr. Palmer to accept, despite the relatively small compensation. The governor hopes to submit the appointment to the senate on Tuesday.

Two Probable Selections.

Two other rumors of appointments have received partial confirmation. It is said that Sherman Coultas, a Jacksonville fire insurance agent and chairman of the Morgan county Democratic committee, will be named next week as state fire marshal. It also is believed certain that Richard F. Kinsella of Springfield, one of the few original Horner men in this territory, is slated to become chief oil inspector within a short time.

Mr. Palmer attended Lake Forest college and the Northwestern university law school. For three years he taught commercial law and public speaking at the former and in 1912 was assistant attorney for the department of the interior at Washington. He is a former alderman of Evanston.

The selection of a director of finance, the first of the places in the actual cabinet of the new administration to be filled, still is somewhat in doubt. Among those who conferred at length with the governor today were Joseph J. Rice and O. C. Doering of Chicago, both of whom have been mentioned for that place.

Mr. Doering is said to have declined any official post, but is willing to cooperate wherever his services may be of value. The attitude of Mr. Rice, vice president of Lawrence Stern & Co., is said to be similar.

Confirms New Tax Board.

The senate unanimously confirmed today the governor's three nominees for the tax commission:

Scott W. Lucas, Havana, chairman vice Omer N. Custer, resigned.

Prof. Simeon E. Leland, University of Chicago, vice Charles Ringer, term expired.

Barnet Hodes, Chicago, vice Homer K. Galpin, term expired.

The two other vacancies will not be filled, as Gov. Horner is carrying out his program of limiting the membership to three.

A. J. Margrave, who was a member, resigned to become head of the securities division under Secretary of State Hughes, while the term of Charles Krutckoff, former Chicago assessor, has expired. During the next few weeks the state code will be amended to limit the membership to three.

Oscar Hewitt Sworn In as New City Official

Sprague Retires

Oscar E. Hewitt was given the oath of office as commissioner of public works yesterday by City Clerk Peter J. Brady. On his first day in office Mr. Hewitt was asked to accept the chairmanship of a city department that he was instrumental in organizing 22 years ago.

Adam Trapp, secretary of the board of underground works of public utilities of Chicago, appeared in the office of the commissioner shortly after the induction ceremony.

"Will you accept the chairmanship of the underground board?" Trapp asked. "It is the usual procedure for the commissioner of public works to serve in that capacity."

Commissioner Hewitt then was reminded that the board was created during his régime as deputy commissioner of public works under Mayor Busse from 1909 to 1911.

A conference with Col. A. A. Sprague, retiring commissioner of public works, consumed part of the day for the new commissioner.

The oath of office was administered in the flower decked office of the commissioner. Department heads and friends crowded the office during the ceremony.

END ALDERMANIC REGISTRATION IN CHICAGO, IS PLAN

House Acts to Save the City Half a Million.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Savings of almost half a million dollars to Chicago taxpayers through elimination of registration day for the aldermanic election next month seemed likely today by action in the Illinois house of representatives.

The house sent a bill abolishing the intermediate registration Jan. 31 to second reading and leaders on both sides of the chamber indicated they would push it to fast passage. Identical steps are expected in the senate.

Other portions of an election program brought here by Chicago Democratic leaders, which include the plan to hold the aldermanic election when judges are chosen in June, did not fare so well. Constitutional objections were strewn in the path of the plan and it was the opinion of many that elimination of the registration day was the only measure which has a good chance to pass.

At Election Board Offices.

If the precinct registration is abolished, supplemental registration will be centralized at the election board offices. Some observers speculated today on the possibility of this becoming the opening wedge toward a central counting system, wherein eventually ballots cast in precincts would be brought to the board offices to be counted.

Proponents of the plan to combine the aldermanic with the judicial election included County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki of Cook, former Gov. Edward P. Dunne, Robert Taylor, C. J. Harrington, and Ald. Frank Carr of the 17th ward.

The constitutional objections were raised by Attorney John F. Tyrrell, who appeared for the Republican county central committee. He contended that the nonpartisan law governing aldermanic elections could not be changed save by a referendum.

As explained by Judge Jarecki, elimination of the registration would save about $437,000. To postpone the election itself would save another $300,000. Mr. Harrington contended that if the vacancy in the senate caused by the election of Thomas J. Courtney as state's attorney of Cook county could be filled by amending the primary act to permit the nomination of his successor by the senatorial committees in the district, another $22,000 would be saved.

Nominations for the Horner vacancy on the Probate bench by county conventions would save $360,000, Harrington estimated, while a similar procedure by the municipal central committee in regard to the Allegretti vacancy on the municipal bench would and another $250,000 to that figure. Harrington placed the total savings for this series of election changes at $1,350,000.

Schnackenberg Proposes Delay.

The attitude of Republicans in the house toward the program was indicated by Minority Leader Schnackenberg, who suggested that the primary elimination will be advanced, but the rest of the bills held on first readins "until they can receive more consideration."

Representative A. O. Galvin [Rep., Chicago] presented a bill calling for a reapportionment of senatorial districts.

Another bill, introduced by Representative Emmett McGrath [Dem., Brookfield], would impose a fine of $500 and imprisonment of six months in jail for any person who falsified his true financial status when applying for relief of charitable agencies. A sworn statement of need would be required of every person applying for such aid.

CERMAK ASSAILS BEER FLATS AS CRIME BREEDERS

Tells Police Raid Policy in Radio Talk.

Mayor Cermak last night outlined in detail the reasons for his police drive to rid the city of beer flats. He condemned such flats as being among the worst known breeding places for crime, and a drain on legal business. At the same time he declared his belief in personal liberty and his opposition to prohibition. His views were given in a radio talk.

"It is asked: Why am I going after the beer flats so strongly?" said Mayor Cermak. "I have often said before that the beer flat is one of the worst breeding places for crime. Because of its being in a hidden, out of the way place, a beer flat is an excellent place for hoodlums, gangsters, and minor criminals to gather, and discuss their plans for holdups, racket crimes and so on.

Push Drive on Beer Flats.

"For this main reason then, and because I am definitely committed to the policy of driving gangsters, hoodlums, and habitual criminals out of Chicago, I am having the police push their campaign against beer flats to the very limit. This will be a permanent policy.

"There are other valid reasons why beer flats should be eliminated. To allow these unlicensed beer flats to operate would be unfair to those reputable people have have paid licenses and who pay rent for their stores and legal premises and who have invested in fixtures. It would be unfair to the landlords who pay taxes and who must depend upon legitimate rents to provide their taxes.

Sees Legal Beer Soon.

"These beer flats which sell home brew are running in competition with legal and licensed, respectable places. I have no desire to stop people from buying a glass of beer. I am convinced that the legal sale of beer will be definitely authorized in a very short time, and there is no reason why a decent citizen should not be able to buy a glass of good beer in a licensed place instead of a beer flat."

Licensed places will not be bothered unless they are hoodlum hangouts, the mayor added. Moreover, he is opposed to household snooping, the mayor declared.

STEAL LOAD OF TOBACCO.

A truckload of tobacco valued at $2,000 was seized by four gunmen yesterday in an alley near Dearborn and Kinzie streets. William Wabel, the driver, and his helper, B. J. Gorman, employes of the Nathan Fox Tobacco company, were driven to Kostner avenue and 22d street in an automobile and released.

CITY WILL REDEEM $359,000 OF NEW REFUNDING BONDS

City Controller Szymczak yesterday announced that the city would retire $359,000 worth of the $15,036,000 of 6 per cent 1933 refunding bonds which were sold three weeks ago as a means of averting a default in the payment of bond principal and interest due on Jan. 1. A few days ago the controller advertised that the city was ready to redeem $419,122 worth of the bonds but he received acceptances totaling only $359,000. They were from the First Union Trust and Savings bank $100,000; Estate of Edward Morris, $254,000; and Harris Trust and Savings bank for the People's Bank of Pratt, Kas., $5,000. The bonds are non-callable and are not due until 1938.

FIND APPLICANT WELL SUPPLIED WITH COMFORTS

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 18.—(AP)—"I'm hungry," said a middle aged man late today to the Nebraska senate committee investigating idleness. He had appeared with a delegation of idle men who crowded into the legislative halls, demanding cash relief.

Before the committee at the time was Miss Margaret B. Anderson of the social walfare society here. She went to the man's home and telephoned what she found there:

Stew containing potatoes and meat; plenty of potatoes and vegetables, coffee, lard, bread, rolled oats, a piece of meat, lunch ready for tomorrow, and a son-in-law getting $12 a week.

U. S. GIRLS FIND RICH DON BASIN A HIDEOUS PLACE

Condition of the Workers Called Intolerable.

Miss Christensen and Mary L. De Give, both of Atlanta, have related for The Tribune their experiences in a fourteen week motor trip, unaccompanied, through Russia. They have previously told of their travels from the border to Moscow and then south. The narrative is taken up today in the city of Kharkov.

BY ALVA CHRISTENSEN.

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

After a couple days' stay in Kharkov we drove out early one morning to Tractorystroy to view this greatest of new Socialist cities. It was about 9 a. m. when we got there and we attempted to find one of the directors of the factory. The factory itself was beginning to work, but no director or manager ever arrives on his job in Russia until 11 or 12 o'clock. Responsible workers work from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. usually. Naturally very little can be accomplished.

Not being able to locate a director and no one daring to assume the authority to give us permission to go through the factory, we left to view the town itself. There was no great loss in not being able to see the factory, as it was no better, we are sure, than anything else the soviets do.

Houses Falling Apart.

The town was built up around the factory as the nucleus. The houses are large, gray cardboard structures built about 1929. They are already falling apart. The plumbing was stopped up in all the houses and the usual nauseating Russian smell permeated the whole air. We were not too disappointed this time. We were getting quite accustomed to the flimsiness of social construction.

Leaving Tractorstroy, we drove in the direction of the Donbass, that region of fabulous mineral wealth in which we were soon again to be disappointed. At evening we found ourselves at Slavinsk, which boasts the biggest workers' sanatorium in the neighborhood. The sanatorium is on the outskirts of the town. We asked to be put up for the night and were assigned cots in the reception dormitory for women where recent arrivals who await examinations are accommodated.

Attend Open Air Concert.

We were then given a supper. It consisted of an omelette, salad, tea and deliciously baked Ukrainian bread, which was the best we had tasted since leaving Poland.

After supper a young man, acting as our guide, escorted us to an open air concert of Ukrainian folk music. We had not had a chance to change from our pants to skirts and various persons in the audience gaped at us. We were discussed in whispers and laughed at. The guide turned angrily on several of the buzzing groups of gossips.

Returning to the sanitarium, we found that the beds were only boards over which pads were thrown. The pads had been stripped and covered with fresh linen for us. Because the blankets were soiled we were left without any. By begging hard we were able to get back the coverings and, opening the windows, settled ourselves to sleep.

Sleep Is Long Delayed.

Sleep was long delayed by a discussion which arose between a fat Polish woman, wife of a manager, and a lime factory worker. The worker asked the Polish woman, "How is the food here?" The haughty reply of the Pole was, "I am not interested in the food, I'm only interested in the cure." The lime worker meekly retorted, "But how can you be cured without food?"

Then we were questioned as to how things were in America. The Polish woman asked, "Do you have sanatoriums in America where the workers may go for free treatment?" Before we had a chance to answer the other woman said, "What do you mean free sanatoriums, when I must pay one month's salary for the privilege of being cured?" We did not have to answer, as the manager's wife snorted indignantly and turned her face to the wall.

Pancakes for Breakfast.

As we were preparing to leave in the morning a nurse came, saying that our breakfast was ready. We were given, besides the regular patient's portion of cold eggplant mash, thick, rubbery pancakes, lard for butter, bread and tea, a platter of twelve fried eggs and sickly soy bean coffee. We had to gobble our food whole, as they did not want the inmates to know that we had been served better food than that given them.

We then located the manager and told him we were leaving. He was utterly distressed that we had not been accommodated in the Miners' sanatorium, where the beds have springs and the food is of better quality. To prove it, he took us on a protracted tour of his eight establishments, pulling up the mattresses to exhibit springs and leading us through dining rooms to see the rations, and all the time feeding us on overdoses of soviet propaganda. To relieve the bad impression which the beds without springs may have created, the director filled our gas tank and sent us on our way.

Calls Conditions Intolerable.

For two days we traveled through the Ukraine and the Donbass sections. We emerged from the Donbass region acutely disappointed. We somehow expected to find actual industrialization in Russia, cast in a newer and nobler mold than that which we know about mining districts in America. We actually saw that the conditions existent for industrial workers were intolerable.

For one whole day we drove through a bare, drab land dotted with pyramids which grew as we approached them into mountains of cinders out of which had been extracted metal of one sort or another. Factories stood by, lording it over pathetic, sordid houses. Numerous soviet communal dwellings had been constructed but were already sooty and unkempt, sinking back into the dirty squalor of any mining town.

Rich and Hideous.

Those towns grown up around a lime mine rather than a coal or iron mine were suffocated in a shroud of white powder. The people, their houses, the straggly, dying vegetation, lay stifled and gasping. This was the famed Don river basin, rich and hideous.

The second night out of Kharkov we spent in a peasant home in a German artel. Late into the night the leading members of the commune dropped in for a chat. The president of the village soviet, a young man of 26, whose father had been a beggar; the village school teacher and the manager of the artel, all talked. The president of the soviet told us that here food was plentiful and every one received enough bread, enough meat and plenty of tea and sugar.

Father Tells Different Story.

But late that night the man of the house invited us into his one large back room to tell us how they lived. It was occupied by him and his wife and their four children. The children were curled up into one deep bed, looking much like naked birds in a nest. One little girl still clasped in her hands the wrappings from a piece of candy we had given her.

The father described to us the horrible conditions under which they were forced to live. The story differed greatly from that which the communists had just told us. As a result, we gave them bread, sugar, summer sausage, and some tea.

Give Grandma an Auto Ride.

When we were preparing to leave in the morning the grandmother, who had never been in an automobile, asked us to take her for a ride. As she got in she pulled in after her the four grandchildren, whose arms and legs became hopelessly entwined in the levers of the car. We drove them, spellbound, from one end of the village to the other and left them in a chorus of "Aufwiedersehns."

We drove madly to get to Tagenrog and the Gulf of Azov, where we planned to have our first bath for several days. We lit our stove for lunch, stripped and bathed luxuriously in the hot sun. Noticing for once that our nudity prevented the people from clamoring around with their incessant questions, we cooked and ate our lunch in our shameless condition. It was the first peace we had ever known in Russia. We had to cut our delightful repast short, as we wanted to get to Rostov before dark.

Find Rostov Dust Choked.

We approached Rostov at sundown. It was fringed by makeshift shanties and much construction. The streets were dust choked by the pattering feet of flocks of goats being driven home for the night. Our car was put under the surveillance of Intourist, which also procured a room in their hotel for us, for which they charged us $6 a night. As we went into the dining room the orchestra was just striking up "I'm Crying for the Carolines." They didn't know how true it was.

The next day was spent in having our ailing brakes put into order by Avtodor. This was done with the same willingness which characterized all of its dealings with us. They were the nicest soviet organization we encountered in our tour of Russia. In Moscow, when we first arrived there, the mud had so ruined two ball bearings that they had to be replaced. Avtodor put in the new ball bearings and worked for several hours on the car and never asked us to pay for anything. Here in Rostov, however, although the work on the car had been well done, the work on the bill had been overdone.

$1 a Night Garage Bill.

Intourist procured another month's extension for our visas and charged us $1 a night to keep Beckie in their back yard. We could have left it on the street free of charge. We didn't object to paying for what we received, but we did object to the Intourist manner of charging for services never rendered. So in a state of discontent we left Rostov.

We drove on to Verblud, that giant show place of Russia. This large experimental station looked, as usual, very wholesome and substantial in the dusky light of the evening. Though Verblud had been in existence only three years, they were just now laying a water system. We were given a room in the hotel for foreigners. At dinner the usual omelet and tomatoes were served, this time augmented by quarts of delicious ice cold milk.

The manager told us that if he had known we were coming he should have had meat and rooms prepared for us. As it was, we had to sleep on sheets with telltale blood stains. We ourselves had only to squash three bedbugs.

PERSHING AND BYRD ASSAILED FOR TAKING U. S. RETIREMENT PAY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Gen. John J. Pershing, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and other prominent retired army and navy officers, were attacked in the house of representatives today for belonging to the National Economy league, and at the same time accepting retirement pay from the government.

Representatives Jed Johnson [Dem., Okla.] offered an amendment to the war department appropriation bill designed to save four million dollars a year by limiting retired officers pay to $2,400 a year. When the house refused to accept that amendment, Mr. Johnson sought unsuccessfully to have the maximum fixed at $3,600 and later at $5,000.

Mr. Johnson declared that Gen. Pershing receives a total of $21,000 a year from the government in retirement pay and allowance. "Gen. Pershing is not the only one," said Mr. Johnson. "There is Rear Admiral Byrd, who gets $4,500 a year retirement pay."

MOVIE ALIENS UNDER SCRUTINY OF DOAK'S AGENT

Labor Secretary Sends Him to West.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(AP)—The labor department's trouble shooter on aliens, Murray W. Garsson, is off to Los Angeles tomorrow to direct an investigation into the presence on the Pacific coast of foreigners with doubtful right to be there. Secretary Doak denied late today that inquiry is aimed specifically at Hollywood's movie colony.

Garsson, a special assistant to Mr. Doak, has been put on special assignments in New York, Chicago, Detroit, and other cities. His latest activity was securing the indictment of Harry F. Gerguson in New York on a charge of false entry. Gerguson, who once passed himself as Prince Michael Romanoff, pleaded guilty.

Actor Ordered Deported.

The Hollywood colony's alien contingent came under observation some time ago. Duncan Renaldo, who had appeared in several important pictures, was accused of passport frauds, sentenced to prison and deportation.

Some of the actors, directors, and other aliens in the picture colony are in the country on permanent residence permits, but many others are there as visitors. Such permits expire every six months. Labor department officials have refused to give the names of any persons investigated.

Garsson told newspaper men:

"Our inquiry is directed at aliens of all sorts and all nationalities. We are not aiming especially at the moving picture people, but are checking up on all aliens as we have done in other sections of the country."

Players' Status Explained.

Hollywood, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The word goes around in film circles that there are probably five hundred minor players, writers, technical advisers and members of production staffs that may be subjects of investigation in the federal drive against illegal entry of persons from foreign lands.

The foreign stars, film executives explained, made films under contracts known to the immigrant service, and these stars have permission to remain in America during such contracts.

Among such players are those from England, including George Arliss, Clive Brooks, Ronald Colman, Colin Clive, Leslie Howard and Elissa Landi. France is represented by Maurice Chevalier, Ireland by Maureen O'Sullivan and Una O'Connor, Germany by Marlene Dietrich, Sweden by Nils Asther and Hungary by Bela Lugosi.

DIES AS RESULT OF FALL.

James Gilligan, 47 years old, 6211 Wentworth avenue, a teamster, died in the County hospital yesterday of a skull fracture when he fell in the alley at the rear of 5041 Princeton avenue.

CHEAP MONEY IS NOISY ISSUE NOW ON CAPITOL HILL

Schemes for Inflation Fill Congress.

among Democratic leaders that some sort of a silver bill is the most that congress can be expected to approve either in this or in the next administration or that Mr. Roosevelt would be disposed to sanction.

The Steagall bill provides that the secretary of the treasury shall purchase in the open market at its market price silver bullion in the amount of 250 millions of dollars and thereafter shall purchase monthly at the market price silver bullion equal to "one-twelfth of the estimated annual production of silver bullion in the United States, Alaska, and the Philippine Islands." Payment is to be made for the bullion in silver certificates.

Details of Silver Plan.

"The silver certificates issued as provided in this act," says the bill, "are hereby made legal tender and shall be accepted at their full face value for all debts and dues, public and private, of every nature and description, and when accepted by the government in payment of debts shall be reissued and in all respects shall become a part of the lawful money of the United States and are redeemable at their face value in lawful money of the United States."

Other silver bills are pending, ranging from silver purchase plans by Senator Key Pittman [Dem., Nev.] and Representative Andrew L. Somers [Dem., N. Y.] to a Bryanesque 16 to 1 silver coinage bill being pressed by Senator Burton K. Wheeler [Rad. Dem., Mont.].

All the farm organizations urge inflation. The American Farm Bureau federation has indorsed Prof. Irving Fisher's compensated dollar plan. The National Grange demands currency inflation to restore the level of 1926.

THREE KILLED IN BOOTLEG WAR IN HOLLYWOOD

Crimes Carefully Veiled by Assassins.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Three figures in Los Angeles' underworld were "executed" by gunmen within the last 24 hours. The killings were coolly and systematically carried out. When the bodies were found no clews except the bullets in the bodies were found.

It was the most murderous flare-up in Los Angeles' gang history. The victims:

Harry Meagher, 41, wholesaler of illicit liquor to Hollywood resorts, shot to death around midnight at the wheel of his own automobile before the palatial new home into which he had moved his family yesterday.

Slain By "Friend" or Foe.

Allen James North, 23, known to police as the "cigaret burglar," an acquaintance of Meagher's, shot dead in the back seat of Meagher's sedan. Whether North was in the sedan as Meagher's friend and bodyguard or was only his supposed friend and executioner is still to be determined.

Mickey Erno [Arno], 25, alias "Silky Kid," who, according to Salvatore Bendotto, his brother-in-law, "left the beer racket in Chicago a year or two ago because he was afraid of his life."

Erno was a former bantamweight boxer. In Los Angeles he had no known occupation since his last bout one year ago. His body was found in the channel of San Gabriel river, five miles northeast of Long Beach, after a telephone call told police to look under a bridge there.

Had Had Trouble.

Meagher had several brushes with hijackers and holdup men in recent years, according to police, who said the dead man recently received a warning that "another crowd was moving in here."

His lieutenant, Richard Hopkins, 31, better known as Dick Hoppe, professional boxer, and his wife, Mrs. Vern Meagher, 40, were taken to police headquarters for questioning.

After Meagher was shot his car lurched against a lamp post, shutting off the man's escape from a front door, but Meagher, who was physically powerful, managed to crawl over the seat and out a rear door of the car to his front porch, where he died.

Trustee, Called to Court, Tells of His Fund Juggling

Hermann Wollenberger, 1765 East 55th street, executive of Wollenberger & Co., bankrupt bond house, testified in court yesterday to the juggling and ultimate loss of funds he held as personal trustee of three Hyde Park hotel and apartment buildings. He admitted that $23,000 had been diverted from the trustee accounts into those of his own company.

Wollenberger, a gray haired man in his sixties, also told of controlling the bondholders' committees for the three buildings after the buildings were placed in foreclosure before the collapse of his own concern. When the bondholders finally discovered the irregularities, he said, he persuaded the committee to accept already defaulted mortgage bonds for the debt.

All Wollenberger's statements were made from the witness stand before Superior Judge Robert E. Gentzel. Wollenberger was summoned to court by Attorneys Morris Sider and Isador Becker, who represent a group of bondholders in the three buildings, the Park Shore East and the Flamingo hotels, and the Park Shore apartments.

Denies Doing Any Wrong.

He appeared without an attorney and Judge Gentzel frequently warned him: "I may have to recommend this case to the state's attorney. I may have to order grand jury action in this matter."

Wollenberger's invariable reply was: "I didn't do anything wrong here. I didn't do anything wrong."

He explained that he had paid taxes on the three buildings until 1927, but none since that time "upon the advice of my attorney, Nathan Blumberg." He said his lawyer warned him that he would be personally liable for any of the money in the trusteeship accounts if he mingled it with that of Wollenberger & Co.

"But my lawyer knew where the money was going," Wollenberger said.

In August, 1931, all three buildings were forced into foreclosure and a bondholders' committee was immediately formed by Wollenberger & Co., the witness said.

"My lawyers and I controlled this committee," Wollenberger said. "It was always best to control such groups."

New Committee Chosen.

On Sept. 17, 1931, he testified, a new bondholders' committee of five members was chosen. He picked two members; the Chicago Title and Trust company, which succeeded him as trustee, picked two; and his lawyer chose one, Wollenberger said.

"Thus I had a majority on this committee also," he added.

The committee soon discovered the loss of the money, but nothing was done until on Jan. 11, 1931, the day before his bond house closed, the committee demanded return of the money, Wollenberger said. They were satisfied with the transfer of the defaulted bonds, he said.

"Does that action make the committee guilty of compounding a felony?" Judge Gentzel asked the lawyers. They replied that the transaction was with Wollenberger & Co., and not with Wollenberger himself. This action technically was not reprehensible, they said.

The judge then continued the hearing until March 7. The hotels and apartment building now are in the hands of Ald. Irving J. Schreiber [5th], who is receiver.

TROTZKY BLAMES STALIN FOR DEATH OF HIS DAUGHTER

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Leon Trotzky, exiled Russian leader, considers the recent suicide here of his daughter, Mme. Zinaida Wolkow, to be the result of a "a senseless act of revenge" on the part of Dictator Stalin.

By depriving the entire Trotzky family of Russian citizenship, Trotzky says in a letter sent to the central committee of the Communist party from his place of exile on the Turkish island of Prinkipo, Stalin shattered the health of the daughter, for he made it impossible for her to join her husband and 10 year old daughter.

"To deprive her of her Russian citizenship was a senseless act of revenge against me," Trotzky wrote. "It wrecked my daughter's health. They call it a voluntary death. No, it wasn't voluntary. Stalin forced this death upon her."

FEAR BOATER DROWNED.

Grayville, Ill., Jan. 17.—[Special.]—Lucian Blood, 35, farm manager of Owensville, Md., and son of S. A. Blood, a large landowner of Mt. Carmel, Ill., is believed to have drowned in the Wabash river near Crawleyville. He has been missing since noon Monday. He was last seen in a motor boat.

CUT 'SPOILSMEN' OFF U.S. PAY ROLL, U. OF C. MEN URGE

Send Pamphlet to Hoover and Roosevelt.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Reduction of the cost of government by trimming political "spoilsmen" and "incompetents and hangers on" from the federal pay rolls is one of the suggestions made by a group of twelve University of Chicago professors yesterday in a pamphlet on "Balancing the Budget."

The professors urge that the national government adopt a policy of raising by taxation only sufficient revenue to finance normal operating expenses and that it resort to borrowing for funds needed for unemployment relief, public works, and debt retirement.

The brochure assails a general sales tax as advocated by President Hoover and Secretary of the Treasury Mills. It says a sales tax would increase the cost of living and "would fall with greater severity upon the poor than upon the more wealthy."

Favor Tariff Reductions.

The twelve professors argue that if new taxes are to be levied they should come in the form of an increase in income, estate, and gift taxes, the adoption of revenue duties on tea, coffee, and cocoa, and a reduction in existing tariffs with a view to increasing revenues from customs duties.

Taxes on the sale of beer and wine, when the liquor laws are modified, the booklet points out, would afford substantial revenues.

On the problems of balancing the budget now confronting congress, the professors seem to be against a yearly balancing. They declare the balancing of budgets should be on a long term basis, following the business cycle periods. They argue that to balance the budget yearly during a depression "will tend to prolong the depression."

Although the pamphlet argues for reduction of unit costs of government, it appears to soft pedal on the curtailment of governmental activities, a spot at which the organized forces seeking economy in government are aiming some of their ax blows.

Attacks Patronage Toll.

"Many savings can be accomplished without impairment of services," the pamphlet says. "The political system upon which American governments rest exacts a heavy toll in the form of patronage.

"The postoffice department, for example, has notoriously been manned at the top by spoilsmen. Many of the 15,032 presidential postmasters have been selected for political rather than for service qualifications.

"The collectors of customs, the internal revenue collectors, and many other offices outside the civil service represent to a large extent political overhead which could be eliminated in the interest of economy and efficiency.

"Expenditures for veterans include allowances for disabilities and hospitalization arising from injuries not connected with military service. Until the federal government undertakes the relief of destitution for all citizens, these allowances appear to constitute merely a bid for political support to a privileged group.

Urge Elimination of Waste.

"Efforts should be made to eliminate waste and inefficiency as fully as possible from the federal service. Party patronage and spoils should be replaced by a merit service fully protected from partisan influences.

"Reorganizations of bureaus and departments to eliminate duplication should be undertaken at once.

"The depression has brought many realizable economies in governmental operations. Prices of commodities and materials have declined to 67.8 per cent of their 1929 level. Governments are thus able to purchase materials more economically than a few years ago. In addition, wage levels have decreased.

"Salaries should not be further cut unless steps are taken at the same time to accomplish all the other possible economies in the public service.

Suggestions on Retrenchment.

"Where horizontal cuts alone are employed, the service is not purged of the incompetents nor of political hangers on. In retrenchment the principle to be followed is to reduce expenditures and curtail operations where they will do the least social damage. For those employés who are discharged from the federal service, adequate unemployment relief or employment in emergency services should be provided."

Postponement of some expenditures is urged in the booklet.

"The surplus of agricultural land now under cultivation," it says, "justifies the curtailment and postponement of expenditures for land reclamation and irrigation. Substantial economies can be realized from the postponement of naval construction.

"Likewise, services undertaken for the benefit of particular individuals should be dropped from the budget or placed on a self-supporting basis.

Cite Commerce Department.

"Many activities of the department of commerce are illustrations in point: notably, the foreign services of the bureau of domestic and foreign commerce. Moreover, these duplicate in part the activities of the consular service.

"We suggest that every opportunity should be seized to reduce the cost of rendering public services; that political patronage be completely eliminated from the federal services; that every possible effort be made to reduce waste and inefficiency to a minimum; that the reorganization of departments should be speeded; that improved methods and procedures should be adopted wherever possible.

"We suggest that federal appropriations should be made at once for the direct relief of the unemployed.

"We suggest that congress and the President should adopt the policy of balancing the budget over a period of years, taking account of the swings of the business cycles, rather than attempt to balance each annual budget without reference to the effects of such policy on business and social welfare."

The booklet, edited by Prof. Harry D. Gideonse, is the product of a University of Chicago round table, and the suggestions are signed by the following: Frank Bane, Paul Betters, Carl Chatters, Paul H. Douglas, Simeon E. Leland, H. A. Millis, Clarence E. Ridley, H. C. Simons, Donald Slesinger, Jacob Viner, and L. D. White.

Copies of the pamphlet were sent last night to President Hoover, President Elect Roosevelt, members of congress, and governors of states.

INCOME TAX LAW AND DEMANDS ON YOU EXPLAINED

Below is the eighth of a series of ten concise articles on the income tax prepared for THE TRIBUNE. The articles explain provisions of the new income tax law, known as the revenue act of 1932, under which income tax returns are to be filed in March.

BY WILLIS NANCE.

Other Changes in Revenue Act of 1932.

In 1932, for the first time, amounts received as compensation, family allotments, and allowances under the provisions of the war risk insurance and vocational rehabilitation acts or the World War Veterans Act of 1924, or as pensions from the United States or any state, are now subject to tax. The provision contained in prior revenue acts for the exclusion of such payments from income has been purposely omitted by congress in the new act.

The entire amount of dividends or interest received by a taxpayer from a building and loan association is now taxable, as the previously allowed exemption of $300 has been omitted in the 1932 act.

The new act expressly provides that in determining the gain or loss from the sale or other disposition of real estate, "taxes and other carrying charges on unimproved and unproductive real property" may be added to the cost of the property where such taxes and charges have not been deducted from income in the taxable year or prior taxable years. This provision clarifies the handling of taxes on vacant property.

The salaries of the President of the United States and of federal judges were not taxed under prior acts, but the new act contains a provision that in the case of Presidents and federal judges taking office after the enactment of the act their compensation shall be subject to tax.

Interest paid on indebtedness incurred in connection with the purchase or carrying of tax exempt securities is not deductible, and the new act adds a clause prohibiting the deduction of interest on indebtedness incurred in connection with the purchase or carrying of annuities.

With respect to losses arising from fires, storms, theft, shipwreck, or other casualty, such losses are allowed to an individual unless, at the time of filing the return, such losses have been claimed as a deduction for estate tax purposes in the estate tax return.

The privilege of carrying forward "net losses" is limited in the new law to the next succeeding taxable year, instead of two years, and the right to bring forward net losses for the year 1930 against 1932 net income, which would have been permissible under the 1928 revenue act, is specifically denied.

The 1932 act allows a taxpayer the option of taking credit against his income tax on account of the payment of taxes to foreign countries or possessions of the United States, but in such event these taxes will not be allowed again to the taxpayer as a deduction from income as taxes paid during the year. This represents a departure from the 1928 act, under which such taxes were allowed both as deductions from income and as credits against income taxes.

At the request of the treasury department, congress inserted a provision in the new act pertaining to capital net gains and losses having for its purpose the preventing of attempts to avoid the wash sales provisions of the law.

Under prior acts, where taxpayers held stock for more than two years, sold such stock, and then repurchased identical stock within thirty days, the repurchased stock would take the same cost as the original stock and, if sold within two years, would result in a loss deductible without restriction. The new provision prevents this result by providing that the two year period of ownership begins to run from the date of the acquisition of the original securities.

A syndicate, group, pool, joint venture, or other unincorporated organization which does not qualify as a trust, estate, or corporation as defined in the act is regarded as a partnership under section 1111 of the 1932 act and is required to file a partnership return. The individual members of such groups must report their distributive shares of the group income in their individual returns.

The changes discussed in these articles do not constitute all of the changes found in the revenue act of 1932, but cover only the more important changes which affect the individual taxpayer.

ASK HALF BILLION R. F. C. CASH FOR NEW PROJECTS

One Is Sanitary District Pumping Stations.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Sponsors of self-liquidating construction projects involving an aggregate expenditure of more than half a billion dollars have called upon the Reconstruction Finance corporation to put up the cash needed to get them under way.

Inquiry today disclosed that at the present moment applications for 149 such projects involving aggregate loans from the government of in excess of 400 million dollars are awaiting action by the board of directors of the corporation. Loans granted so far amount to 148 million dollars.

District Requests $36,450,000.

In addition to the formal requests, grouped by the corporation into "class 1" and "class 2," there are a large number of applications not yet classified. The total of all such unclassified applications, together with the aggregate involved in the formal requests, would probably approximate a billion dollars.

Among the applications now pending before the directors is the Chicago sanitary district's request for a $36,450,000 loan to construct three pumping stations in the Chicago river. This application, it is understood, has been considered by the board and found unsatisfactory and a new application is to be filed.

Only three other applications from Illinois were included in the list—the village of Lansing has filed a request for $60,000 for a water works; the village of Westmont is seeking $9,900, and the city of Mount Carmel is asking $170,000 for similar projects.

Divided by classes of project, the largest group of applications is for water work systems in municipalities of varying size.

Big Applications Listed.

Class—	No.	Amt. involved.
Water works	61	$ 31,895,825
Power plants	16	23,452,500
Irrigation projects	15	8,813,956
Bridges	12	30,406,226
Housing projects	10	65,268,579
Sewage systems	6	36,796,068
Markets	5	1,134,000
Drainage systems	3	363,000
Miscellaneous	21	208,948,399
Totals	149	$412,078,493

The miscellaneous applications include airports, docks, fair grounds, flood control projects, hospitals, ice plants, parks, public buildings, reforestation projects, ship canals, and tunnels.

HAS DAUGHTER PUT IN CELL FOR CREDIT BUYING

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 18.—(AP)—A. C. Moeller, a chemical company manager, got tired of his daughter, Dorothy, 23, running up charge accounts, so he had her arrested.

Miss Moeller today rounded out her first 24 hours in jail, and her father, turning down the offer of friends to obtain bail for her, said he intended that his daughter should remain in the police "holdover" until she has "learned her lesson."

"It's about the toughest lesson I've ever had," said Miss Moeller, tearfully. "Mother called me up this morning. She would have come down and probably got me out but for father."

Miss Moeller, graduate of a Chicago finishing school, was arrested Tuesday in a department store after she had just purchased $27.15 worth of clothing, which was "charged to papa."

Mrs. Moeller said "Dorothy is just a spoiled child."

"We warned her a number of times," the mother said, "but it went in one ear and out the other."

GETS 12 YEARS FOR ATTEMPTED POSTAL ROBBERY

Ernest Bartoni, 27 years old, of Chicago Heights, yesterday was sentenced to serve 12 years in Leavenworth prison by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward for putting the life of a postal employé in jeopardy, and for conspiracy.

Bartoni and a companion, still at large, attempted to rob Thomas F. Wharrie, postmaster at Coal City, Ill., on Dec. 14. They kidnaped the town marshal, Ernest Pierod, who had been summoned to aid the postmaster by Mrs. Wharrie. Pierod was taken to Joliet by the bandits and robbed of $40. Bartoni was arrested a few days later in Joliet.

Assistant District Attorney Edward A. Fisher charged Bartoni and the other bandit went to Coal City with the intention of robbing the postoffice there of a $6,000 money shipment from Chicago. The money had been reshipped before they arrived.

School Board Votes 50 Pct. Limit on Its Tax Warrants

Appeal to R. F. C.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(AP) Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois and Chicago representatives went before the Reconstruction Finance corporation late today with a plea for $60,451,000 for Chicago's schools and sanitary district. The Chicago school board wants $22,000,000 to pay the back salaries of employés. The remainder is sought to pay for or to complete various construction projects by the sanitary district.

The board of education yesterday adopted a resolution pledging itself to cooperate with a citizens' committee which is endeavoring to sell $21,900,000 worth of school tax anticipation warrants to finance the unpaid pay rolls of 1932 for teachers and other school employés. By its action the board agreed not to issue warrants exceeding 50 per cent of the school tax levy for 1932.

"This is the only ray of hope I see in the whole salary situation," asserted School Trustee Joseph P. Savage. "I have talked to Charles S. Dewey, chairman of the committee that is carrying on the campaign to sell warrants, and he wants to sell all of them or none at all."

Two Blocks of Warrants.

The board's agreement to the 50 per cent limit makes available for sale $5,700,000 worth of 1932 school tax warrants which have not been issued, and $16,200,000 worth of warrants which are now held in the city's aggregate of funds. The citizens' committee hopes to sell these warrants to the large taxpayers and the money thus obtained will be sufficient to meet all school pay roll obligations for last year.

The city's aggregate of funds has been the medium through which the school board has been able partly to finance its pay rolls since the fall of 1930. At that time the city purchased 1930 school warrants. In 1931 the city bought 1931 school warrants to furnish further compensation for school employés.

The 1930 and 1931 warrants held in the city treasury were sold to the banks to get cash for four and a half months' compensation for school employés in 1932. Then 1932 school warrants were put in the city's aggregate of funds in place of the 1930 and 1931 warrants.

Now the 1932 warrants are to be taken from the aggregate of funds for sale by the Dewey committee and are to be replaced in the city treasury by 1932 warrants.

"I recognize clearly that this is the only thing to do," said Trustee James A. Hemingway at yesterday's board meeting. "We owe it to our employés not to stand in the way of any plan that will bring them their pay."

Trustee Savage told the board members that Dewey and his committee would know Friday night whether their warrant sale campaign would succeed. If it failed, he said, the resolution to limit issuance of the warrants would become inoperative.

According to John O. Rees, technical adviser for the citizens' committee, the recommendation that only 50 per cent of the 1933 warrants be issued was made on the opinion that the warrants could be held at par or better. The committee members felt, Rees said, that if the issue were limited, sufficient taxes would be collected to redeem the warrants and no one would want to buy or sell them at a discount.

Urge Completion of School.

The question of new school buildings in the 1933 budget came before the board when Dr. M. O. Bousfield and B. B. Church, an organizer of a colored boys' club on the south side, made a plea that the new Wendell Phillips Senior High school be finished. The foundation and steel structure are completed on the site at 49th street and Wabash avenue.

Dr. Bousfield declared that more than 4,000 pupils are crowded into the old high school building which was constructed in 1904 for 1,100 pupils.

Trustee Orville J. Taylor explained that the board had under consideration plans for a bond issue and the sale of $2,000,000 worth of 1931 building fund warrants to finance a construction program for the schools most needed. The buildings have heretofore been financed through a tax levy.

"The money this time will have to come from a bond issue," said President Lewis E. Myers, who proposed the plan earlier in the week. "We can't put it in the budget."

Discuss Budget Cuts Today.

Supt. William J. Bogan and other administrative heads of the school system will meet this morning in the office of Howard P. Savage, business manager, to discuss trims in the budget.

By an agreement between a committee of the school board and representatives of the citizens' committee on public expenditures the appropriations will have to be pruned from 74 million dollars to $69,442,424. The department heads will report the result of their conference to the board tomorrow.

The revised estimates of resources against which the board may appropriate are as follows: surplus, representing uncollected taxes above expenditures, $8,234,508; miscellaneous revenue, including rents and money from the state distributive fund, $5,228,472; and 1933 tax levies, $55,984,444.

New Zealand Finance Chief Quits; Others May Follow

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Jan. 18.—(AP)—W. Downie Stewart, minister of finance, resigned today as a result of differences of opinion in the cabinet on fiscal matters. There was a possibility that other members also might step out.

677,736 VISITORS PAY ADMISSION TO FAIR GROUNDS SINCE JUNE 1

Since June 1 677,736 persons have paid admission fees and toured the Century of Progress grounds and buildings, exposition officials announced yesterday. This is in addition to 100,000 school children who have been taken on free tours of the exposition. Last Sunday 10,993 persons paid dime admissions to the exposition. This was the best daily attendance since last Oct. 13. Of this number 1,069 visited the Golden Pavilion of Jehol and 1,082 inspected Old Fort Dearborn.

By an arrangement with the board of education the 100,000 school pupils from 350 schools were taken through the grounds in 1,451 motor buses, exposition officials said. Five exposition guards acted as guides and cared for the children.

SYRIA BANS YO-YO TOPS; CHARGES THEY STOP RAIN

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 18.—The Prime Minister of Syria has issued a decree against the Yo-Yo top which was recently introduced into that country and which is held responsible for dry weather.

The Ulema, or Moslem religious leaders, in Damascus complained to the premier that the Yo-Yo had caused a drought that killed their cattle because grazing lands were ruined. They said the up-and-down movement of the tops counteracted the prayers for rain.

The premier then issued his decree against the tops and it rained the very next day. London is full of Yo-Yos and it rains all the time.

"INTERNATIONAL HOUSE" NEW FILM FOR PEGGY JOYCE

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Peggy Hopkins Joyce today walked into the office of Lou H. Diamond, assistant general manager of Paramount Publix corporation, examined a round trip ticket to the west coast, lit a cigaret and sat down.

"This ticket's okay," said Peggy Upton Archer Hopkins Joyce Morner. "Yes, it looks all right. Drawing room all the way. Fine! I'm going to work in a talking picture. Something called 'International House'; a lot of people stranded in a Shanghai hotel and the things they do, understand?

"I've been so busy," she said. "My novel is finished. It's all about gigolos on the Riviera. I know the people of the Riviera. I have a villa at Cap Dail, five minutes from Monte Carlo, a whole island to myself. I have four dogs, six parrots. I sound like an old maid, don't I? It's near Monte Carlo, but I don't gamble. I believe in putting my money in the bank."

Miss Joyce said she had a part in a picture, "Skyrocket," six years ago.

CHEVALIER AND WIFE DIVORCED IN PARIS COURT

PARIS, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Maurice Chevalier, movie star, and Yvonne Vallee Chevalier, music hall singer, whom he married in 1927, were divorced today.

The court ruling was in answer to requests made by both of them. At a recent hearing, attended by neither, counsel for Chevalier said his wife was very jealous and that as a result she caused unpleasant public scenes.

Her attorney informed the court that when she went to Hollywood Chevalier refused to see her and told her to return to France.

Make $1 do the work of $3 and prevent "pesky" winter colds

PEPSODENT ANTISEPTIC is 3 times as powerful as other leading mouth antiseptics. Hence it goes 3 times as far. And whether you buy the 25c, 50c, or $1 size, you still get 3 times as much for your money.

THIS is no time to waste money! It's no time to neglect health! You do neither when you fight colds with Pepsodent Antiseptic as millions are doing. It's just simple arithmetic that makes them change to Pepsodent.

$1 does the work of $3

Pepsodent Antiseptic is three times as powerful as other leading mouth antiseptics . . . hence it goes three times as far—gives you three times as much for your money and gives you extra protection against colds and throat irritations. For protection against germs associated with common ills, remember there are really only two leading kinds of mouth antiseptics on the market. In the one group is the mouth antiseptic that must be used full strength to be effective. In the other group is Pepsodent Antiseptic, utterly safe even if used full strength, yet powerful enough to be diluted with two parts of water and still kill germs within 10 seconds!

Don't fool yourself

It is bad enough to have germs in your mouth before you gargle . . . it's worse to have germs in your mouth after you gargle . . . so choose the antiseptic that kills the germs even when it is diluted. Insist on Pepsodent Antiseptic.

IMPURE BREATH (Halitosis)

The amazing results of Pepsodent Antiseptic in fighting sore throat colds prove its effectiveness in checking Bad Breath (Halitosis). Remember, Pepsodent is 3 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics. Remember, even when diluted with water it still kills germs.

SENATE BUZZES OVER BANK BILL; GETS NOWHERE

Sulk, Fume, Bristle, Bark in Vain.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—A United States senate that bussed and bustled as futilely as a Dorcas society threw up the job of trying to conduct itself efficiently today and resigned itself to a vote on the application of cloture to the Glass banking bill tomorrow afternoon.

It promised to be a roll call of four major significances.

It will have an important bearing on the Democratic senate leadership in the next congress, when the Democrats will have a majority of 22 in the upper house, for it will be looked to as a sign of the Democratic veterans' ability to hold their Huey Longs, their Burton Wheelers, and their Elmer Thomases in check.

Move to Amend Rules.

It may prove to be the first step toward permanent limitation of that freedom of debate which has become a senate pride and tradition, for conservatives like Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic senate leader, expecting failure for tomorrow's cloture attempt, have already moved to amend the senate rules to make cloture applicable by a majority instead of by two-thirds as at present.

It will, on the strength of a dramatic pronunciamento by Senator James Couzens [Rep., Mich.] just before today's adjournment, put on the spot what the Michigan senator called the senate Republicans' "lame duck leadership"—meaning Senators James E. Watson of Indiana and George H. Moses of New Hampshire—whom he charged with having been in a "conspiracy" to aid Louisiana's Long and others in conducting the last week's filibuster against the banking bill.

And, lastly, defeat of cloture is expected, but to be followed by a voluntary agreement to limit debate, which in turn may mean an early vote on the Glass bill and its probable passage in the senate, but its undoubted defeat in the house.

Day of Senate Turmoil.

It will be a tangled vote, a tangled roll call. And in preparation for it the session of the senate today was a tangle of procedure and proceedings, a seesaw of strategies and emotions that had senators ready to bit one another one minute and laughing at their own clownings the next.

It saw Senator Robinson try three times to get an agreement to limit debate on the Glass bill so that the attempt at cloture might be avoided. It saw "Kingfish" Long, chastened after his parliamentary rampage, trying to help Senator Robinson, and it saw Senator Long's filibustering allies go on a rampage of their own.

Senators spatted like angry school boys about yielding to one another, kicked and complained like children ordered to wash behind their ears.

Senator Thomas Objects.

All day long Senator Elmer Thomas [Dem., Okla.] sulked and fumed because, he said, proper hearings had not been held on the branch banking provisions of the banking bill. He wanted 100,000 copies printed of a maverick hearing Jan. 7 at which John A. Carroll, chairman of the Hyde Park Kenwood bank of Chicago, had inveighed against branch banking.

Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.], author of the bill, bristled and barked, calling Mr. Carroll's testimony "incoherent, unconvincing, and at times ridiculous."

Volunteer diplomats hustled about the chamber; recalcitrant senators were dragged into cloakrooms. Knots of senators drew together, whispering, giggling, broke up, gathered again, like school girls planning a party. Senators stalked about frowning, were seized on, smoothed out, only to get to muttering again a few minutes later, while negotiators mopped their brows, smiled missionary smiles, and ran about faster than ever.

Blaine Twits Glass.

Senator John J. Blaine [Rad., Wis.], twitted Senator Glass about telegrams he had received, producing a letter showing that telegraph companies had tried to drum up business by urging business men to wire in behalf of the banking bill on the ground that Senator Glass would "appreciate" such messages. Senator Glass replied with thinly veiled sarcasm that he was sure Senator Blaine meant to be helpful when the brought the matter up.

After some debate many of the some 4,000 telegrams received by Senator Glass were read.

FORTUNE LEFT TO P. M. GENERAL BROWN IN WILL

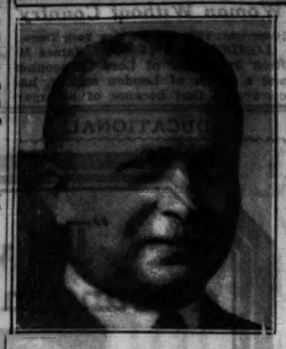
Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Joseph H. Bagley, wealthy vice president of the American Banknote company—who died suddenly three weeks ago—made Postmaster General Walter F. Brown principal beneficiary in his will filed here today.

With the exception of remembrances to Grace Alice Knox, a Grand Rapids, Mich., girl, and Dolores Jeanette Main of Mexico City, all the Bagley fortune went to the postmaster general. The Knox girl got $50,000 and Mrs. Main $10,000, the latter being the mother of his god-child. The amount of the Bagley fortune was not revealed. Mr. Bagley lived at the Shoreham hotel and had rooms in the Exclusive Metropolitan club.

Store Gives Credit; Waits for City Employes' Pay

Sheldon W. Govier, clerk of the Appellate court and formerly alderman of the 9th ward, has worked out a plan with the proprietors of the Peoples store, 11201 South Michigan avenue, which permits city employes to obtain credit at the store on assignments of wages due them from the city. "Everything the employes need can be purchased at the store except coal," said Govier. "A number of employes in the 9th ward have taken advantage of this plan and I believe efforts should be made to establish similar agreements with stores in other sections."

TAKES OWN LIFE



ALBERT LINDENBERG.
[Moffett-Russell Photo.]

Police last night were seeking to establish a motive for the suicide of Albert Lindenberg, 43 years old, vice president of the Oscar Heineman Silk corporation, who hanged himself yesterday with a bathrobe cord in his apartment in the Lake Shore Athletic club, 850 Lake Shore drive.

A note signed "Al," which said "I can't stand it any longer," was the only explanation left by Lindenberg. The note, however, puzzled Oscar Heineman, president of the silk concern, and Lindenberg's secretary, Mrs. Ethel Lindstrom. Both said he had been cheerful recently and, as far as they knew, had no reason to end his life.

George Billingsley, manager of the Lake Shore Athletic club, of which Lindenberg had been a director, also said Lindenberg appeared cheerful last night and had never spoken of any worry or trouble.

2 BANDITS STAGE FIVE ROBBERIES IN 40 MINUTES

Two well dressed bandits committed five holdups on the north side last evening at the rate of one every 8 minutes. One of them carried a shotgun.

At 4:55 they entered the National Tea store at 1835 Montrose avenue. They tied up Raymond Hanson, 4653 North Manor avenue, the manager, and Virginia Kelling, 1448 Norwood avenue, a clerk, and got $60.

Eleven minutes later the gunmen held up Charles Kamhi, 855 Barry avenue, the manager, and three clerks in a vegetable market at 3500 Lincoln avenue, and robbed them of $13. Four minutes later the robbers appeared at 3156 Lincoln avenue, the Father and Sons shoe store, menaced Thomas Gibney, 3333 North Marshfield avenue, the manager, and A. Shuster, 5325 Belmont avenue, a patron, and got $30 and a watch.

Robbery No. 4 took place at 5:25 in the Sears, Roebuck & Co. branch store at 2632 North Clark street. There the bandit pair tied up Wallace Brelsford, 2546 Wilson avenue, the manager, and Roy Bradrick, 2657 North Orchard street, a clerk, and took $80. The last holdup occurred at 5:35 in the Royal Blue store at 2453 North Racine avenue. Mary Langelok, manager, was robbed there of $33.

ROOKIE POLICE 'HERO' QUIZZED ON BOOZE RAID

William Kolb, a rookie policeman, was questioned at the detective bureau last night about a dry raid at 3339 West 66th place in which he was pictured as a hero. The raid was made by three dry agents, and early yesterday after the raid the agents were attacked by a gang of hoodlums. One of the agents, William I. Connors, was shot in the leg. One of the attackers, Edward Astecky, 5114 South Wood street, was seized. Kolb helped to arrest him.

Deputy Chief of Detectives William Blaul and Al Aman, a deputy prohibition administrator, investigated. They discovered, they said, that the still, of 500 gallon capacity, was owned by Michael La Pota, owner of a saloon at 8548 Green Bay avenue, who is Kolb's father-in-law.

Kolb lives at 3310 West 66th place, across the street from where the still was found. These circumstances prmpted Deputy Chief Blaul to summon Kolb to the bureau for questioning.

"We wanted to find out from Kolb if he knew his father-in-law ran a still across the street from his home," said Blaul. "He says he didn't."

GREEN PROTESTS PLAN TO CUT PAY OF U. S. WORKERS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—In a letter sent to all senators, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today protested the proposed reduction of 11-3 per cent which would be applied to federal salaries under the senate economy bill, in addition to the present compulsory one month annual furlough.

Mr. Green protested both on behalf of the government employes and on the ground that such action "inevitably" will be followed by further reductions in wages paid by private employers.

"I earnestly ask you as a friend of labor or as one who is sympathetic toward labor's aims and purposes, to vote against the measure," the letter read.

JACOBS CHARGES TAX 'FIXING' AT STORMY HEARING

Threatens to Call Jury in W. F. Hall Co. Case.

Assessor J. L. Jacobs yesterday charged that officials of the W. F. Hall Printing company had had the company's 1930 personal property taxes "fixed." He added that he would ask the state's attorney to help in his investigation of the company's assets unless the 1931 assessment were made on an equitable basis.

The assertions were made in the course of a stormy two hour session in which the assessor and Attorney Loy N. McIntosh, counsel for the printing company, appeared before Fred W. Brummel and George F. Nixon, members of the board of tax appeals. Attorney McIntosh protested to the board when the assessor fixed the company's assessed valuation at $1,997,950 after the company had filed a schedule calling for an assessed valuation of only $43,438.

A brief hearing on Tuesday ended when Assessor Jacobs demanded that the lawyer bring into the board rooms the consolidated balance sheets of the printing company which is at 4600 Diversey avenue, and of five affiliated concerns at the same address. This the lawyer had promised to do, but yesterday he announced that he had only the books of the Hall company itself.

Separate Assessments Made.

"I don't see why the books of the affiliated concerns are necessary when separate assessments were made for each of them," the lawyer said. "Here they are on the printed list of assessments."

The affiliated companies were assessed on a total valuation of $110,000, the list disclosed. H. Gordon Bollman, head of the assessor's personalty division, then explained that the assessments for the affiliated companies as shown in the printed list had been canceled and included in the Hall company assessed valuations. He added:

"The Hall company balance sheets show assets of $10,000,000. The published accounts of all the allied companies shows assets of $21,000,000. Probably that's why they don't want to show the other books."

Attorney McIntosh said he would be glad to have assessments for all the companies included under the Hall company, but, he added, he would oppose the presentation to the board of the balance sheets of the other concerns.

Threatens to Go to Jury.

"One minute you are willing to have a fair assessment, and the next you refuse to furnish the assessor with the adequate information," interjected Nixon, addressing the lawyer.

"Well, I'm going to get to the bottom of this matter if I have to call in the grand jury to help me," announced Jacobs. "I may have to do that yet."

The assessor then asked for the figures from the 1930 personal property assessment. Deputy Assessor J. R. Petrie said the Hall company had been assessed on a total valuation of $60,100, and had paid taxes of only $4,000. On the 1931 assessment as recommended by Jacobs, the deputy added the company would pay $129,863.

"It's evident," shouted the assessor, "that the Hall company had their 1930 taxes fixed."

"You can't make such statements so loosely," Attorney McIntosh cried, leaping to his feet. "You can't prove a thing. Anyway I had nothing to do with that, and I am glad of it now. I move that the record be changed and the word 'fixed' excluded."

Promises to "Look Into" It.

Assessor Jacobs jumped up, his face red.

"I said fixed and I mean fixed," he announced. "I'm going to look into this case."

"Well," responded the lawyer, "there's plenty to look into because I have been approached by three persons who offered to fix my 1931 taxes."

When the assessor demanded that the lawyer divulge the names of the tax fixers McIntosh refused to disclose them. The hearing closed when the appeals board ordered the attorney to bring in the books of all the printing companies.

CLARK STARTS APPEAL ACTION IN HARRIS SUIT

A bill of exceptions was presented yesterday to Circuit Judge John R. Caverly in behalf of James G. Clark, whose $300,000 breach of contract suit against Norman Harris, son of the chairman of the board of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, was dismissed several weeks ago by Judge Caverly. Clark is perfecting his appeal to the Appellate court.

Judge Caverly delayed acceptance of the exceptions until this morning at the request of Attorney J. Fred Reeve, representing Harris. Reeve declared Clark is seeking to include in the exceptions a paragraph of Harris' will, which attorneys had agreed by stipulation to exclude from the record.

In a previous hearing before Judge Caverly a contract was disclosed in which Harris agreed to pay $500 a month to Clark and to provide for Clark's divorced wife and children in the Harris will. The contract was made on condition Clark would not sue Harris for the alienation of Mrs. Clark's affections. Judge Caverly held Clark and his wife "operated a badger game" and dismissed the suit.

Bomb Explodes; Police Find a Cache of 3,000

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

MADRID, Jan. 18.—Through the accidental explosion of one, 3,000 bombs were found by police today at Igualada, near Barcelona. Three arrests were made. One thousand bombs were found by a similar accident last week at the National Anarchist revolutionary party offices.

APPEAL BY HOOVER TO BALANCE BUDGET STIRS UP NO ACTION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The storm precipitated by the Hoover demand for a balanced budget blew itself out today without any new progress being registered in congress on the administration move to bring expenditures and receipts into line for 1934.

House Democratic leaders disclosed that hope for enactment of budget balancing legislation at this session has been virtually abandoned. They said also that plans are well under way for the calling of a special session at which the fiscal situation would be among the matters considered.

Twelve Democratic members of the house ways and means committee agreed at an informal conference to drop all tax proposals until March 4.

Following the meeting of ways and means committee Democrats, Majority Leader Henry T. Rainey of Illinois said there would be no general revenue bill at this session and there would be a special session. Mr. Rainey said he was in favor of cutting government expenditures to balance the budget.

NOW THEY LEARN IN SCHOOL WHAT TO DO AT HOME

Classes in Cooking and Ironing and Children.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Included in the paraphernalia of present day education in the public schools of Chicago are stationary enamel wash tubs, ironing boards and electric irons, looms for weaving, sewing machines, classrooms equipped with cook stoves, and even nurseries, where real children offer their emotions and complexes for study in "child care."

All of these may be found in the Lucy Flower High School for Girls, which educators consider a triumph of progressive education, with its vocational adviser's office, its spacious laboratories equipped for learning all the simple household tasks which girls of another generation learned at home, it classrooms where home nursing, dietetics, weaving, metal crafts, costume making, and interior decoration are taught.

All But a Swimming Pool.

A pupil guide shows a group of visitors through the school. She has a trim, athletic figure and wears a boyish hair cut, flat heeled shoes and sports clothes. The schol is designed to make home girls, but she is not interested. She intends to teach physical education, she says.

"Do you have a good time here in school?" she is asked.

O, yeah; it's swell. Except we haven't a swimming pool," she says. "That's about all we haven't got, I guess."

"Here's our textile science room," she goes on, entering a room where 20 stationary wash tubs of white enamel, several electric washing machines and driers, eight ironing boards with electric irons and other facilities are standing ready for use.

"We learn to remove stains from clothes—such stains as grease, egg, ink, and fruit juice. We learn to wash silk scarfs, woolen sweaters and table linens. Let's see, I guess that's about all we did in this course."

Passes By the Laboratory.

A chemistry laboratory and a geometry class room the guide merely indicates with a careless thumb as the visitors pass them. At an art room she pauses and leads the way in.

"Here we have 16 looms," she says, pointing to the large looms where partly finished rugs, table scarfs and other things show a variety of colors and patterns. "Each girl weaves two pieces a semester."

In another room a teacher is instructing a beginning class in Egyptian art, explaining both the history of Egyptian art and the execution of typical forms and designs.

In the nursery and playroom which form a laboratory for child care study, are beds, chairs, tables and other furniture for children. Six children from 3 to 4 years old, three boys and three girls, are cared for here every school day. The children are taken to and from school by their parents. One woman is employed to care for them at the school. The girl pupils observe and assist.

Children Carefully Chosen.

"We have a long waiting list of children whose mothers want to send them to us," said Miss Grace Moore, who teaches dietetics and child care and who has been with the Lucy Flower High school almost since its beginning. "We select them very carefully, as to family and intelligence."

The children's luncheons came from the school cafeteria, where pupils are learning cafeteria management, how to make appetizing salads, how to plan meals according to color scheme as well as nutrition value, and how to cook.

Meanwhile the girls studying child care learn what to do in case of temper tantrums, how to break bad eating habits and how to discipline children in the correct way.

"Originally we had the girls preparing meals for the children in our own special little kitchen," Miss Moore said, "but we found it a waste of time. They can learn all they need to know about the physical care of children from books and pamphlets when they have babies. But the emotional guidance is another matter."

LIVING COSTS DROP 22.9% SINCE CLOSE OF 1929, U.S. BUREAU SAYS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The cost of living in the United States declined 9.4 per cent during 1932, compared with the preceding year. On Dec. 31 last it was 17.3 per cent less than on the corresponding date in 1930, and 22.9 per cent under 1929, the bureau of labor statistics announced today.

There was a reduction of 2.7 per cent in living costs between June and December, 1932. For the latter month they were 7.2 per cent less than in 1917, but were higher than in 1913 by 22.1 per cent. In the case of food, however, the December, 1932, prices were 1.3 per cent lower than in 1913.

PACIFIC COAST IN STORM GRIP; DELAYS TRAVEL

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 18.—(AP)—The Pacific coast was in the grip of a general storm today, with snow drifting high across the mountains while rains swept southward through the California lowlands.

Air line service was held up generally, train schedules were slowed in Washington and Oregon, motor cars were stalled, and communication was hampered by snow that snapped telephone and telegraph lines.

General rains throughout California will continue, the weather bureau forecast, but continued drenching will be needed before the total is brought to a normal seasonal figure. Occasional drizzles wet downtown Los Angeles streets during the day and increased at nightfall.

Snow fell all day in California's Yosemite valley, reaching a total of 12 inches and putting 20 inches on the valley floor. Four inches of snow fell at Sonora, Cal., within five hours.

A blizzard enveloped the high Sierra.

"JAKE" FACTOR'S AID IS PLACED ON TRIAL IN LONDON

Accused of Huge Bucket Shop Swindle.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Harry Geen, who was extradited from the United States in connection with fraud charges on which John (Jake the Barber) Factor of Chicago is also wanted in England, appeared for trial at the Criminal court today.

Geen is accused of having received $70,000 through the operations of the Broad Street press, knowing it was illegally obtained. The prosecution charges that Geen took an active part in inducing the public to buy stock for "wholly unreal" prices.

Identifies Factor's Photograph.

The bucket shop operations, according to the prosecution, netted $7,500,000 by selling shares worth 35 cents to clients whose trust had been won for around $2.50. If the jurors are convinced there was a conspiracy, the prosecution declared, then they must believe that Geen knew about it, since he received $315,000 as his share between March and October, 1930, the period in which the company operated.

Richard Guest, a commission broker, identified Factor's photograph as that of one of the organizers of the company. He added that Factor is a man whose personality is hard to resist, although he said he believed he could not read or write very well.

HISTORY OF CASE.

Early in 1931 the British government began efforts to extradite John Factor from Chicago to appear with Harry Geen and others on charges of fleecing thousands of middle class investors out of a total of nearly $7,500,000 through high pressure salesmanship of fraudulent stocks.

Fifteen years before, Jake the Barber, as Factor was known, had closed his cut price Halsted street shop and gone to Europe. In 1930 he returned to Chicago after a two year whirl in the gambling casinos of Deauville and Monte Carlo and established himself in a 14 room Gold Coast apartment at 20 East Cedar street.

Factor gave up to police on May 21, 1931. With a battery of lawyers, headed by Senator Otis F. Glenn, he began his defense in federal court against extradition to England. It was disclosed at the hearings that Factor on his return had set up a $3,000,000 trust fund in three Chicago banks.

Three Aids Sent to Prison.

While three of his associates were sentenced to prison terms ranging up to three years in London, Factor's case dragged along in Chicago. As side branches of the main suit, attempts were made to appoint a receiver for the trust fund and to determine in immigration hearings whether Factor was American or British, and, in the latter case, subject to deportation.

In October, 1931, Factor's lawyers made an offer of $2,000,000 to settle the British claims, which the British counsel refused. At the end of the year, United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker decided that Factor should be extradited to England for trial, but six weeks later Judge George A. Carpenter vacated the order. By 1932 Factor entered an agreement to turn over about $1,300,000 to certain of his British companies. Subsequently much prominence was given the claims of lawyers to 20 per cent of the large settlement as their fee.

In October, 1932, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that Factor must return to England to face trial, overruling Judge Carpenter's decision. Factor was denied a rehearing, but proceeded with efforts to appeal to the United States Supreme court.

Woman Dies of Burns from Alcohol Stove Blast

Mrs. Edna Fletcher, 48 years old, 6340 Blackstone avenue, died yesterday at the Chicago hospital of burns suffered in an explosion of an alcohol stove Tuesday. The accident occurred in the South Park way station of the elevated lines, where she was employed as ticket agent, as she was preparing to make tea.

U.S. Protests Attack on Plant; Japan Promises Investigation

BULLETIN.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 19 (Thursday).—(AP)—Chinese press reports said 380 frozen bodies of Chinese soldiers, clad in thin summer uniforms with rifles clasped in their hands, were discovered at their posts on Mount Takushan in the Manchurian fighting zone by Japanese scouts. Reports said they had repulsed all Japanese attacks.

TOKIO, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The destruction of valuable equipment and records in a riot of disgruntled employés at the Singer Sewing Machine company's branch at Yokohama today caused American Ambassador Joseph C. Grew to request the Japanese government to make an immediate investigation and to provide adequate police protection for American life and property.

The rioters, nearly 200 strong, swarmed through the building, smashing typewriters and furniture, damaging safes, breaking doors and windows, and tearing up installment sale contracts and other valuable documents.

The rioters had their own way in the building for nearly twenty minutes before the police arrived.

Mob Armed with Clubs.

Richard McCleary, representative of the New York headquarters of the company, said the loss was "likely to reach several hundred thousand yen." The yen is worth about 20 American cents.

W. L. Malone, a member of the Singer staff, said most of the rioters were armed with cordwood clubs. A motor car dumped a load of these clubs in front of the building at the beginning of the attack, Mr. Malone said.

The riot climaxed a series of labor troubles which began last summer when a group of employés struck against a ten per cent pay reduction.

Promises to Investigate.

Foreign Minister Viscount Yasyua Uchida promised Ambassador Grew that the requested investigation would be made and that American lives and property would be protected. Mr. Grew recalled that the embassy previously had directed the attention of the Japanese authorities to the Singer labor troubles and had asked that precautions be taken against violence.

A total of 138 Japanese were held by the Yokohama police in connection with today's raid, which was made at the noon hour when the American staff was at lunch. No Americans were hurt. Loyal members of the native staff sought refuge on the roof. A few were injured.

Appeal to Stimson.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Secretary of State Stimson received a message today from the Singer Sewing Machine company in New York asking that the United States request police protection for its Yokohama property, which was partially destroyed by a mob. The company asked a full investigation. Ambassador Grew had advised the state department he already had taken these steps before the request from the American corporation arrived.

The raid upon the Yokohama branch of the Singer company is the third demonstration against American interests in Japan within the last year.

Last May 9 a bomb damaged the American consulate at Nagasaki. In September a press campaign was inaugurated against the Osaka branch of the National City bank of New York in which it was alleged that photographs taken by employés of the bank were to be used for espionage purposes. Officials of the bank said the photographs were taken for use in an advertising campaign.

Japs Bomb Chinese in Jehol.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TIENTSIN, Jan. 18.—Three Japanese planes bombed Chinese positions on the Jehol border today. A Japanese report said the new Manchurian state of Manchukuo will shortly move several thousand troops against the Chinese forces in Jehol. These troops will be under personal command of Gen. Chang Ching-hui, war minister of Manchukuo.

The arrival here of two high Japanese commanders, Gen. Uyematsu, director of the general affairs department of the general staff of Tokio, and Col. Doihara, also of the general staff, has created rumors of an early crisis here. Col. Doihara is alleged to have been responsible for the distrubances here a year and a half ago which resulted in the Manchu boy emperor, Henry Pu-yi, fleeing from the Japanese concession here to Manchuria.

Chinese forces are constructing a trench system 15 miles long in the Shanhaikwan sector, reaching from the mountains to the sea. The Japanese are constructing a trench system, with barbed wire entanglements, outside Chiumenkow pass in the Great Wall north of Shankaikwan.

27 Hurt as Train Is Wrecked.

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Twenty-seven Japanese and Chinese were injured today when a train was derailed between Mukden and Dairen. The tracks were previously dynamited, supposedly by Chinese forces opposing the Manchukuo government.

League Falters Again.

GENEVA, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Although finding the Japanese counter-proposals inacceptable, the special committee of the league of nations considering the Sino-Japanese situation has decided to give conciliation one more chance and has asked the Japanese if they would waive other objections to the assembly's plan of procedure if the assembly agreed not to invite nonmember states to participate in the negotiations for settlement.

A majority of the committee felt it might be possible to yield to the opposition of Japan to inviting the United States and Russia if the Japanese conceded other points which they are protesting. These points, which the committee decided to maintain, are facts and findings of the Lytton report, including declarations that Japanese military action in Manchuria is not legitimate self-defense and that Manchukuo lacked the support of the population but was established by the Japanese.

The committee refrained from promising the Japanese it would make the suggested compromise because it was necessary to get Chinese agreement also. The Japanese reply, it was hoped, will be ready Friday.

Hold Up Nine in Home of District Attorney's Aid

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 18.—(AP)—In a near duplicate of the Jan. 4 dinner party holdup at the home of District Attorney Buron Fitts, two armed men tonight invaded the residence of Gwynn S. Redwine, assistant United States attorney, and robbed him and several dinner guests of cash and jewelry. The robbers threatened the lives of nine persons in the house, including Redwine, his father, and Mrs. Kent H. Redwine, wife of Assemblyman Redwine, who now is in Sacramento. Police were told five persons were stripped of jewels and cash totaling $600.

Relief Shelter Resident Admits Robbing 10 Cafes

George Foster, 36 years old, who has been living in the relief shelter at 54 West Austin avenue, was arrested this morning shortly after he had stolen $19 in a robbery of the St. Regis restaurant, 512 North Clark street. He threatened Miss Mollie Pitcher, 1212 North La Salle street, the cashier, with a toy pistol. Foster was seized by Policemen Leslie Finlayson and William Schroll. Police said Foster admitted robbing nine cafes in the district in the last three weeks.

FRENCH VETS SEEK TO ESCORT FLAG BACK TO VON HINDENBURG

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Jan. 18.—A group of French war veterans today asked the government's permission to send a delegation to Berlin to restore to President Paul von Hindenburg the banner of a battalion in the regiment he once commanded.

Henry Rossignol, secretary of the Confederation of French Former Combatants, called upon Pierre Cot, under secretary for foreign affairs, asking, in behalf of the French veterans, that favorable action be taken on the suggestion that war trophies be returned.

He asked especially that the French veterans should have the honor of carrying back the flag of the Potsdam regiment, which was found during a battle by a French officer and is now in the war museum in Les Invalides.

DRIVER PERILS CHILDREN; FINED.

Olar Benjamin, 41 years old, 317 Englewood avenue, accused of endangering children in the vicinity of 44th and Wood streets by zigzagging his car, was fined $5 and costs yesterday by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the Stockyards court.

POPE REVEALS RELIGIOUS VOW OF BULGAR KING

Signed Promise to Raise Children as Catholics.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Jan. 18.—Evidencing the Vatican's resentment because Princess Marie Louise, baby daughter of King Boris III. and Queen Joanna of Bulgaria, was christened in the Greek orthodox faith, despite the protest of the papal delegate at Sofia, three days ago, Osservatore Romano, the Vatican organ, tonight published the text of documents exchanged in October, 1930, between the then Princess Giovanna of Savoy, who was about to marry King Boris of Bulgaria, and the pope.

The first document, dated Oct. 12, is the text of Princess Giovanna's request to the pontiff for dispensation to contract a marriage "mixtae religionis."

Make Religious Pledges.

Part of the same letter, which was published fully, contains a promise, signed by both Princess Giovanna and King Boris, not to have any other religious marriage ceremony performed than the Roman Catholic, which was performed in fact at Assisi on Oct. 25 of the same year. The letter also contains the promise that "children of both sexes shall be baptized and educated in the Catholic faith."

On Oct. 19 the papal secretary of state notified Princess Giovanna that the pope had granted her request, in view of the fact that all requirements of the canon law were observed by the signed promise made by herself and King Boris.

Calls King "No Gentleman."
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Jan. 18.—"King Boris is acting as a sovereign, but not as a gentleman," Msgr. Roncalli, papal delegate, said today in reference to the orthodox baptism Sunday of the infant Princess Marie Louise.

"The pope has a document which Boris and Giovanna signed on the occasion of the Catholic marriage ceremony on Oct. 25, 1930, at Assisi, in which they gave their solemn promise that offspring would be raised in the Catholic faith. Having fulfilled my duty in protesting in the name of the pope to King Boris and the government, the matter rests with the pope as to what will happen now.

"I have no ill feeling against Bulgaria. Orthodox baptism is a religious question. There will be no sanctions or excommunication of Giovanna, who is quite innocent in the whole affair. King Boris ruled and she obeyed. The king will explain to the Vatican on his next visit to Rome."

VON HINDENBURG DECREES BAN ON FARM AUCTIONS

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The cloak of immunity from forced auction was thrown over the farmers—mostly big landowners—of eastern Germany in an emergency decree today forbidding forced sales until Oct. 31.

The decree relieved landowners in Prussia east of the Elbe river, except Schleswig-Holstein, as well as in Saxony, Anhalt, and Mecklenburg.

In the decree President von Hindenburg reversed Chancellor Kurt von Schleicher, who heretofore has stood pat against the idea, desiring to take portions of land from these huge estates which have proved incapable of being operated successfully, and to subdivide them into settlements for the idle.

The decree covers immobile as well as mobile property which might be auctioned to satisfy debts, including grape wines which vintners may have made.

All Chilean Battleships Laid Up in Economy Drive

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 18.—Chile has laid up all its battleships until more prosperous days. This is the result of drastic economy measures, particularly in the army and navy, taken by the government to improve the budget situation. The appropriations for the naval academy and other naval institutions have been sharply reduced.

ILLINOIS HAS PLAN FOR MEETING FARM MORTGAGE PROBLEM

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Although the existing farm mortgage debt is three times the farm tax load in Illinois, less than one-fourth of the farms of the state are in serious danger of changing hands. Compromise agreements between debtors and creditors are being made, to protect the interests of both and to keep the farmer on his farm.

This condition was found to exist in a round table conference of economists, land owners, tenants, and financing officials at the annual University of Illinois farm and home week here today.

H. M. Case of the university outlined a plan being used in many localities in Illinois where creditor and debtor are attempting to get together. The creditor sets the principal of the mortgage ahead five years, allowing the debtor to remain on a tenancy basis of share rent.

This is done because a scaling down of the debt, either in principal or interest, at this time, does not allow for the possible increases in farm prices in the next five years.

BLAME MISTAKEN IDENTITY IN GIRL KIDNAPING CASE

Investigation of the kidnaping Monday of Josephine Dosch, 19 years old, 3215 West Van Buren street, a senior at the John Marshall High school, led police to believe last night that the girl was a victim of mistaken identity. She was left bound and gagged in a prairie after she had been driven about the city for three hours by two men who, police said, probably had released her as soon as they discovered their mistake.

Miss Dosch was seized by the men and forced into their car at 5th and Kedzie avenues, where she was waiting for a street car. The men, both of whom she described as young and well dressed, first took her purse and, finding it contained only school papers, which they threw out of the car, returned it. They left her in the prairie a block west of Western avenue at 78th street after tying her feet and hands with rope and gagging her with adhesive tape and a silk stocking.

12 PLANES START HUNT FOR LOST AVIATRIX TODAY

LONDON, Jan. 18.—(AP)—A dozen planes, mostly French military machines, will start Thursday from various French African points to search for Lady Mary Bailey, of whom nothing has been heard since she left Oran, Algeria, Sunday on the second leg of a flight to South Africa. Widespread inquiries having failed to yield news of the famous aviatrix, authorities in Algiers conferred today and arranged for a systematic air hunt.

COLLEGE TAKES FOOD AS TUITION; FEEDS TEACHERS

Carthage, Ill., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—A team of horses and a coal wagon are earning the tuition for one co-ed at Carthage college. The father of the girl has agreed to haul coal for the financially embarrassed college in return for the education of his daughter.

This and other heroic measures, adopted in an effort to keep the 60 year old Lutheran college in operation, were revealed yesterday at a meeting of the board of directors.

Dr. Jacob Diehl, president, ascertained at a meeting that the faculty of 15 members, unpaid for several monds, was loyal and willing to go payless in the interests of the college. Business Manager William C. Krauss was called in and told to put the college on a basis of barter and exchange.

A central commissary was established and the farm produce accepted as tuition was distributed over several months. Food and fuel, furnished by the parents of the 300 students arrive on appointed days and are parceled out to faculty members in lieu of salaries.

Identify Young Robber Killed in Confectionery

Finger print records yesterday established the identity of the burglar shot and killed early in the day by Peter Silas, night watchman, at the Midway confectionery, 5858 Stony Island avenue, as Eugene Quinn, 23 years old, 6541 Evans avenue. Quinn had served a sentenced in Pontiac reformatory for robbery.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Mrs. James M. Beck Jr., sister of Lord Glenconner and a leader of London society, has discovered that because of her marriage in 1928 to the son of the congressman from Pennsylvania and former solicitor general of the United States she is deemed an alien under English law, while the United States does not recognize her as an American. Mrs. Beck has petitioned for restoration of her British citizenship.

FILIPINOS WILL REJECT U. S. BILL, QUEZON ASSERTS

Would Wreck the Islands' Economic Structure.

MANILA, Jan. 18.—(AP)—A prediction was made today by Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine senate, that if the proffered independence bill were submitted now it would be overwhelmingly rejected by the territorial legislature.

"To judge from resolutions adopted by both chambers," said a statement issued by Quezon, "the bill if submitted now to the legislature would be rejected by a two-thirds vote at least in the senate and three-fourths in the house."

Acceptance by the Philippine legislature is one of the requirements of the bill passed by congress over President Hoover's veto. Quezon has been one of the leading advocates of immediate independence for the islands and an outspoken critic of the present independence measure.

Does Not Satisfy Natives.

The senate president said the bill did not satisfy Filipino aspirations and would not justify postponing independence until after 12 years. He asserted the economic clauses of the bill limiting imports into the United States "will destroy, even long before the expiration of the transition period, our whole economic structure" rather than result in actual preparation for the islands' freedom.

Meanwhile, Filipino legislators informally discussed whether to accept or reject the measure, and university students held a mass celebration of its passage.

In the only legislative speech today, Pedro Vera, who is opposed to Quezon's independence tenets, praised the enactment. A petition intending to bind members in opposition to the bill was circulated in the house, but what progress it made was not revealed.

Generally Cautious.

A legislative canvass showed a general attitude of caution toward the measure and, while a large proportion of the legislators have sided with Quezon in opposing the bill, many urged against final decision until Quezon confers with the Philippine independence mission in Washington. He is scheduled to sail for the United States via Europe March 11.

The American owned Bulletin, daily newspaper, said editorially the act climaxed years of agitation which resulted in a "stampede," adding most of the "votes were for scuttling," but the action "clears the atmosphere for starting a saner course."

A suggestion Filipinos pass the act without haste and congratulations to the independence mission were given by the Filipino owned Tribune and La Vanguardia.

Move Alarms Dutch.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Jan. 18.—The United States' decision to grant independence to the Philippines is viewed with some alarm and misgivings in Holland. The final decision of the senate and house despite the Hoover veto is studied with great interest, as the Dutch Indian archipelago is a neighboring group to the Philippines and Holland already is envisaging seizure of the Philippines by Japan.

The Vaderland, prominent Dutch daily, points out that the majority of Americans, not interested in colonial possessions, fail to realize the value of the Philippines. It comments that, with the present increasing tension in the Pacific, the value of the Philippines to the United States is obvious, adding that in no other great country would such a decision be possible.

GUEST PLUNGES TO DEATH FROM ROOM IN HOTEL

A man who had registered as E. G. Jackson of Detroit, Mich., plunged to his death last night from his room on the sixteenth floor of the Hotel Sherman. The body, dressed only in underwear, was found by Dr. Lee H. Kiel, house physician, on the roof of the lobby.

A maid who had tried to get into the room several times during the day had been told each time by Jackson that he did not want to be disturbed. She reported to Dr. Kiel, who went to the room shortly after 7 o'clock and entered with a pass key. Finding the room empty and the window open, Dr. Kiel went to the lobby roof and found the body.

The man was about 30 years old. The initials E. G. J. on clothing found in his room convinced police that he had registered under his right name. Police asked Detroit authorities to establish the identity of the victim. He registered at the hotel on Monday.

Railroad Clerk Who Saved Boy Gets Medal Tonight

The president's medal of the national safety council is to be presented this evening to William A. Mear, file clerk in the office of Chief Engineer Peterson of the Rock Island railroad, at a dinner in the La Salle street station restaurant. The award was made for heroism displayed by Mear in August, 1931, when he rescued a boy from drowning in a clay pit at Burr Oak and Kedzie avenues, Blue Island.

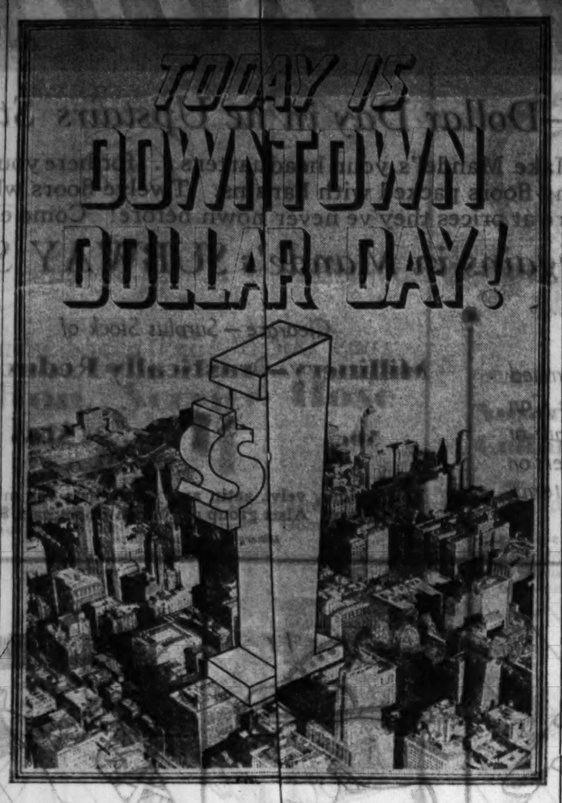
Chicago Ready for Dollar Day



Today is dollar day in the loop and the merchants are offering unusual bargains. Here is air view of downtown district with large dollar sign to remind housewives of the event today.

DOLLAR DAY IN LOOP BECKONS SHOPPERS TODAY

Merchants Say Prices Will Be Higher Soon.

Today is downtown dollar day. From Wacker drive to Congress street and from Michigan avenue to Market street, merchants will be offering unusual bargains to shoppers.

Shoppers will find the loop in carnival array. Decorators worked late into the night creating attractive window displays. Banners will be flung across streets and from store front to store front, while flags and the official poster of the sale will brighten lamp posts.

Demonstrate Dollar's Power.

The demonstration of the buying power of the dollar, which has the c[illegible]peration of every merchant in the loop area, is expected to attract shoppers throughout Chicagoland. Railroads will run special trains for the convenience of out of town shoppers.

The anticipated throngs will find bargains in every store in the loop. Merchants who sell items of larger units than can be sold for a dollar will offer special attractions. Additional salespeople have been employed to assure prompt and efficient service to the crowds.

Plans for downtown dollar day have been under way three months. Manufacturers throughout the country are cooperating in the event and have aided in making possible the bargains to be offered.

See Upward Price Trend.

Sponsors of the event are motivated by the belief that the upward trend in business is on the way. They had noticed a tendency in the last three months towards an increase in commodity prices. This increase will be augmented, they declare, in the further demand through sales on dollar day and will speed recovery. Therefore the merchants are confident the values to be offered today will not be repeated.

The event is not a direct profit making enterprise for merchants, but rather an effort to speed recovery, through which every one will be benefited.

Shoppers are advised to come to the loop early to reap the best of the bargains. Among the items to be offered are many broken lines which will soon be exhausted. Those who cannot shop early, however, are assured that they will find thousands of bargains for every need.

GREIN SUES 2 FOOD MARKETS.

Jerry's Market, 222 East 47th street, and the Michigan Garden Meat market, 72 East 47th street, were named in short weight suits filed yesterday by City Sealer Joe Grein.

PHILADELPHIA SOCIETY LEADER SLAIN, IS THE BELIEF OF HIS FAMILY

Palmyra, N. J., Jan. 18.—(AP)—While police indicated their investigation of the death of Bradway Brown, social registerite, tended to show he took his own life, a spokesman for the family countered with th statement tonight his survivors were convinced he had been slain in a fight with thieves.

Ellis Parker, Burlington county detective, said no evidence had been discovered to support the family's theory.

Treasurer of a Philadelphia printing firm and a graduate of Swarthmore college, the 28 year old business executivwas found shot dead in the living room of his home Monday night.

The latest clew to strengthen the suicide belief was a physician's statement, police said, that Brown was suffering from a kidney ailment that must have caused his early death.

Expressing the belief that Brown had been killed by thieves, the spokesman for the family said, "His wife and baby had gone to the home of Mrs. Brown's parents in western Pennsylvania where they were ill. "Bud" was due to come to his mother's home the night of the tragedy, but he did not come because, he said, there had been many robberies in the neighborhood, and he wanted to stay in the house and prevent possible robberies there."

Injured Wild Duck Flies Into State Street Building

Jul Urkov, stenographer for the Allied Products company in room 1410 of the Republic building at 209 South State street, was busy typing at her desk yesterday afternoon. Suddenly a brown object came whirring through the open window at her side and landed in her lap. It was a wild mallard duck. One of its wings was injured. The employes decided to nurse the duk in the office until its wing is well and then turn it loose.

DIRECTORS CLOSE WHEATON BANK; ACCUSE CASHIER

Investigation by U. S. Is Sought.

The board of directors of the First National bank of Wheaton yesterday voted to close the institution, and the resolution adopted placed part of the responsibility upon alleged irregularities of the cashier.

The controller of the currency was requested to take charge of the bank, and A. P. Leyburn, chief national bank examiner at Chicago, immediately dispatched a man to do this. Mr. Leyburn also requested the United States bureau of investigation to conduct an inquiry. The resolution of the directors said:

"In view of the irregularities of the cashier, the general condition of the bank, and the depleted reserve, it is ordered that the bank be closed and that the controller of the currency be requested to take charge."

Monte Taylor of Wheaton has been cashier of the bank since he acquired a controlling interest seven years ago. He has been connected with the bank, except for a short interval, since its founding in 1907. Charles W. Hadley, Wheaton attorney and president of the bank, and Mr. Leyburn declined to disclose the nature of the alleged irregularities pending the federal investigation.

It was understood that the directors voted to close the bank because of their realization that an investigation would cause a run. Mr. Hadley said the institution might be reopened after its affairs were straightened out, and that in any event substantial payments could be made to depositors.

The bank's capitalization is $50,000, the surplus is $12,500, and the deposits $450,000, of which $200,000 are savings and $250,000 are commercial.

The closing of the First National was Wheaton's first bank closing.

Rob Two in Loop Office, Flee Down Fire Escape

Two robbers made a daring escape from the building at 7 West Madison street during the rush hour last evening after holding up Samuel Lane, wholesale diamond broker, and George Carroll, 2347 Monroe street, clerk, in Lane's offices in room 811. The robbers took $310 from Lane and $5 and a ring from Carroll, but overlooked a $2,500 ring in Lane's vest pocket. The gunmen then ran to the fifth floor and through the office of Dr. John V. Hackett, a dentist, terrifying Miss Ruth Miller, a nurse. They then climbed through a window and fled down the fire escape.

KEDZIE AVENUE PARK EXTENSION IS GIVEN BOOST

Plans for extension of Kedzie avenue through Marquette park received impetus yesterday when the south park board approved a communication from Col. A. A. Sprague, former commissioner of public works stating that requests of the board in connection with the improvement would be followed.

Edward J. Kelly, president, said the park commissioners wanted assurance that the roadway would have adequate drainage and that two pedestrian subways would be built to accommodate golfers. The extension will cut through the park golf course and will necessitate a rearrangement of the greens.

The county will pay for the paving of two 20 foot strips through the park from 67th to 71st street, with funds from the gasoline tax. The project will cost more than $80,000. The south park board will relinquish jurisdiction to the city on a strip 100 feet wide through the park. Highway officials have hopes of starting work on the project this spring.

"Baby Buggy Bandits" Seized in Act of Burglary

Two youths, known to police as the "baby buggy bandits" because they carted their burglary loot away in a baby carriage, were arrested early yesterday by Policemen Harry Clark and Walter Farrow of the Stockyards station when they tried to break into a store at 5415 South Halsted street. The boys gave their names as Thomas O'Day, 17 years old, 4515 Emerald avenue, and George Dooley, 18 years old, 6037 South Union avenue. A third youth, Charles Krueger, 17 years old, 516 West 45th street, was arrested at his home as a member of the band.

Fruits of Service

One of the fundamental principles of our business both in America and Europe is to cater to men whose position in life demands the best in dress and appropriate service. From the inception of our establishment we have firmly adhered to this policy. As a result we have gained a very large patronage of those who appreciate the advantages of a House like ours and who, in turn, have become steadfast friends of our business.

We have carefully directed our course to avoid the hazardous channels which lead to misrepresentation and are ever mindful of our responsibilities in maintaining our high reputation as the foremost Shirtmakers and Haberdashers of the world. The Fruits of our Service are convincingly evidenced by the large and discriminating patronage that we continually enjoy in our four Shops — New York, Chicago, London and Paris.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

A MOUTHFUL OF POTATOES.

For a genuine understanding of the domestic allotment plan of farm relief a reading of the opinion expressed by the potato shippers is recommended. Potatoes are not in the allotment scheme and therefore the potato growers are delighted. They know that in consequence of the enactment of the bill, if it is enacted, many people in the United States accustomed to eating roast pork and potatoes will eat potatoes and potatoes.

If the plan fails, said Mr. H. B. Tabb, executive secretary of the National Potato Institute, "I do not see how the potato raisers will be particularly injured." Mr. Tabb has uttered a mouthful, so to say. The plight of the pork raisers who will be unable to sell their hogs if the plan is adopted is hardly his concern.

If the average American, accustomed to a diet rich in meat, is forced off the meat standard by act of congress and obliged to adopt the European peasant's dietary of roots, the farmers of the corn belt may suffer, but the potato growers can observe that it is an ill wind, etc.

Further light on the subject was cast in an interview with Senator Dickinson of Iowa. Mr. Dickinson does not think that the domestic allotment plan should be confined to wheat and cotton, as some of his Democratic colleagues in touch with the President elect have proposed. As Mr. Dickinson put it:

"The five major products of Iowa are corn, hogs, cattle, dairy products and poultry products. Now to have our people pay more for bread as consumers and yet have nothing in the bill that would help any of the products that we are producing is simply an injustice to the state."

This is an admirable beginning toward an honest appraisal of the domestic allotment plan. No doubt Mr. Dickinson will not stop there. He will follow his thought through and discover that the adoption of the proposals he has made on behalf of his Iowa constituents will only aggravate the injustice done to all Americans who do not happen to produce whatever crops are listed in the bill. If it is unjust to Iowa to tax the bread Iowa farmers eat, it is also unjust to a Chicago school teacher to tax both her bread and her bacon.

That is to meet Senator Dickinson on his own ground. It is to assume, as he does, that Iowa farmers would benefit from the enactment of a tax on the foodstuffs they produce. The assumption is a false one. The real beneficiaries of the tax on bread and bacon will be the potato growers and others engaged in raising foodstuffs which will be tax free.

A SOUND RULING ON FORECLOSURES.

The ruling of Judge S. R. Baker governing deficiency decrees in mortgage foreclosures in Livingston county, Illinois, might well be followed in other jurisdictions. Courts cannot refuse to enter foreclosure decrees, Judge Baker held, and he would do his full duty in entering them. His rule was aimed only at "preventing the practice of mortgagees buying the property at foreclosure sales at prices much less than the amount of the mortgages and securing deficiency decrees which have the effect of judgments against the mortgagors."

"Courts of equity," the judge continued, "can compel persons seeking equitable relief to do equity, and this court will attempt to accomplish that end in farm mortgage foreclosure causes during the present economic depression by granting deficiency decrees only against the rents of the mortgaged premises accruing to the end of the statutory period of redemption. . . .

"This plan will not prevent the loss of the land which has been mortgaged for the debt, but it will prevent the loss of other property which the farm owner may be fortunate enough to possess or to acquire hereafter, at least as far as the foreclosure proceeding is concerned."

Judge Baker seems to have avoided the pitfall into which many stumble when they attempt to prevent the human suffering often caused by foreclosure. If the courts of a state fail to protect the rights of the lender under the mortgage, the mortgage as a means of obtaining money to buy and improve land must fall into disuse, or, alternatively, the interest charged for money lent on mortgages in that state must become prohibitively high. Only the certainty that failure to meet the terms of the mortgage can result in transfer of the property makes a mortgage a desirable form of investment. It is distinctly in the interest of borrowers as well as lenders, then, that mortgage foreclosures be as simple and speedy. To the extent that foreclosure in Illinois is [illegible] to be afforded, and costly, the borrower as well as the lender is victimized.

Judge Baker seems to have recognized this relationship. The ruling he has laid down is based on the assumption, and it is a fair one, that the property mortgaged should be the only security for the loan. When a loan is made it is the value of the mortgaged property and not the other resources, if any, of the borrower which is counted upon to secure the loan. The borrower is not obtaining money on his general credit but upon the security of the property he has pledged. That is why mortgages are commonly made on only 50 or 60 per cent of the full value of the property at the time the loan is made; the remaining 40 or 50 per cent is the lender's margin of safety.

Obviously the lender bears full responsibility for fixing the valuation. If he has so far misjudged present and future values as not to have protected himself adequately in his margin of safety, that is his fault and it is not fair to the borrower to make him shoulder not only the loss of his equity but also the loss which the lender should have foreseen.

To permit excessive deficiency decrees at a time like this when the lenders are commonly the only bidders at foreclosure sales is particularly unjust to the borrower and it is even doubtful if in the long run it is much to the advantage of the lender. A deficiency decree against a farmer whose property has been foreclosed is likely to be a decree against a man who is all but bankrupt. It can result only in harassing him and depriving him of the stock and tools he requires if he is ever to get back on his feet. The few dollars which may be collected under these decrees seem hardly sufficient to justify the expense and trouble which the collection will cost.

CRIMINAL DEFECTIVES.

Gov. Horner is reported to have in mind the appointment of a psychiatrist as a member of the parole board. The idea is a good one. If the appointment is as good as the idea, it will produce good results. Otherwise it will be disappointing or worse.

Psychopathic personalities produce a considerable proportion of individual crimes, but this fact has been used or abused by well meaning humanitarianism to weaken or defeat the protection of society from violence. That an offender is psychopathic is no excuse for dealing with him so leniently and ineffectually that he remains a menace to the community. But this is happening repeatedly.

There is something radically wrong in our handling of dangerous and potentially dangerous defectives. They are always escaping from restraint to perpetrate repeated outrages. Either they break out of confinement and are not run down and shut up again, or they are turned loose by official order. In some cases corrupt influence is responsible. In other cases science has erred inexcusably. In any case the community suffers. In few cases is responsibility established, guilt or incompetence penalized. The result is the continuance of a condition which is disgraceful and intolerable.

So far as influence is concerned, it is an aspect of corrupt politics and government. So, in fact, is a part of the incompetence revealed by officials. The rest is a result of the insistence of sentimentalists upon what they call salvage, and of the failure of the specialists in charge of defectives to resolve doubts in favor of the safety of the public rather than in favor of the delinquent. The emphasis in the latter case is placed on the wrong duty.

Youth is a special object of false leniency, although youth commits the worst crimes. We think recent atrocities by young delinquents demonstrate the urgent need for a strict overhauling of our Juvenile court. That institution is apparently under the influence of humanitarian sentiment and theories of personal responsibility which obscure the right of the community to efficient protection. Courts handling juvenile delinquency are as strictly bound in duty to protect the public as any other court. They seem to gamble too freely with our safety, forgetting the fate of innocent victims in their speculations on the possibilities of reform, or in their theorizing in the metaphysics of responsibility for which they have no sanction in our laws. The community should not be subjected to the violence of alleged defectives while our magistrates debate the conundrums of free will, environment, and responsibility and while our institutions experiment with the possibilities of reform.

Apart from the question of corrupt influence, we have need for a survey of our institutions and our procedure dealing with the criminal delinquent and for the firm establishment of a policy which emphasizes the protection of the community, not theories of moral responsibility or possibilities of cure. We want a procedure which resolves doubts in the interest of the community's safety, not one which is always gambling with it.

Editorial of the Day

THE MOST PROGRESSIVE STATES.

[Chattanooga Times.]

The Farmer-Labor governor of Minnesota, Floyd B. Olson, is going in for what is called "social legislation." His program includes old age pensions, shorter work days, unemployment insurance and a state income tax. According to one report, adoption of his legislative program "would make Minnesota the most progressive state in the Union."

If this is the case, his program merits examination for the purpose of getting a better idea as to what governmental progressiveness, a somewhat hazy term, means. It will be noticed that in this very progressive program there is nothing than can be considered as even remotely tending to encourage and help business and industry or to make easier the accumulation of property by individuals.

On the contrary, every proposal in the program, except that for shorter work days, calls for an increase in the burden of taxation. And the shorter work day may prove to be a handicap to business and industry, even if wages are reduced in proportion to the number of hours cut off the day. Also, old age pensions, unemployment insurance, and a state income tax will mean more job holders for those who are not in the state's service or receiving pensions or insurance from it to support.

So these are some of the marks of progressiveness: Less work, more public job holders, heavier tax burdens. And what of agriculture, business and industry, which must produce the wherewithal to support progressive government? Of at least two of these, business and agriculture, progressives seem rarely to think, except to hamper them with restrictive laws and lay upon them heavier taxes. And how does it work?

Pick out the states which are suffering most from the depression, which are crying loudest for help, in which there are disorders and in which the processes of the courts relative to mortgages are interfered with or suspended. Among them are states in which progressives have made great headway. The hardest hit section of the country, perhaps, is the northwest, which has been wont to boast of its progressive legislation, despite the crushing taxes it enfolded. Apparently some parts of the progressive program, at least, are like some other things—that is, they cannot al-

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. —B. A.

A NEW YORK FOOD EXPERT says if you eat ten oranges a day you can live to be a hundred. What, and pay taxes all that time and watch 'em getting higher every minute! Pooh, who wants to be a hundred?

—:—

AND TELL US, food expert, who's going to pay for those ten oranges a day? And the minute any great number of us commence eating ten oranges a day the government will jump on 'em with a whoop and impose an orange tax. So what's the use?

—:—

AND THERE ARE PEOPLE out in California or down in Florida who must eat ten oranges a day and many more, and they don't seem to live any longer than people in the arctic circle who live on whale blubber and never see an orange. Ten oranges a day or twenty, there's one bird you can't beat, old G. Death. And that's that.

—:—

THE BOYS OF THE BAR NONE RANCH.

There are Charley and Len and Joe—
Punchers who ride with the best,
Wearing their six-shooters low,
With a chocnaed and gay-braided vest.

There's Juan of the Rodrigues clan,
A reckless and gay caballero,
A typical, handsome two-gun man—
A loving and fighting vaquero.

There's an old ex-sheriff called Ben,
Mustachioed, fierce-eyed, and gaunt,
A trailer and killer of men
Whom no desperado could daunt.

There are two former outlaws whose deeds
In the nineties were signals that soon
Some woman would wear widow's weeds—
They received their pardons last June.

But of all this riding, two-gun cast,
With their holsters tied back and grim,
There is none so deadly or fast
On the draw as "Pretty Boy Jim."

Alas! How the mighty have fallen!

"SENATOR GLASS opposed the seating of my delegates at Houston and in Chicago," roared Hooey Long in the senate. "I told him in Chicago I would meet him at Philippi, and I have met him and he is vanquished." We can't believe that Hooey told Mr. Glass in Chicago he would meet him at Philippi. We doubt that the Kingfish said that. What he probably said to Sen. Glass was, "I'll see you in Philadelphia." Or if he said Philippi he must have meant Philippi, West Virginia. Oh, no, we cannot believe that Hooey meant the ancient city where, according to the late Mr. Plutarch, Brutus answered the specter who warned him he would see him at Philippi with, "I will meet thee there." But we don't think the Kingfish meant that town. Hooey must have been speaking of Philadelphia, Pa., or Philippi, W. Va.

THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION informed the senate yesterday there were 150,000 federal jobs not under civil service. And we rise to inform Mr. F. D. Roosevelt of Albany, N. Y., that there are 50 million enthusiastic Democrats out after those 150,000 jobs right now. And their slogan is, "When do we eat?"

We Wouldn't Know About That, but Probably.

R. H. L.: Well, I looked in the bear trap today. You know, I wrote you I was setting a bear trap to catch the boy who delivered my TRIBUNE, so I could give him that coupon:

GIVE THIS COUPON TO BOY WHO DELIVERS YOUR TRIBUNE

Along with the Tribune tomorrow morning please deliver .....copies of the 1932 Linebook at 10c a copy, and charge to my account.

ADDRESS .....

But while I got my TRIBUNE as usual, all neat and smooth and laid down carefully outside my door, and I kept faithful watch through the keyhole, not a sound or sign of any boy. So I looked into my bear trap. What do you suppose I caught? Well, sir, in that trap were three bootleggers, four magazine solicitors, two needle and thread peddlers, four bond salesmen, two can opener operatives, and three gentlemen who asked me a dime each for a cup of Javy an' Mokey. Gosh, when you set a bear trap in this town you don't know what you're going to bag. But tell me, so silently, so swiftly, so unerringly is my TRIBUNE dropped down at my door—honest, now, between friends—do you have angels bring 'em around?

HOUSE COMFORT IN WINTER.

THE qualities or air that have to do with comfort are temperature, water content, and rapidity of movement. It is possible that some day we may think that ionization should be added to this list, but in the present state of the science we must limit the field to the three properties mentioned.

Among other qualities that are of importance, but do not rank with the above from the standpoint of comfort, are: Distribution of heat and fresh air throughout the room, drafts, number of dust particles in the air, number of bacteria, odors, proportion of carbonic acid, presence of offensive or deleterious gases and fumes, and amount and quality of light.

In modern heating in winter the air is comfortable or not, dependent on how hot, how wet, and how still it is, provided the heat is reasonably near the same five feet from the floor, where the head is, and five inches from the floor, where the feet are.

The very center of the comfort zone is where the dry bulb thermometer, the kind in common use, registers 70, the wet bulb thermometer registers 60 and the air is moving at the rate of twenty feet per minute. In this combination of thermometer records, the relative humidity is about 58 degrees. In such a combination a man working quietly at his desk will be able to get rid of his heat about as fast as he makes it.

These standards have been fairly generally accepted as representing comfort for average people engaged in sedentary work and clothed about as such people customarily dress. They do not apply to men who are working with machines, nor to those doing any kind of manual labor.

It is also to be remembered that individuals vary. A comfort zone is one in which a considerable part of those exposed report that they regard the air as comfortable. In every group there are some who regard the accepted zone as being too hot, and others complain of it as being too cold. Some have very poor capacity for adaptation to variations in temperature, while others are of the other kind.

Dr. Lloyd Arnold, who has been studying the effect of air environment on health at the research hospital of the University of Illinois, in the Aerologist says: "One finds the stocky, equable fellow in such an industrial district as Harvey, and one turns to La Salle street, the financial district, for the less adaptable type of individual. Typical of the man who adapts with difficulty is the executive who bursts out of his office in haste to go to luncheon.

"These two groups vary in their susceptibility to colds, pneumonias, and other infections of the breathing apparatus. The effects of the temperature and moisture in air, and of air movement, register on the breathing apparatus and the resistance to disease as well as on the brain centers which register comfort. They also register on the digestive organs. The effects are by no means limited to the skin, the nerves of sensation, and the brain. They influence all the organs in the chest and abdomen as well."

FLEAS.

Mrs. R. L. R. writes: Please restate your remedy for getting rid of fleas, especially where they have collected in a basement.

REPLY.

Animals, such as dog, cats, rats, and hogs, cause fleas to infest premises. Have you any around? Do they need deflealing? Dust the hair well with flake naphthalene. Wash well. That plan, however, does not work with rats. Fleas breed in dust. Are there dusty floors, old rags, etc.? If so, rectify. Place a rug on the floor of the living room. Sprinkle a pound or thereabouts of flake naphthalene on the rug. Leave for twenty-four hours. Sweep up the naphthalene and reuse on rugs in other rooms.

A LITTLE OVERWEIGHT.

M. E. H. writes:

1. I am 14 years old, 5 feet 5 inches tall, and weigh 150 pounds. Am I overweight?

2. Does walking reduce the hips?

REPLY.

1. I think you are.

2. Not enough to notice the change. Rolling is better than walking for that.

COLOPTOSIA.

J. R. writes: I have been told I have colitis, constipation, and coloptosia. Will you please tell me what the last term means?

REPLY.

FIGHTING OFF A COLD.

D. E. H. writes: I understand that after a cold infection has set in it is essential to overcome the acid condition of the system. Will tomato juice tend to do this or should the juice of such fruits as oranges, lemons, and grapefruit be used?

REPLY.

Tomato juice is the equal of the fruit juices mentioned. All are good. Some take soda in addition for, say, one day.

FARM MORTGAGE.

Slinger, Wis., Jan. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a second mortgage on a farm bought and traded in by a cousin. The first mortgage is contracted in the name of the party who had the farm at first and his name was not transferred on the trades. His name is brought in the foreclosure papers and I understand [1] he can also be sued by the first mortgage holder. After working the farm awhile he traded it on a city property. 2. Can he do this without the mortgagee's consent? Now this man who traded in the farm traded again to another who occupied it until recently when he moved to some other place without paying interest on the mortgages and selling at public auction all personal property. 3. Could this person be held responsible for the mortgages? The first mortgage holder foreclosed some time ago and the farm will be sold next spring at sheriff's sale. 4. His children are all listed on the foreclosure papers to receive something if there is anything left of the farm. I can't see how he figures to get something without paying off the mortgages. H. G. R.

1. The maker of the mortgage notes remains personally liable on them if that is what you mean to ask.

2. Yes. The mortgage would remain a lien on the property.

3. We assume that by "this person" you mean the last holder of the title. The only remedy of the mortgage holder against such person is to take the property away from him. The person holding the title does not assume further liability unless there is express wording to that effect.

4. The antecedents of your pronouns are obscure.

RECORDING NO AID.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a $200 note signed by a man and his wife. They own a house and I would like to record this note on this house. 1. Could I do this recording myself without hiring a lawyer? 2. What department in the city hall handles such recording? 3. What will the charge amount to? 4. What will happen to my note after having been recorded in the event that the house in question is foreclosed? P. K.

1. Recording the note would be a meaningless operation. In order to secure a lien it would be necessary to institute court proceedings and for this purpose you should employ an attorney.

2 and 3. See one.

4. If the trust deed antedates your judgment and if you are made a party defendant then you will be barred unless you redeem.

ODOR NUISANCE.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—[Friend of the People.]—There is a small building about twenty feet from the apartment building in which I live. The owner keeps in the neighborhood of fifty rabbits and a number of guinea pigs. The odors coming from this place are unbearable. About two months ago a petition was circulated in this neighborhood and signed by a lot of people. I don't know to whom it was sent, but it must have been suppressed through "pull" or given to the wrong parties. The owner says no one can put him out of business, for he belongs to a rabbit organization and says he can get legal advice free. The owner of the building says he has not been able to get this party moved. What can be done about this? J. B.

You are advised that, due to a former complaint, the following notice was served on both the owner and occupant: "Abate odor nuisance caused by keeping rabbits and guinea pigs, or dispose of them." This matter will be followed up until compliance with the foregoing order has been obtained.

HERMAN N. BUNDESEN,
President Board of Health.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 19, 1917.

RIO DE JANEIRO.—The British steamer Yarrowdale, with the crews of eight ships sunk by a German raider in the Atlantic, arrived on Jan. 16 at Sao Vicenti, Cape Verde islands, according to reliable information. [It has been stated in unofficial dispatches that the Yarrowdale had on board 400 men of the crews of sunken ships.]

RIO DE JANEIRO.—It is considered almost certain that the German sea raider which has been creating havoc among entente shipping in the South Atlantic is the Moewe, the German armed raider which captured the Appam and sunk numerous entente ships in Atlantic waters a year ago. The American consul at Pernambuco cabled the embassy here confirming the landing of seventeen Americans from vessels which fell victim to the raider. He added that no American ships had been sunk by the German craft and that all the American sailors landed were men from the crews of foreign vessels. According to reports the Moewe is understood to have sailed from Kiel under the Danish flag, carrying a cargo of hay on the bridge to conceal its armament. When last seen the Moewe was painted black, with white markings. Its armament included four torpedo tubes in service and several tubes in reserve.

LONDON.—Savage fighting is in progress on both wings of the Rumanian battle zone. A Rome wireless dispatch quotes Petrograd as saying that the Germans are evacuating Braila. There is no confirmation of the statement in either the Russian or German official bulletins. It is apparent, however, that the offensive remains with the reorganized Russo-Rumanian armies. Berlin does not claim a foot of advance on any part of the front and admits that the Russians continue their fierce attacks in the Moldavian mountain valleys. The Germans claim to have repulsed these attacks, but Petrograd says the Rumanians surrounded the Germans on one height southwest of Pralea and captured a great number of prisoners. [illegible] that all of Dobrudja has been cleared of the Russians it now becomes evident that the Russians still hold the Delta triangle between the northern and southern branches of the Danube. The Bulgarians continue to shell the Russian positions at Galatz and on the road from Galatz toward Vadeni, which was recaptured yesterday by the Russians.

LONDON.—Further progress was made yesterday north of Beaucourt-sur-Ancre as a result of a successful local operation. In connection with the raid northeast of Cite Calonne British forces sprang a mine with good effect. The enemy's defenses east of Bois Grenier and east of Ploegsteert were bombarded.

CHICAGO.—John T. McCutcheon said farewell last night to the days of his bachelorhood. About 100 friends, including men who had followed with him the fortunes of the war correspondent, men who had hunted with him in Africa, editors of the newspapers for which he has drawn cartoons, capitalists and bankers, newspaper associates, chums of his Indiana boyhood, and even some of the characters through whom he made Bird Center famous, were present at the testimonial dinner at the Blackstone hotel to assist in the farewell. Tomorrow he will marry Miss Evelyn Shaw, and they will leave for Treasure Island, his possession in the Bahamas. There were three speakers, Ring Lardner, Dick Little, and Judge Landis.

CHICAGO.—Capiases for the arrest of Ald. Oscar De Priest, Negro administration leader from the Second ward; Capt. Stephen K. Healy, until recently in command of the Stanton avenue station; Detective Sergeants James Reilly and Hugh McNally of the Fifth police district, and numerous Negro gamblers and dive keepers indicted as members of the "graft syndicate" of the black belt will be issued this morning. The announcement was made after the January county grand jury had returned six indictments charging the alderman, police officers, and nearly twenty Negro gamblers with conspiracy to operate gambling houses and houses of prostitution and to tilt the saloon [illegible]

CHICAGO'S DEATH RATE.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—An article appearing in your column today on the 1932 death rates and signed by Dr. Richard Waalkes, an ex-employé of the board of health, questions our previous announcement that "the reorganization of the board of health personnel last spring aided in bringing about a lower death rate."

In making the statement which Dr. Waalkes quotes, I had a very specific item in mind—the decisive drop in cases and deaths from diphtheria which accompanied our recent diphtheria drive. This drive was greatly facilitated by the reorganization of the personnel, which enabled us to employ a much larger staff of nurses for canvassing the homes out of savings effected by curtailment of less essential inspection services.

The figures speak for themselves. Here they are:

DIPHTHERIA DEATHS IN CHICAGO.

	1931.	1932.	Saving.
Number of deaths.....	215	64	151
Rates per 100,000.....	6.3	1.9	4.3

Obviously, this tremendous saving of 4.3 per 100,000 population has materially lowered the general deaths in 1932.

Dr. Waalkes also makes another implication which should be challenged. He says that traffic accidents may be reduced in times of depression, due to a lessened volume of traffic in the streets, and that this is a "saner cause of the reduction in the mortality rate for the year 1932."

Unfortunately for Dr. Waalkes' contention, the figures of the coroner of Cook county do not bear him out. There has been no significant change in the number of traffic deaths in the last three years. The 1932 figure of 1,113 deaths stands at 13 in excess of the 1930 figure of 1,100.

Unquestionably there are other factors associated with periods of depression which influence the death rates, some favorably, some unfavorably. However, Chicago's low infant death rate of 49.8 per 1,000 births in 1932 stands out as an achievement, a victory for active life saving forces, over the death dealing effects of poverty in the very age group in which privation is normally registered most. This record marks an epoch which will be remembered through the years.

Another implication in Dr. Waalkes' letter must not be allowed to pass unnoticed. Whatever credit may accrue to the board of health for this decisive reduction in Chicago's death rate belongs to the active working personnel, not at all to me personally. Credit also belongs to the organized medical profession and the other health promoting agencies of the city, all of which have lent their fullest coöperation to the board of health during the time when this record was in the making.

President, Board of Health.

POLISH SENSIBILITIES WOUNDED.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—In your today's issue there appears an article by Alva Christensen. The authors of this article must be suffering from hatred for everything Polish! They talk about ill-mannered Polish consul, dirty Polish hotel, pudgy Polish peasant girls, stale Polish rolls and coffee, ignorant Polish policemen. All this happened to the two famous notoriety seekers while touring on to soviet Russia.

The two half wits! They go to and through a foreign country which affords them passage and safe conduct as citizens of a friendly nation, and what do they do? Break their pledge to that country by trying to bribe the officials, carry arms and ammunition and spy on them!

The two keystone heroines should remember that only a few years back terrific havoc was wrought over the very lands they trod upon; millions of ravaging soldiery and murderous war machinery tore every inch of ground there. The inhabitants that were left alive—shocked and horrified, still burdened with the horrible devastation of war—struggle the best they know how under most unfriendly natural conditions! The pudgy peasant girls may struggle out of the mire and mud of the ever-present swamps and lowlands of the Dnieper basin as the lowly but true sons of Georgia struggle out of the yellow marshy streams and never-ceasing swamps of the Okefenokee! But let me remind you, my two literary geniuses, that these pudgy common folks of Minsk are as straight and honest as the lowly folks of Georgia!

JOSEPH S. KOBRZYNSKI.

THE PORK TAX AND A TEA TAX.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—A reckless house sees fit to pass on a nuisance tax on pork to the consumer. The allotment bill is nothing but just that.

Distant congress, miles up in the stratosphere, is as far removed from us as Mars. They little realize that a consumer purchasing embargo against pork products can defeat them utterly and almost instantly and, fortunately, the substitutes are at hand. Are we, in the large, teeming centers of population, being represented? We know we are being taxed. Our problem is not government; it is the character of misrepresentation.

With some minor changes our present situation savors of the conditions that brought on the Boston tea party.

ALIMONY.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—In regard to Irene Lefbour's letter regarding alimony:

Why do all these women hesitate to sympathize with their own sex? Has she ever gone through the ordeal of a divorce and been hurt so deeply that nothing really matters in her life?

Well, I for one have, and in my opinion these men are getting entirely too much sympathy and publicity regarding this matter. How can any woman penalize the future of a man? They are never hurt about it, and it seems to add to their prestige, which is proven every day in your paper.

Employment is very hard to get for both sexes, but when a man is working and is receiving a good salary, whether his former wife has children or not, he should be made to support her.

Most of these men who are trying to get out of paying it have been married ten years or more, and in all cases I'll wager the former wife did not have children because she was working trying to help him get to the top, and after that goal was reached he decided she was not good enough for him.

Why worry about the suicide of these men? If an investigation was made I am sure you would find just as many suicides of women who have been divorced, as every one seems to lose respect for them.

So for God's sake don't encourage these recalcitrant husbands, and give their former wives a chance, as since your paper has given the matter so much attention they are sure taking advantage of it. MRS. S.

THEY ALREADY HAVE WON PRIZES.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Why are married girls excluded from your contest for the World's Fair queen?

MARTIN JOHNSON.

PRIVATE PATROLMEN.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Now that the beer racket is doomed, a more sinister racket has sprung up.

Men dressed in police uniforms but with no badge of identification or other insignia ring front door bells and inform the occupant that for a consideration, usually $1.50 a month, they will make regular rounds and examine basement windows, doors and garages and search for thieves, prowlers and holdup men. Should you refuse to sign up and pay, they broadly hint that homes are sometimes broken into and damaged, and would it not be well to have their "protection"?

Already many people have found out what it means to refuse to pay tribute to these patrols by finding their doorsteps and halls littered with rubbish, to say nothing of broken windows.

HARASSED TAXPAYER.

MUSIC WITH BEER.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Part of the unemployment might be eliminated if a clause could be written into the city beer and wine licensing bill requiring that musicians be employed in all places serving liquor. An orchestra, as well as food, would turn most drinking places into agreeable beer gardens where entire families might respectably congregate. It seems to me that the musicians' union is overlooking a bet in not using its influence toward this end.

TOM F. BLACKBURN.

APPRECIATIVE.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—I want to thank THE TRIBUNE for the reproduction of the paintings by Choultsé in last Sunday's paper, as well as for those in the coming Sunday paper.

SAMUEL INSULL SAFE IN GREECE, IS NEW U. S. VIEW

Friends Learn Collapse Undermines Health.

Federal authorities here have reached the conclusion that Samuel Insull can never be brought back from Greece to face the charges of larceny and embezzlement brought against him by the Cook county grand jury last Oct. 4.

While United States Attorney Dwight H. Green refrained from comment, other federal officials admitted yesterday that the United States government has no hope of upsetting the decision of the Greek Court of Appeals which, in the recent extradition hearing in Athens, ruled that the $300,000 embezzlement charged against Insull was a mere "loan," and the amount too small to be of consequence in a setup of the magnitude of the Insull utilities system.

Hopes to Become a Greek.

Chicago friends of Insull, noting his haggard appearance in recent photographs received from Athens, fear he may not live to fulfill his plan of becoming a naturalized Greek, as dispatches announced he has started to do. The Greek naturalization period is three years.

His friends have been advised that, with the extradition battle won, the vitality of the 73 year old exile is waning fast. Insull is said to be sorely grieved over the continued stay in Paris of his wife, the former Gladys Wallis of the stage, whom he expected to join h[im] at Christmas time.

With Samuel Insull apparently secure for the remainder of his life, the interest of the Insull investors and their attorneys has turned from Greece to Barrie, Ont., where the exile's younger brother, Martin, a co-defendant in the October indictment, is resisting extradition in the Provincial court.

Five Continuances Granted.

Five continuances have already been granted in the case since Martin's arrest and release on bail Oct 9, and State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney was unable to state yesterday whether he would be ready to proceed when the matter comes up again. The date of the next hearing is Feb. 7.

Meanwhile the United States bureau of investigation is pursuing its investigation of all the Insull holding and investment companies, undertaken last September at the time former State's Attorney Swanson began the probe which resulted in indictment of the Insull brothers.

It had been generally understood that the bureau of investigation would find a wealth of material to support a charge of fraudulent use of the mails in the first Insull trust they examined, Corporation Securities company. Insull creditors have alleged such fraud and cited voluminous testimony to support it in a suit now pending in federal court.

Expect U. S. to Drop Case.

Notwithstanding the creditors' allegations, a rumor arose yesterday that the bureau of investigation has found nothing to justify grand jury action and that the federal case would be dropped. Melvin Purvis, agent in charge of the bureau here, would not discuss this phase of the case, but said a full report would be completed some weeks hence and submitted to his Washington chief, J. Edgar Hoover.

Insull investors had supposed that, since fraudulent use of the mails is nonextraditable, the state embezzlement indictment would be employed as the instrument of returning Martin to Chicago to enable the federal authorities to bring him within jurisdiction. Such a course will be impossible it now develops.

Bar Change in Charges.

American extradition treaties provide, according to legal authorities, that a fugitive may be tried only on the specific charge alleged in the extradition warrant. Thus, in the event of Martin Insull's extradition, he can be tried on that charge and no other.

In the event of acquittal, moreover, the extradition treaties allow the defendant sixty days of absolute liberty to return to his place of sanctuary during which time the prosecuting authorities can take no action on pending charges.

FARMER DIES OF WOUND.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 18.—(Special.)—Samuel J. Copeland, 52, died here today. He shot himself when he fell Monday while running for an opossum.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

Saves $2. No Cooking! So Easy!

Millions of housewives have found that, by mixing their own cough medicine, they get a purer, more effective remedy. They use a recipe which costs about one-fourth as much as ready-made medicine, but which really has no equal for breaking up obstinate coughs.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and one cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and makes the most effective remedy that money could buy. Keeps perfectly, and children love its taste.

Its quick action in loosening the phlegm, clearing the air passages, and soothing away the inflammation, has caused it to be used in more homes than any other cough remedy.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its healing effect on throat membranes. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

MR. AND MRS. CARL JOHNSON.

COMPLETE JURY FOR SECOND TRIAL OF VARNER CORRY

CRIMINAL COURT.

Joseph Guzik, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory; Austin Pazes, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; John Chester Vastine, embezzlement, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Joseph Stampack, George Malley, and Mike Prokop, burglary, sentenced to 1 to 10 years each in Pontiac reformatory by Judge John Prystalski.

Presentation of evidence in the second trial of Varner Corry, 17 years old, charged with killing Policeman Edward Smith in a school building on Memorial day, 1931, will begin today before Judge Thomas J. Lynch in the Criminal court. The jury was completed yesterday.

Immediately after being sworn in the jury was excluded from the hearing while Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller and Defense Attorney James Burke argued a motion of the defense to suppress all evidence seized at the Corry home, on the ground that the seizures were made without a search warrant. Mr. Mueller conceded several points, but opposed the exclusion from evidence of the pistol found under the back porch of the Corry home.

Judge Lynch will rule on the motion at the opening of today's session.

Trouble Settled

Carl Johnson, 36 years old, 2117 South Central Park avenue, was arraigned yesterday before Judge Edward S. Scheffler in the Court of Domestic Relations on a charge of nonsupport. His estranged wife, Mrs. Marie Johnson, 35 years old, is living at 1735 Washburne avenue with their two children.

"I didn't mind my husband mentioning another woman's name in his sleep," she said, "but I do object to being kept awake." Mrs. Johnson further related that her husband once called her by the other woman's name. After that, she said, she trailed her husband and had a look at the other woman.

"I may not be so good looking," she said, "but you should have seen her."

Judge Scheffler urged the couple to live together for the sake of the children. Mrs. Johnson agreed, on the promise of her husband that he would not talk in his sleep.

Lake County Votes Poor $100,000 from Gas Taxes

Lake county supervisors yesterday voted 24 to 7 to use $100,000 of the county's share of the state gasoline tax for poor relief. Waukegan township is to get $53,000 of the money appropriated.

CALL ON COUNTY TO ACCEPT COAL PLAN OF EXPERTS

Charity Fuel Compromise Turned Down.

The joint advisory committee of the county board and the Illinois Emergency Relief commission yesterday recommended to the county board the specifications for charity coal contracts drafted by four of six experts appointed by the two groups. Minor changes were made in the experts' recommendations by the advisory committee.

A minority report on the specifications was given by two of the experts, Lieutenant Commander Edward H. Duane of the Great Lakes Naval Training station and Andrew T. Murphy, publisher of the Black Diamond, coal trade journal. They declared that the coal furnished under the majority specifications would be fit only for steam making, and not for domestic use.

At the meeting at which the specifications were drafted George Reed, vice president of the Peabody Coal company, was called in to advise the experts. Mr. Murphy charged that the resulting specifications would limit competition for the charity coal business to the central Illinois coal fields, restrict competition, and allow collusion and price fixing on the part of the central Illinois operators.

Submits Compromise Plan.

County Commissioner Peter M. Kelly submitted compromise specifications at the advisory committee meeting, which he declared embodied the elements that had been agreed upon by representativs of both central and southern Illinois coal mine operators as a fair basis for competition between the two fields.

The representatives of the relief commission raised objections to his compromise proposal, insisting that the recommendations of the four experts out of the six be adopted instead. Charles B. Goodspeed, assistant to the relief commission chairman, Edward L. Ryerson Jr., proposed an amendment to the experts' specifications under which the contracts would be awarded on the basis of the greatest number of British thermal units, but the coal would be paid for on the ton basis.

The specifications adopted by the advisory group provided no means of testing the quality of coal as it is delivered. A motion was adopted to have the committee of six experts meet again to draft a schedule of penalties for failure to comply with the specifications.

Fit Central Illinois Coal.

The specifications adopted call for coal with no less than 12,300 British thermal units per pound and no more than 13 per cent moisture and 12 per cent ash, which are close to the averages for the central Illinois field, according to Mr. Goodspeed. The size of the coal, 6 by 1¼ inches, is a size that is used exclusively by the central Illinois fields.

RUSSIAN CLUB SENDS $50 FOR HUNGRY PUPILS

The Hungry School Children's fund yesterday received $50 from the proceeds of a charity ball and concert at the Steuben club, given by the Russian-American club, "Oasis," last November. The check was brought to the fund headquarters by Mrs. H. Krasnow, wife of the club president, who promised that the fund also will benefit from future club charity affairs. The club was organized for educational and social purposes for the Russian colony in Chicago over a year ago.

Among other gifts was $1 sent by Laurel Morthorst, who explained that it was donated by the little guests who attended her birthday party. Also $10 was received from Mary Frances Reed and Jo Ellyn Murdock, 2122 Hopkins place, Beverly Hills, the proceeds of a picture show benefit given last Saturday.

From Ethel Hanzlik came $1 in honor of her 21st birthday. Hazel, a member of Girl Scout troop No. 157, helped the troop do its good deed in assisting the fund through a recent benefit.

The contributions in full are acknowledged as follows:

$50—Russian-American club "Oasis" benefit ball.
$14—"J-8 Bridge club."
$10—Proceeds from picture show given by Mary Frances Reed and Jo Ellyn Murdock, 2122 Hopkins place, Beverly Hills.
$5—Hugo Sonnenschein, Mary W. Quinby.
$1—Ethel Hanzlik—"My birthday gift," little guests at Laurel's birthday party.

Total	$ 95.50
Previously acknowledged	19,399.94
Grand total	$19,495.44

Contributions may be sent to the fund in care of the Cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower. The fund is now caring for 8,000 needy children in 100 public schools.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles [illegible]; recovered, 70; stripped, 10 [from police records for the 24 hour period ending at midnight Tuesday].

Automobile case defendants: Stanley Serchuck and Frank Pisce, 60 days each in Bridewell for attempting to drive auto without the owner's consent. Floyd Prini, fined $100 and costs for making a false report on his car. Jack Tierney, William Chapman, Max Kross, Walter Piwko, and John Obozo, held to the grand jury on charges of auto larceny. George Crusie, turned over to the federal government for violation of the Dyer act.

COL. MILLER TELLS TOM MIX STORY; FROM $35 TO $40,000

Erie, Pa., Jan. 18.—(AP)—From a witness stand today came the story of Tom Mix's rise from a $35 a month "steer tail twister" to a $10,000 weekly circus star.

Col. Zack Miller, veteran "101 Ranch" show owner, told the story in his suit against Mix for $342,000. Miller charges he was damaged to that extent when Mix failed to report in Harrisburg, Pa., to join the ranch show in 1929.

Miller was the only witness today. The defense is expected to open its case tomorrow.

Mix began his career as an entertainer, Miller said, on his "Oklahoma ranch" in 1906. Then, he said, Mix was "just an ordinary cowboy" and earned $35 a month. In 1929, Miller said, Mix was offered $10,000 a week.

On cross-examination, John Kelly, New York counsel for Mix, got testimony as to Mix's drawing power outside the movies. Miller was awarded a verdict of $90,000 in the suit two years ago, but a new trial was ordered on appeal.

LEGION PRESSES ITS INQUIRY INTO NEWBERRY RITES

Joseph Delacour, Cook county commander of the American Legion, said yesterday that the investigation of the military funeral given to Ted Newberry, slain gangster, by members of Yarno-De Vere post of the Legion, is now in the hands of Glenn Suthers, commander of the district council of which Yarmo-De Vere post is a member. The investigation will "go through channels" to the Cook county council of the Legion, the state department and the national headquarters, if necessary, Delacour said.

Newberry was not a member of any post of the Legion, Commander Delacour declared. He said his information was that the military escort and firing squad were furnished at the funeral by an individual and not by authority of the post's commander.

Legion headquarters called Chief of Detectives Shoemaker yesterday asking for Newberry's criminal record. The reply was that Newberry was tried and acquitted of one murder, was believed to have committed many murders, and was a gangster and bootlegger often arrested.

NEURITIS ?

■ Neuritis (inflammation of nerves) is one of the nasty tricks that excess uric acid can play on you. Others may be: itching skin spots, stiff joints, rheumatic twinges.

If you have seen your doctor about any one of these troubles, he has probably warned you about caffeine. This drug, found in ordinary coffee, often produces uric acid.

But don't take that as a farewell to coffee. You can keep drinking coffee, good coffee, with no fear of caffeine.

Make a two-weeks' test of Kellogg's Kaffee-Hag Coffee (97% caffeine-free). Enjoy this delicious blend of finest Brazilian and Colombian coffees. Your taste will never know that the caffeine has been removed. Two full weeks should make a big difference. Try it.

"John, it's 8:30! Please get the Philadelphia orchestra."

(The Head of the House continues reading, but his hand strays to the dial. A glance at the "tuning shadow", and he continues reading. Across the room, from the ideal, "listening distance", the opening measures of the program greet the listeners—rich, pure, perfect.)

"Isn't that nice!" says the Boss of the House.

"As good as a 'fifth row center'," says The Head of the House.

THEIR RADIO is the new Lazy-X Philco—end table control with remote speaker.

That you may get "Tone Perspective", Philco has, in the Lazy-X combination, put the speaker away from the set—across the room. But complete control is at your side. You needn't leave your easy chair to change the program. The connection is a flat cord under the rug, as indicated by the dotted line.

To appreciate its convenience you must sit next to a Lazy-X and operate the remote control. To know the glorious tone of the remote speaker, you must hear Lazy-X reception. You are invited to a demonstration, at your nearest Edison Electric Shop. Prices range from $150 for the Lazy-X combination with remote speaker, to $65 for the Lazyboy with enclosed speaker.

FATHER AND SON KILLED BY TRAIN AT PALATINE

Misunderstand Signals; Auto Smashed.

Henry Bicknase, 65 years old, retired farmer of Palatine, was fatally injured and his son, Earl, 35 years old, an electrician, was killed last evening at the Palatine station on the North Western railroad when their small sedan was demolished by a fast Chicago bound passenger train. The father died an hour after the accident at the Palatine hospital.

Police said that Bicknase had come to the station to meet his son, who arrived from Chicago on a local train. As this train pulled out of the station the two men drove on to the tracks, apparently taking the bell and flash signal warnings to indicate only the departure of the local train.

The express train, moving at 60 miles an hour, struck the small car squarely and carried it for 100 yards, scattering wreckage along the right of way. The elder man was rushed to the hospital but never regained consciousness. A widower, he was survived by two daughters. His son was not married.

These deaths and two others yesterday increased the 1933 Cook county automobile toll to 41. The other victims:

Mrs. Pauline Brown, 57 years old, of East Chicago Heights. Died at the St. James hospital, Chicago Heights. She was thrown through the windshield of an auto in a collision Monday at Regal and Holbrook roads, near Homewood.

Gustave Koenig, 45 years old, 6236 South Kostner avenue, a tool maker. Killed at 63d street and Kostner avenue. Felix Belencia, 3520 West 64th place, an airplane mechanic, the driver, was held.

RELATIVES' SUIT TO BREAK WILL IS DISMISSED

A suit contesting the will of Mrs. Emily H. Moulton of Waukegan was dismissed yesterday by Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady in Waukegan. Mrs. Moulton died on June 13, 1931, at the age of 78. The will, filed for probate shortly after her death, valued her estate at $218,974, of which $209,051 was left to semi-public and public institutions. Nine nieces and nephews, one of whom is former Mayor Louis J. Yager of Waukegan, were given $1,000 each.

Two of the nieces, Mrs. Mabel Smart of Waukegan, and Mrs. Cora Foster of Providence, R. I., brought suit to set aside the will. They charged that Mrs. Moulton was mentally incapable of disposing of her estate at the time the will was made. They also charged the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. of Waukegan, and the Methodist Deaconess orphanage of Lake Bluff, chief beneficiaries, with exercising undue influence on Mrs. Moulton. Each of these three institutions was left $66,650.

Judge Dady held with Attorney Gerald C. Snyder, representing the Y. W. C. A., that Mrs. Smart and Mrs. Foster had held the will valid by accepting their bequests. A stay of 30 days was granted for an appeal.

Mrs. Olga Lysen of Worth Is Dead After Operation

Mrs. Olga Lysen, 49 years old, 110th street and Crandall avenue, Worth, died yesterday in the Auburn Park hospital following an operation. She was the wife of Olaf H. Lysen, building contractor, and mother of Elmer Lysen, village trustee and editor of the Worth Citizen. She also is survived by four other sons.

YESTERADY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

BEGIN HEARING ON SUIT TO VOID $1,250,000 WILL

Father Intoxicated, Heiress Says.

Hearing was started yesterday before Circuit Judge Joseph Burke in the suit of Mrs. Jessie Brink Long, 539 North Grove avenue, Oak Park, to set aside the will of her father, Louis H. Brink, a founder of the Chicago poultry board and a charter member of the old butter and egg exchange. The will disposed of an estate of $1,250,000.

Mrs. Long charged that her father was under the influence of liquor when he signed the will and did not know that he had affixed his signature. Her three brothers are named defendants in the suit. They are John L. Brink, 7925 Washington boulevard, River Forest; Ernest C. Brink, 533 North Grove avenue, Oak Park, and Lawrence H. Brink, 529 North Grove avenue, Oak Park.

Friends of Father Testify.

William F. Prieve, 528 North Grove avenue, Oak Park; Ignatz Pilat, 1045 North Sacramento avenue; Edward P. Cantwell, and John S. Brey, all friends and business associates of the elder Brink, were called yesterday by the defense. All testified that they had known Brink to be a heavy drinker, but said they had never seen him other than alert of mind when drinking.

Attorney Holland F. FlaHavhan, representing Mrs. Long, announced that he would produce medical testimony today to prove that Brink was of unsound mind at the time he made the will. The elder Brink died on April 18, 1931. His will, dated Jan. 20, 1930, was admitted to probate on April 25. The sons are named trustees and executors.

Tells Terms of Will.

Under the terms of the will, Mrs. Long charges, the estate is to be held in trust until the death of the widow, Mrs. Ida Brink. The trustees are directed to provide Mrs. Brink with funds from profits to "enable her to live in comfort and happiness." All other profits from the estate are to be divided, at the discretion of the trustees, among the four children.

At Mrs. Brink's death, the suit says, the share of Mrs. Long is to be held in trust under the administration of her brothers, and only the profits conveyed to her. The trust will be terminated by her death and the property is to be divided among her children.

Japanese Prince, Uncle of Mikado, Dies, Aged 63

TOKIO, Jan. 19.—[Thursday.]—(AP)—Prince Michizane Kujo, 63, uncle of the emperor, died today of cerebral thrombosis. The Kujo family are descendants of one of the best known court personages of old Japan, Kamatari Fujiwara, and are one of the Gosekke or five principal families. The prince was a member of the house of peers for a number of years and was appointed attendant to the board of chamberlains in August, 1913. Subsequently he became vice chief of the ritualist and later the chief.

POLICE TO HONOR CAPT. O'CONNELL AT FUNERAL

Funeral services for Police Captain Joseph J. O'Connell will be held at 9 a. m. Saturday at the Holy Cross church, 65th street and Maryland avenue. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre cemetery. A mounted police detail will act as guard of honor, heading the funeral procession.

CAPT. O'CONNELL.

Capt. O'Connell was 62 years old and had been a resident of Chicago since 1887 and a policeman 40 years. He was born in County Clare, Ireland. After working as a grocery clerk and freight checker he joined the police force in 1893, the World's Fair year. He was made a captain in 1922 and had been in command at the Stanton avenue, Pekin, Brighton Park, West North avenue, Woodlawn, and Central police stations and the traffic division. At the time of his death he was assigned to the detective bureau.

His widow, Josephine; a son, John, superintendent of transportation for the Chicago Surface lines, and three daughters, Hazel, a nurse, and Eileen and Loretta, school teachers, survive.

HOLD RITES FOR W. C. KEELEY, 62, HOTEL MANAGER

Funeral services for William C. Keeley, 62 years old, general manager of hotel properties for the Chicago Title and Trust company, were held yesterday in the chapel at 2346 West Madison street. Burial will be at Deep River, Conn. Mr. Keeley died of pneumonia Tuesday in his apartment at the Graemere hotel.

Mr. Keeley was nationally known as a hotel man. During the last forty years he operated hotels in the south, the middle west, and west, either as lessee or managing director. He started his career with the old Grand Pacific hotel in Chicago and 20 years ago operated the New Southern hotel, then in its heyday.

Three years ago he joined the Title and Trust company, after a period as manager of the Southmoor hotel. Among the hotels under his direction were the Graemere, the Churchill, the Embassy, the Shoreham, and the Rogers Park, in Chicago; the Ridgeway in Evanston, the Gary in Gary, Ind., and the Wolverine in Detroit. Surviving Mr. Keeley are his widow, Jennie, and a son, William Jr. of New York City.

JOHN BUNDY, 79, HOOSIER ARTIST, IS DEAD IN OHIO

Richmond, Ind., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—John E. Bundy, 79, dean of Indiana artists since the death of T. C. Steele, died in a Cincinnati sanitarium. He had been a patient there three years. Funeral services will be held Saturday at the home of John Nixon, Centerville.

Born in North Carolina May 1, 1853, Mr. Bundy came to Morgan county in 1857. In 1887 he came to Richmond as head of the art department at Earlham college. He remained there until 1895, when he set up a private studio in West Richmond.

He became one of the most successful painters of woodland scenes of his time and was widely known for his treatment of beeches. He had been honored at the Hoosier art salon in Chicago and had exhibited at Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, National Academy of Design, Art institute of Chicago, St. Louis exposition, Corcoran gallery, Washington, City Art museum, St. Louis, the John Herron Art institute, Indianapolis, and the Art association of Richmond.

Dr. M. S. Rice, 81, Is to Be Buried in Aurora Today

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. today in the Healy chapel in Aurora for Dr. M. S. Rice, 81 years old, who died suddenly in his offices in the Leland hotel, Aurora, on Tuesday. He had practiced medicine in Aurora for fifty-five years. Surviving are his widow, a son and two daughters.

SON OF MRS. SAYRE ATTENDS SPECIAL RITES IN MONTANA

Livington, Mont., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Hundreds of miles from the scene of funeral services for his mother, an 18 year old boy bowed in sorrow here today at private services, conducted especially for him because he learned of her death too late to return home for the rites.

Francis B. Sayre Jr., whose mother, Mrs. Jessie Sayre, daughter of the late President Woodrow Wilson, died at Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 15, is a winter guest at the ranch of Paul Van Cleve, about 75 miles northeast of Livingston.

The private services were held at St. Andrews Episcopal church here. Tomorrow, at the hour his mother is buried at Bethlehem, Pa., he will attend memorial services at the same church.

Senate's Gift to Children.

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, daughter of former President Wilson, left $12,000 to be shared equally by her three children, according to the terms of her will, filed for probate today. It divided jewelry and a silver service among the children. These included the service given her as a wedding present by the United States senate and a diamond necklace she received as a gift from the house of representatives.

Edwin W. Moore, Former Chicago Attorney, Is Dead

Edwin White Moore, for thirty years an attorney in Chicago, and at one time an assistant corporation counsel, died at his home in Los Angeles on Monday, it was learned yesterday. He was 83 years old. He retired some years ago. Mr. Moore was born at Williamsburg, Pa., and educated at Princeton. He practiced law at Racine, Wis., and Wichita, Kan., before coming to Chicago. His wife, now dead, was Helen Lyman Miller, granddaughter of Col. Roswell B. Mason, a former mayor of Chicago. Surviving are two children, Alice and Robert.

'MOIST THROAT' ENDED HIS COUGH!

"I had coughs all winter, till I learned about 'moist throat,'" writes R. G., of New York City.

Your throat and bronchial tubes are lined with millions of pores like tiny "bottles" continually supplying moisture to the delicate tissues . . . until you "catch cold."

Then those pores clog. Phlegm collects — dangerous germs find a breeding place. Tickling, irritation and coughing set in.

Your cough will be cured only when you increase the flow of your throat's natural moisture, loosening the phlegm so it can be expelled. Many cough "remedies" contain numbing drugs which merely "deaden" the nerves . . . but don't get at the real root of the trouble!

PERTUSSIN, a scientific remedy, is the extract of a famous herb which opens the tiny glands, stimulates the flow of throat moisture and brings quick relief naturally.

If your throat's the least bit raw or dry, take a few spoons of PERTUSSIN now. It's absolutely safe, even for children. At all drug stores, 60¢.

STOP BAD BREATH

Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no griping pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Henry Stanley Lives Again in This Biography

J. Wassermann Creates Great Character.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Bula Matari," by Jakob Wassermann. [Liveright.] Published Jan. 13.

ON a six ton monolith in the village churchyard at Pirbright, England, surmounting the remains of one of the most glamorous lives of the last century, there is the simple inscription, "Henry Morton Stanley, Bula Matari, 1841 to 1904, Africa." The dean of Westminster in 1904 refused to allow Stanley to be buried in Westminster perhaps because he was so legendary a figure that the legend blackened the facts. No one in the civilized world of his day was ignorant of Stanley's career, and Stanley, like all spectacular characters, paid the price of being a public figure in the mistrust as well as the adoration of the public.

JAKOB WASSERMANN. Drawing by D. Parrot.

Today, twenty-eight years after his death, the final ironic price has been paid in the publication of a biography of the intrepid man, for Jakob Wassermann writes not of a man who is still vivid and alive in the hearts of his fellow men but of a hero already legendary. So ephemeral is man's worship [or condemnation] of his fellow man.

A generation or two ago every small boy wanted to do what Stanley had done. The famous greeting by Stanley when he found Dr. Livingstone after months of grueling search through utterly untraveled Africa, "Dr. Livingstone, I presume," was the catchword of years. Stanley captured in every conceivable way the imagination of his period. Like all great explorers—and Herr Wassermann ranks him with Columbus and Capt. Cook [the early one that sailed the seas, not the gentleman who dashed to the north pole] and Magellan—Stanley was utterly fearless, physically as courageous as a god, and, besides, he had what his generation considered the ultimate greatness, piety, and he was a living example of the popular fiction of the period, the Alger books.

Herr Wassermann says casually that it is a very nice point whether the fiction was the product of the period or merely opened the eyes of youth to the possibilities of fame and fortune. [The author doesn't by any means stress the Algerlike quality of Stanley's life story. He speaks more of the Dickenslike pattern of his life. But the parallel is obvious to any one.] Like the heroes of those fantastic tales of the last century, Henry Stanley was a waif. Deserted by his mother, illegitimate, brought up in a workhouse as John Rowlands under a cruel taskmaster who died insane, running away from torture and finally from his native country, his hideous experience at sea landed him, in revolt and in despair, in New Orleans, where he met Henry Stanley, who adopted him and whose name he took. The tale of his rise to fame is more spectacular and fantastic than the most brilliant conceivable pattern of fiction.

But the man who lives in the pages of "Bula Matari" is not only "Bula Matari," the rock breaker, but a man who ironically was spiritually crashed on the rock of life as well as physically crushed, but who, through what seems like superhuman determination as well as superhuman physical courage, conquered.

"Stanley was one of those lonely beings," says the author, "who never acquire a normal and healthy relationship towards the world in which they have been born, and must therefore lead loveless, friendless, and unsatisfied lives unless the star of their destiny guides them into a road where they can find adequate self-expression."

Without making any detailed psychological analysis of Stanley, Jakob Wassermann so subtly treats his hero that the reader sees the man pulsant and alive inside the armor of the hero.

The world who thinks of Stanley at all now thinks of him as a great explorer, which he was, of course, primarily, but it was not as an explorer that he went first to Africa, nor primarily as an explorer that he became known to his generation. He was a newspaper reporter and—which makes him seem very close indeed—he once wrote for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

That was in the days of the peace commission which sat to consider the Indian problem in 1867. Stanley, who had enlisted as a soldier in the southern army, been captured, and obtained his release by joining the Union forces, been discharged as unfit for military service and had later enlisted in the Union navy, became [just how, the author says, is shrouded in mystery] a newspaper reporter. From the earnings of his profession he organized an ill-fated trip into Asia, which he was to write about. Early in life, therefore, his destiny of penetrating wilds and writing about that penetration was evident. And of him the author says, "If there be any classicist of the newspaper world, it is Henry M. Stanley. He, if any writer, has given journalistic impressionism world-wide historical significance.

In explaining a persistent illness and enervation in his later years Stanley once said, "Africa is in me," and the author declares in a brilliant paragraph just before the end of the book how spiritually as well as physically Africa was in him.

A great German novelist has recreated a character in "Bula Matari" greater than any character he has ever before created.

"Bula Matari" is translated from the German by Eden and Cedar Paul.

Zoo Animals Stage Battle for Thriller

20 Excited Beasts Used in Spectacle.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 18.—Jungle life is the major theme of the movies at this time, and one episode with twenty great cats leaping, snarling, and fighting each other in one tremendous free for all provided the most dramatic camera spectacle which this correspondent has seen in nine years of looking over the cameraman's shoulders.

The scene was for "Murders in the Zoo," a thriller which Paramount is filming. Lionel Atwill, as the maniac, runs through the zoo in a great city and grasps a lever which opens the doors on the cages of all the great cats simultaneously.

Paramount had an entire set divided off with thick steel wire running to the rafters. Behind the wire ground a battery of six cameramen, while a group of reporters on Hollywood affairs huddled on a protected platform overlooking the scene. The studio didn't venture as unreplaceable a property as Atwill to dash down the aisle of cells as the lions, tigers, leopards, jaguars, hyenas, and pumas burst out of their cages through the suddenly opened doors. Instead William Foix, the head trainer of the Los Angeles Selig zoo, from which the big cats were rented, made up in Atwill's garb to do this part of the scene.

The lions charged out into the central inclosure, representing the main lobby of a menagerie, in combative mood. Two of the great shaggy manes were at once tangled in a rolling, ripping, roaring mass as males tried to settle supremacy. A volley of blanks separated them momentarily. Leopards leaped to the tops of the cages, within a few feet of an overhead net which protected the upstairs camera crew, the electricians, other mechanics, and popeyed reporters. One woman writer fainted.

A lion and lioness sprawled in bitter battle at the far end of the aisle of cages. One of seven trainers dashed toward them with an upraised chair and a gun full of blanks, and other trainers, with chairs and prods, followed to protect the first man's back from paws of any of the other eighteen spitting and bounding cats.

Another big lion cornered a puma. The American lion was no match for his African cousin, who outweighed him several hundred pounds. This was the only fatality.

None of the men who stayed in the inclosure to chase the cats back into their cages was even scratched. The lone woman, Olga Celeste, a well known animal trainer, showed great daring. She crawled on hands and knees under a wooden cage beneath which one of the leopards had found refuge after slipping through a gap in the steel wire to another portion of the building. She brought her leopard out safely, while even her fellow trainers waited with bated breath.

Several hours were required to maneuver the last of the excited beasts back into cages. Men from the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals stood on the sidelines with the animal trainers and the film director, Edward Sutherland, to see that nothing untoward took place.

The Four Marx brothers, who are not in the "Murders in the Zoo" film, and Kathleen Burke, the Chicago "panther girl," Gail Patrick, Randolph Scott, Charles Ruggles, and John Lodge, who are in the picture, were among the apprehensive sidelinera.

Baby Welfare Group Reports Record Year

Lowest Infant Death Rate in 22 Years.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

The lowest infant death rate in the 22 years of its existence was the accomplishment for 1932 of the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago, it was revealed yesterday at the annual meeting at the Chicago Woman's club. This was done in the society's eighteen stations devoted to the care of needy mothers and their children, despite unemployment, malnutrition, insufficient clothing and fuel and other evidences of depression.

In a report prepared by Miss Jeannette Townsend, extension secretary, the infant mortality rate was shown to have fallen from 109 per thousand live births in 1910 to 7.9 deaths per thousand live births in 1932. The death rate for all babies in Chicago last year, it was pointed out, was 49.8 per thousand.

"The results achieved by this society are conclusive evidence of the efficiency of its methods and in themselves are proof of the wisdom of keeping babies of the city well rather than allowing them to become ill and then applying costly methods of cure," Miss Townsend said. "This society reduces future expenditures by giving our city sturdy boys and girls for the school period and builds a healthy foundation in these children, preparing them to assume the responsibilities of adult life."

The society cared for 25,467 mothers and babies in 1932, an increase of 58 per cent in two years. The welfare nurses made 123,215 visits to the homes of the children last year, an increase of 13 per cent in two years, according to the report.

Philip D. Armour, president of the society, in his annual message called the work of the Infant Welfare society outstanding in the face of social unrest due to unemployment which often resulted in actual want.

"In times of depression the community is apt to be more concerned with the cure of the depression and the remedy to bring back good times," he said, "than it is with the root of the trouble—namely, how to prevent a like occurrance in the future. In national and international circles, however, more thought is being given daily to the prevention of recurrence of the present state along with the effort to find a speedy cure. So it is with us. The first order of business in our community is to give relief so that none may starve. But along with the needed relief the old saying of 'an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure' must not be forgotten.

"The work of the Infant Welfare society has been a bulwark to protect these children against the effects of unemployment, malnutrition and lowered standards of living. Whether it be a period of depression or an illness, study and practical effort to prevent is worth more and is usually more successful than any amount of cures for either national or personal sickness."

The income for the society for 1932 was $175,735, although the expenditures were $177,991. The deficit has been met, Mr. Armour said, and the society is today out of debt, though dependent more than ever upon its supporters.

The society was organized to reduce the infant death rate and to improve the health of the coming generations by keeping the baby well before birth by caring for its mother, and after birth by teaching the mother how to care for and feed her child.

The eighteen stations are equipped with staffs of doctors and nurses whom the mothers consult on regular trips to the stations before the birth of their children. Afterward the children are examined by the doctors at the station until they are six years of age.

Mr. Armour was reelected president and Lucius Teter chairman of the board.

Officers of Auxiliary of Infant Welfare Society

Good Morning!

A moderately entertaining photoplay, this, in which chain gang methods are again accorded unflattering attention.

The film's chief merit lies in its story—an adaptation of Jim Tully's novel—and in some worthwhile photography. Its faults are spotty direction, and acting which, while it might have been worse, could, assuredly, have been better. Only occasionally does the work of any player come to grips with your attention. . . . Just the same, you wouldn't care to leave the theater without learning the outcome of the narrative.

It deals with the misfortunes of a youth sentenced to a chain gang for the murder of his philandering wife and her lover.

Possibly the piece would have been more intriguing and suspenseful had it been differently cast and entrusted for guidance to somebody with rather more imagination than the man who had it in charge.

I hope I have not damned this picture with faint praise, because I really do not think it ought to be damned.

Marlene Dietrich, Maureen O'Sullivan to Quit Hollywood

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Two of Hollywood's foreign born actresses, Marlene Dietrich and Maureen O'Sullivan, today announced their intention of saying farewell to the film colony.

Miss Dietrich said she would leave next spring for her native Germany to join her husband, Rudolph Sieber, German film director. She gave a farewell party for Sieber, returning to Germany after a brief visit with his wife, at a night club in Hollywood last night. Maurice Chevalier was among the guests.

With Miss O'Sullivan it's a case of "home sickness," she said. Friends say the young Irish actress has lost all interest in Hollywood since she broke off a supposed engagement with James Dunn, actor.

"That is a sore subject," Miss O'Sullivan said. "I'm homesick," she added.

Noted Costume Collection Will Go on Display

Miss Elsie McCormick to Loan Needlework.

BY JUDITH CASS.

EVERY one who's been curious about the unique collection of ancient costumes and rare old needlework which Miss Elsie McCormick has recently acquired will be interested to learn that these treasures are to be exhibited on Feb. 2 for members of the Needlework and Textile guild of the Art institute. Miss McCormick is to give a talk before the guild members on that afternoon and afterward the guild will give a tea for her.

Miss McCormick, who is a sister of Robert Hall McCormick of Chicago and of Miss Mildred McCormick of New York, has for many years been assembling a valuable and amazing collection of antique embroideries, costumes and dolls. She spends the greater part of each year in Europe and hunts for her treasures in remote, romantic byways seldom frequented by less knowing travelers. Many of these treasures are still stored abroad, and Miss McCormick plans to have them all brought to Chicago soon and eventually they will be installed under her supervision as a permanent collection in the Art institute.

Delays Trip to Europe.

Miss McCormick, who usually goes to Europe shortly after Christmas every year and remains abroad until the late fall, is to prolong her present stay in Chicago until early March. She is sorry to miss the opening of A Century of Progress, but feels that she must go abroad to look after her collections there and to see about additions to them. She plans to go to England, France, and Italy this summer and hopes to be back in the early fall before the exposition on Chicago's lake front has closed. She may give another talk about her treasures during February for the Colonial Dames.

Another interesting "show" at the Art institute to which Miss McCormick is contributing from her collections is the exhibition which will open on Friday, Jan. 27, and continue for a month under the auspices of the Antiquarian society.

The Antiquarians this time are exhibiting a collection of costumes—from 1830 to 1920—loaned by Mrs. William Prescott Hunt and Miss Marie J. Rozet and a collection of "verre de nevers" which Miss McCormick has given to the Antiquarian society.

The collection of costumes which Mrs. Hunt and her sister are exhibiting is a group of family heirlooms and is said to include perfect and complete examples of feminine wardrobes of every period of the last ninety years. Miss McCormick's "verre de nevers" are miniature figures of fragile glass and enamel and were made in France more than two centuries ago.

The Antiquarian society is to hold a reception and tea from 3 until 5 o'clock on the opening day.

Mrs. Breckinridge to Speak Today.

The Chicago committee of the Frontier Nursing service will meet at 11 o'clock this morning to hear a talk about the work of the service by Mrs. Mary Breckinridge of Kentucky, who as chairman and founder has been the leading spirit of the organization since it began giving medical care to mothers and babies in the Kentucky mountains.

The Chicago committee has invited a large number of friends of the serv-

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his case-book covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try your wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read! Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

THE ANONYMOUS TIP.

Prof. Fordney had little difficulty in following the dainty, high-heeled shoe prints of a woman and the large, heavy prints of a man through the soft earth at the side of the road down through a clearing and to the edge of a deep thicket. Pushing his way into the underbrush, he found the body of a beautiful girl—strangled to death.

So the anonymous tip had been right after all!

The contents of the girl's open vanity were strewn about. A man's blood stained handkerchief lay near her feet; her battered hat at some distance from the body. Her dress at the left shoulder was torn.

Quietly the professor stood looking at the body.

"It MUST have been done that way," he said to himself as he followed the man's footprints back to the road.

Summoning an ambulance he had the body removed to the morgue where he assisted the coroner, Dr. Johnson, in its examination. Removing the girl's galoshes, shoes, and stockings and impatiently flinging them aside, the professor seemed most interested in a long deep bruise near the left knee. He examined it closely as Dr. Johnson gave him an inquiring look. Apparently he quickly lost interest in it, however, as his "How long had she been dead before I discovered her, doctor," sounded almost disinterested.

"Well, what of it," he remarked without waiting for a reply. "That anonymous call, now . . . I knew she wasn't murdered where I found her!"

HOW DID HE KNOW?

Shops Display Dance Frocks That Dazzle

Colors, Designs and Price Tags Please.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Some of the most exciting dance dresses to arrive for the party going season have been carefully unpacked and presented in one special section or room in one of the knowing Chicago shops. Any average shopper who has hustled from one section to another trying to view tempting frocks of this description will appreciate this room. Every single creation on the hangers has been especially designed for the glamorous "after five" hours when a gal needs plenty of alluring dresses to dazzle the party crowds. Delightful dance frocks are on display at shops in Chicago, too.

And nobody could possibly be disappointed . . . the new arrivals are delectably perfect, in color, in color contrast, in individuality, and last but not least in merciful price tags. Some knockout costumes can be found, for instance—a fragile new print, a long clinging gown of shimmering white with bright Japanesque designs casually but lightly imprinted over the white surface at wide intervals. These shadowy patterns are in lipstick red, jade green and a tiny accent of shiny black spaced well enough apart to show lots of the white background.

The neckline in front is gathered high at the throat . . . the entire back section is split in two panels, held together at the top with a chain of brilliants and clear crystal. A wrap around belt of silk has a similar chain-buckle clasping in front.

Another honey shows what an inspired genius can do with yards and yards of whispering moire taffeta. Very pale chartreuse taffeta is used for the skin clinging dress . . . every single seam in the entire creation has been sheared on the bias, achieving that inimitable willowy silhouette that only bias seams can manage. The sleeves seem to be an afterthought, for they are puffings that stay well below the exposed shoulders. A huge spicy ginger brown velvet bow is splashed flat at the back, and your satin sandals and long velvet or suede gloves should match this spicy brown bow.

If you like chiffon ruffles you'll loose your heart to the new fichu or scarf gowns . . . a clinging soft silk crêpe dress, fashioned most simply, and then topped with a long scarf that is edged in wide double chiffon ruffles. You can have this lovely creation in a pale watery green, a flattering fresh tint and a snooty black affair with ruffles of startling white chiffon.

But the star of the show is the costume you will wear to match your escort's uniform, a costume that is frankly a copy of the white mess jacket that up and coming males will wear next summer. The long trailing skirt is of dull black silk . . . the clever waistcoat top is of waffelike white cotton, fashioned just like your dad's fancy white vest.

Over this duet you will wear a short snappy white jacket of the same waffle cotton . . . a swanky affair with detachable buttons that snap together . . . pleated epaulet shoulder ruffles, an impeccably tailored collar, long slim sleeves, an ascot top scarf and a pocket or two to complete this rather masculine sartorial splendor.

Until you have seen this get together you have seen practically nothing worth raving about.

Chic Fox Furs in Different Colors Shown in Paris

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Glamorous ladies drifting around Paris owe a lot of their allure to the new French fashion of combining two or three fox furs in different colors into one fur piece.

Patou's fox boas that are composed of at least two fox skins in at least two different tones started this vogue, as they were taken up by the patricians of fashion. These boas are real boas and are padded inside so they look round.

At the top of the sketch today you can see how they look and how they are twined about the arms and shoulders. The one on the left is made of brown and beige fox and the one on the right is made of black and white fox. These furs are usually worn with simple dresses of silk or velvet in one of the colors of the fur.

For spring, to wear with woolen frocks and coats for daytime, Mainbocher is showing scarfs made of three fox skins, two of beige and one gray. They are too beautiful.

At the bottom of our sketch is a Lanvin cape for evening wear done in three different colors of fox fur. At the top is a white fox fur and in the center a gray, while at the bottom is a skin of silver fox. It is the smartest fur cape to be found in Paris for evening wear.

Try This Easy Exercise for Slimmer Hips

The complete set of Antoinette Donnelly's stretching exercises will be published in booklet form soon, the date to be announced later in THE TRIBUNE.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The widespread lower back is the bane of existence to a number of women. The thighs and hipline usually are out of proportion to the rest of the figure, also, with this type. Often there is no fat above the waistline, to speak of. And the fat below is loose and wabbly, giving the back silhouette view a vulgarish turn.

The several excellent hip and thigh reducing exercises already given are advised to fight off this particular excess fat, especially that one exercise where you keep head and shoulders down on the floor and swing one foot over the other, stretching it up and up toward the shoulder, then back with this leg and then the other, rolling on the hips and turning at the waist only.

And the exercise I am giving you today. Sit tailor fashion, hands clasping feet. Roll backward and forward, back and forward times without number. Work from side to side to "massage" off the fat. This exercise will not tire you and the more you roll the quicker the lower back section will be whittled down into symmetrical line with the rest of the body.

Bringing the knees up to the chest, whether in standing or prone position, is another effective method of shedding the lower back fat. These movements I already have given you. If you've missed them by any chance I shall be happy to furnish you with them so you won't lose their excellent silhouette benefits.

Where there is a tendency to this lower back spread a desk worker has to fight like everything to keep from further spreading.

It's curious how weight dieted down frequently makes little improvement in this particular part of the anatomy. It calls specifically for exercise directed at the muscles underlying the fat. Sometimes the bone formation is such that little improvement is accomplished, but this is only in occasional instances. The fact that the fat wabbles in walking indicates its hold can be loosed with a little vigorous exercise.

You need this Vacation this Winter!

PROBABLY you never needed the rest, relaxation and complete change of a real vacation more than you do today . . . not just any vacation, but a thrilling, satisfying, unforgettable vacation-of-a-lifetime that will restore you mentally and physically and make you fit for anything that 1933 may bring. What, then, could be more welcome news than that a holiday in Southern California will cost you less this winter than ever before?

More to Enjoy . . . Less to Pay.

Recently, both costs while here and costs of getting here have been drastically reduced (ask your local travel agent about new low westbound rates). And costs here normally are about 16% below the U. S. average,—you escape the "peak prices" necessary in one-season resorts. So for no more than you spend at home, you can enjoy the myriad delights this world playground contains:

Winter in name only . . . snow high up on mountain peaks, golden oranges ripening in warm sunshine in the valleys below . . . broad sandy beaches to bask on, pleasure-islands . . . palms, sub-tropical gardens, ancient Spanish Missions . . . new thrills in all your favorite sports . . . Hollywood's gay night life . . . brilliant resorts on the desert and in nearby Old Mexico . . . cosmopolitan Los Angeles centering it all, linked by famed boulevards to celebrated cities like Long Beach, Pasadena, Glendale, Santa Monica, Beverly Hills, Pomona and many others. Let this vacation-of-a-lifetime fit you for 1933. Come early this winter. Start planning now!

FLU EPIDEMICS CALL FOR PRECAUTIONS!

A Few Simple Rules that Will Put a Person on the Side of Safety!

While it does not pay to become alarmed over Flu, it does not pay either to be careless. Many a case of Flu could have been avoided with a few simple precautions.

Here are a few rules which may be wisely followed:

Stay out of crowded, stuffy and smoky places.

Stay in the sunshine as much as you can.

Avoid coughers and sneezers.

Dress warmly, keep your feet dry, sleep in a well-ventilated room.

Drink lots of water. Eat plentifully of citrus fruits and their juices.

Watch out for colds. The so-called "common cold" often paves the way for flu.

At the first sign of a cold, do something about it! One of the best things you can do is to take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine immediately. These tablets are effective because they do four important things. They open the bowels, combat the infection in the system, relieve the fever and headache and tone the entire system.

Better still, take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine as a preventative of colds! A cold is easier avoided than cured. A cold anticipated is a cold thwarted. As a precautionary measure do what thousands are doing—watch your living habits and take one or two Bromo Quinine tablets every morning and night. That will keep your bowels open and combat germ attacks.

All drug stores sell Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. For more than forty years it has been the standard cold and grippe tablet, the formula keeping pace with Modern Medicine. Now two sizes—30c and 50c. No reliable druggist will try to sell you a substitute on any pretext. As a measure of safety, get a package today and keep it handy all winter.

ice to this morning's meeting, and any one who is interested will be welcome even though he or she was not on the invitation list.

After the meeting there is to be a luncheon at which Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, chairman of the Chicago group, will be hostess to the members of her committee.

Among the chief treasures of the Chicago Historical society are numerous objects illustrative of the many times in American history that France and the French have played a part, and these treasures are to be shown to the members of the Alliance Francaise this afternoon at a meeting of the juniors of the alliance to which the senior members of the organization have been invited.

Miss Phyllis Walsh, assistant curator of the society and an active member of the Junior Alliance, will speak in French at the meeting on "The Early Years of French Influence in America," after which the French consul, Rene Weiller, will be presented with a picture of the tea service which Lafayette gave to Gov. Derbigny of Louisiana, which is on exhibition in the society's new building in Lincoln park.

Mrs. Charles S. Dewey will be hostess at tea in the Current Exhibit room after the program. The bulk of the French material upon exhibit is in the French Exploration and the New Republic rooms.

Friends of Music Radio Program.

To spread interest in the cause of the Friends of Music who are soliciting funds for the Temple of Music to be built on A Century of Progress grounds, Mrs. Arthur Meeker and Harold F. McCormick are to perform on the radio this evening at 6:45 o'clock.

Listeners will hear Mr. McCormick do some of the whistling numbers with which he has entertained his friends at parties. He will be followed by a little playlet written by Mrs. Meeker with a cast including herself and Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr. and Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer [Mary Meeker]. After Mrs. Meeker's skit has been presented Mrs. Merrill Hubbard of Lake Forest will sing some of the French and German songs which she sings so charmingly.

The Woman's Athletic club members evidently had no difficulty in persuading their husbands to be their guests tonight at the ping pong exhibition by Coleman Clark and other ping pong champions. Yesterday 250 reservations had been made for the exhibition and the informal dinner which is to precede it.

Among those who are having parties of guests are Mrs. Charles Lindmueller, Mrs. Royden Keith, Mrs. Andrew B. MacCaughey, Mrs. Welch Dickinson, Mrs. Raymond M. Ashcraft, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. Otto G. Schmidt, Mrs. John Powell, Mrs. John F. Jennings, Mrs. Alfred Tyler, Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze, Mrs. Raymond C. Dudley, and Mrs. William W. Dixon.

Plans for Talk by Mrs. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Howard Linn will arrive at home this afternoon from a week's quail shooting in Mississippi and immediately she will plunge into her work as chairman of decorations for the meeting Saturday night in Orchestra hall, when Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will talk under the auspices of the Illinois League of Women Voters.

Seated on the stage will be the consuls general, or consuls, or vice consuls of 24 countries, all resplendent in their ribbons and decorations, and the flags of those nations as well as our own will be used in the decorative scheme, so the picture that night should be a colorful and attractive one with the stage so gay and the audience in gala attire.

All the boxes have been sold and there are to be numerous dinner parties before the meeting. Mrs. Roosevelt, who arrives by plane on Saturday afternoon, will dine with her cousin, Mrs. James L. Houghteling, and Mr. Houghteling, and a few of their friends at the Casino.

After the talk there is to be a reception for Mrs. Roosevelt in the foyer of the theater and later that night the Robert J. Dunhams will entertain at a supper party for the wife of the President elect. Mrs. Roosevelt will be at the Drake hotel during her brief stay. She will leave early Sunday morning by plane to return to New York.

Flower Show at Palm Beach.

It must give Mrs. George A. McKinlock a warm glow around her heart to be as vital a part of the social and philanthropic activities of two communities as she is of those in Chicago and Palm Beach. Her departure for her winter residence was delayed this year until after Jan. 1—she usually goes south in the early winter—by the necessity of her being here to organize and get into running gear the model workroom of the Red Cross which is making garments for the Emergency Relief commission. And now that she is in Palm Beach we receive from our correspondent there a letter telling of the warm welcome she was given by the winter colony in the fashionable Florida resort, especially by the members of the Palm Beach Garden club, of which she is president.

Immediately she started formulating plans for a flower show that will add color and gayety to the season, for it will have fiesta features and will be a gala affair. It is to be held on Feb. 17, 18, and 19 in the Royal Poinciana conservatory, an octagonal pavilion connecting two wings of the hotel.

The Garden club waited to have its first formal meeting of the season until the president was there, and on Friday of this week it is to be held, with Mrs. McKinlock presiding. Mr. McKinlock, who preceded Mrs. McKinlock south, is now in Mexico City, but is expected to arrive in Palm Beach soon.

Maj. Elisha Dyer Hubbard arrived in Palm Beach last Saturday to open the villa in El Brillo way which he has taken for the season, and Mrs. Hubbard [Muriel McCormick] was to join him this week. Maj. Hubbard's sister, Mrs. Clarence Wadsworth of Middletown, Conn., has taken the adjoining villa and will arrive there soon.

Night Baseball Is Popular.

Mrs. McKay Le Roy, who returned in September from a summer abroad, again is at the Breakers for the winter, and her brother, who has resided in Paris for many years, also is in Palm Beach, where he has an apartment at the Biltmore near the hotel where his sister is stopping.

Mrs. Le Roy is a member of a group of ardent contract players and at the first duplicate contract tournament, held one night last week at the hotel, she won a prize.

Our correspondent writes that prize fights and wrestling matches continue to intrigue Palm Beach society, but that a new rival has entered the field of sports—baseball played on the Royal Poinciana field at night under great flares. Dog races at Belvedere Park also are popular and the opening of the racing season at Miami today will bring a new interest into resort life.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Klotz of Winnetka are among pioneer winter residents of Palm Beach who already are there for the season, occupying their house in the north section. Jesse Lathrop Moss Jr. of Lake Forest is another Chicagoan wintering there.

The Charles H. Chadwicks have opened their stunning modern residence, "Villa Today," but "Casa Manana," the junior William Wallers' Palm Beach residence, is not open yet, and their plans for occupying it this winter are not definite. Mrs. Waller thinks she will spend at least a week or two this spring there so that her sons, who are east at school, can join her there for their spring vacation.

Silverthornes Go to South Seas.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Silverthorne of Riverside have left for a three months' vacation in the South seas, where their son, Henry Silverthorne, has been searching for Polynesian relics and material for a book.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurance H. Armour, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Glore, and Mr. and Mrs. Kent S. Clow left last night to spend the week-end with the John Bordens on their plantation in Mississippi.

Mrs. James Simpson has arrived at the Clarendon hotel at Daytona Beach, Fla. She probably will remain in the south for about a fortnight.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. B. Furness of Stanmore Hall, England, have announced the birth of a daughter on Jan. 16. Before her marriage last March in Winnetka Mrs. Furness was Miss Phyllis Radford, daughter of Mrs. Hughes Radford of 1151 East 56th street. The baby is to be christened Diana.

The board of managers of the Junior league has cards out for a tea next Monday at 4 o'clock in the league's office at 619 North Michigan avenue.

Miss Marie Piamondon, associate director with Miss Mary Agnes Amberg of Madonna Center, writes that the tenth annual dinner dance to benefit the center will be held on April 29. The place for the dance has not been selected.

Tooth Troubles Often Start at Dinner Tables

Prevention Lies in Diet Rich in Vitamin D.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a new Saturday morning radio feature—will be presented weekly by Miss Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 9:45 next Saturday for Miss Meade's market chat.

BY MARY MEADE.

Once upon a time if Jimmy had a toothache the blame was laid on his own small shoulders. He hadn't brushed them enough, and, ergo, the holes.

Today mothers are discovering that the blame must not be shifted to Jimmy but is sitting ominously on the dining room table! For, according to recent extensive studies carried on by Dr. R. Gordon of West China Union university, sound teeth have been proved to be primarily a matter of correct eating, and tooth decay [dental caries] to be caused chiefly by the lack of two essential food elements—phosphorus and vitamin D—in the diet.

Certain tribes in Tibet, for example, who live on a restricted diet, were found to have well preserved teeth. The eating of whole corn, which was an important article of their daily meals, gave them plenty of phosphorus, while their out of door life assured them a sufficient amount of vitamin D from its natural source, the sun. Tests have even been carried on in which certain representative groups of children were given additional vitamin D and as a result have tended toward a lessening of tooth decay, while other children who ate only the normal diet of the average child of today have had the usual dental difficulties.

Just where, then, are we to find these warriors against toothaches? Foods which give us good supplies of phosphorus are egg yolks, milk, meats, leafy vegetables, and the seeds, grains, roots and tubers. To fill the need of children especially, the diet should contain a quart of milk daily, eggs several times a week, a salad twice a day, a leafy vegetable at least once a day, and an additional amount of vitamin D daily.

Since vitamin D is not present in effective amounts in many of our foods, it is necessary to keep an eye out lest we are slighting it altogether. For in addition to helping out with sound teeth vitamin D builds strong bones, prevents rickets in children certain nervous disorders, and increases our ability to resist disease.

As I mentioned recently, the summer sun is able to supply those rays of light which can form the protective vitamin in our bodies. Fish oils, of course, give us our best sources of vitamin D. Cod liver oil is the one we know most about, and in either the liquid or the tablet form is an important health safeguard for grownups as well as children. A very little of the vitamin will be found in egg yolks and summer milk.

Noted Leaders Once 'Girls' in Harvard Plays

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Glimpses into the college careers of some of America's most prominent men today revealed they made youthful public appearances in ballet skirts or capered in some other rôle of the famous Harvard university Hasty Pudding club's theatricals.

A group of Harvard men have compiled "The Illustrated History of the Hasty Pudding Club Theatricals," a monumental volume covering nearly a century of the club's stage performances.

Among the earliest chorus girls and leading ladies of the Hasty Pudding productions were Thomas W. Lamont, '92; Bishop Rhinelander, '91; George Santayana, '88, and the late Episcopal bishop, Phillips Brooks, '55.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, '61, recently retired from the U. S. Supreme court, appeared, a playbill in the volume revealed, as A Respectable Gentleman in "Othello" in 1861, and a little later as Sergt. Dam-Me in "The Lady and the Lions."

Richard Washburn Child, '03, former ambassador to Italy and noted author, played a Fakir from Boston in one show. Gaspar G. Bacon, '08, now lieutenant governor of Massachusetts, appeared as the leading lady in "The Lotus Eaters" in 1907, and William Tudor Gardiner, '14, until recently governor of Maine, played the part of an American general in 1913.

Hasty Pudding shows gave, in some instances, a chance to some to indicate their future talents, as, for example, John Alden Carpenter, '97, noted American composer, who wrote the music for two operettas given in his undergraduate days. Edward Burlingame Hill, '94, and Daniel Gregory Mason collaborated on the music for "Granada," the production of 1894.

John Pierpont Morgan, in 1889, acted as one of the business managers for "The Duennas, or the Freak, the Frump and the Friar."

Some of those who wrote Hasty Pudding plays included the late United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, '71; Barrett Wendell, '77; Owen Wister, '82; Alanson B. Houghton, '86; former ambassador to Germany and England, Winthrop Ames, '95, and Robert E. Sherwood, '18.

Pick Winners in Eighth H. S. Chorus Tests

Glee Clubs Give Excellent Performances.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

In the eighth annual competition festival of the Chicago senior high school choral groups, the most enthusiastically contested and best performed of the series, at Orchestra hall last night, winning positions in six classifications were thus awarded:

1. Girls' glee clubs of less than thirty-six members, Calumet, Margaret Blood, director, competing against McKinley.

2. Boys' glee clubs of less than thirty-six, Austin, Hazel E. Lloyd, director, tied Lake View, Hyacinth Glomski, director, for first prize, with Bowen, Marshall, and Parker as other entrants.

3. Girls' glee clubs of more than thirty-six, Schurz, Le Roy Wetzel, director, competing against Lake View, Marshall, and Morgan Park.

4. Boys' glee clubs of more than thirty-six, Schurz was again winner, with Mr. Wetzel as director, Austin Lane, and Tilden being other contestants.

5. Mixed choruses of less than 100 Austin, Hazel E. Lloyd, director, winning from Calumet, Lake View, and Morgan Park.

6. Mixed choruses of more than 100, Roosevelt, Erhardt Bergstrasser, director, competing against Schurz.

The judges were D. A. Clippinger, Edgar Nelson, and Dr. A. A. Noelte.

There were about 2,100 participants in the six classes, some 500 more than the total seating capacity of Orchestra hall. It meant that the various groups had to be assembled and placed with uncommon skill, some back of the stage, some in the rehearsal rooms of the basement, several groups at a time in the second floor foyer, some awaiting their call in adjoining buildings.

Seldom, however, has there been a contest of such dimensions run off more smoothly. No particular attempt was made at military formation, yet each group was in its place, moving toward the center of proceedings in an entirely orderly and efficient manner. As soon as one group finished and while it was leaving through the left door of the stage another was entering through the right door and taking its place. Thus there was no delay and no confusion.

Alexander Sebald's string quartet, an organization presenting a high order of chamber music in a learned and seemly fashion, appeared at Kimball hall last night. As a special number Brahms' Quintet, opus 111, which calls for an extra viola, was played, and David Sheinfeld appeared as guest artist in the forces. The other numbers were Smetana's "Aus meinem Leben" and Mozart's Quartet in C, No. 17. The organization was in excellent form, playing with fine tone and the best of expression.

The Sunbeam league will hold a bridge tea at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Stevens hotel.

Events on the Stage

A revue called the "Ziegfeld Memorial Follies," containing the most notable musical numbers and comic sketches from the many "Ziegfeld Follies" of the past, will be staged in Chicago during the period of a A Century of Progress exposition by A. C. Blumenthal, who is managing the theatrical interests of the late impresario's estate on behalf of his widow, Billie Burke Ziegfeld, and her daughter, Patricia. Ned Wayburn, who was the stage director of a number of "Follies," will organize and direct the show.

Candidates for the chorus of this production will be given auditions on Tuesdays and Fridays, at noon, in the Auditorium theater, where the Ziegfeld revival of "Show Boat" is now in performance. George Hirst, musical director, and Herbert Burns, stage director of "Show Boat," will pass on the applicants. The requirements are beauty of the Ziegfeld standard and ability to sing and dance.

"Dixie on Parade," a revue by a company of Negro entertainers, will begin an engagement at the Garrick theater on Jan. 29. Lee Dixon, a white impresario, sponsors the production. The troupe contains Jennie Dancer, Bud Harris, Bert Howell, Paul Harris, Jenkins & Jenkins, Eunice Wilson, the Brown brothers, and Ed Carey's band. C. C.

SAVES $3.60 A WEEK DOING OWN WASH THIS EASY WAY

ONE Boston woman has found an easy way to fight the "depression" problem in her household. She is saving $3.60 every week by doing her own wash. She says that the $14.40 she saves monthly this way pays for at least 7 days' food.

She never did her own wash before, but she says it's easy the Rinso way. She doesn't need to scrub or boil. Rinso soaks out dirt and the clothes come 4 to 5 shades whiter.

Millions of women are now doing their own wash and saving money with Rinso. Not only does it save on laundry bills, but it makes clothes last 2 to 3 times longer than if scrubbed on a washboard. For by gently soaking out dirt, Rinso saves the wear and tear of washboard rubbing.

Rinso is an unusually economical soap. Cup for cup, it gives twice as much suds as lightweight, puffed-up soaps. Women everywhere are using it for dishes, too—and for all cleaning. A little Rinso goes so far—and it's so kind to the hands.

Try Rinso Free

If you never have tried Rinso, send a clipping of this offer with your name and address to Lever Brothers Co., Dept. T 76, Cambridge, Mass. A full-sized package will be sent you without cost.

FOLLY ISLAND

By Wallace Irwin

SYNOPSIS.

Bart Burgess is marooned in a cutboat on Peconic bay, fifty miles from his Long Island home in Wyattville. His companion, Ingalls Frederick Warren, spoiled child of a new made fortune, knows as "Nosey Ingy," rows over to a town for a carpenter. A girl in a red canoe comes along and invites Bart over to her family's island, but her small brother says their mother would have a fit. Bart senses a family secret. Ingy sends help and taxies home. Mr. Davis, the carpenter, tells Bart the Bayleys have lived on the island fifteen years, but don't mix.

INSTALLMENT IV.

AN ENCHANTED HOUR.

"Folks around here say that Hen could tell you about the Bayleys," Davis continued his story. "Nobody else can, especially since Mrs. Bayley put them police dogs all over Hare island. From the airs them folks put on you'd think they was Southampton millionaires instead of squatters living in an old houseboat."

A pleasant mystery for an idle hour.

"Who's Bayley?" asked Bart.

"Some kind of traveling man. He ain't here much." Davis tinkered with a bolt. "Pleasant spoken feller, that Bayley."

"But where did they come from?"

"Search me. Alice was a baby when they came here." Mr. Davis cupped his hands around his mouth. "Hey, Ab! hurry up and help me take down this rudder. We'll have 'er over to the shop by the time the funeral's done."

With nothing in the world to do, Bart went out to the end of the wharf and lay down on the float; he was sinking into a fuzzy doze when a chuckle of water and a gentle tremor running along the platform caused him to sit up sleepily, then jump wideawake, for the red canoe lay against the float; a small brown hand was close to his.

"What did you do with brother Ben?" "Oh, he wanted to fish, and I didn't want to—sort of."

"You certainly do rest in the funniest places," laughed the girl in the red bathing suit.

He got on his knees, helped steady the canoe, and in that ridiculous pose faced her merrily, eye to eye.

"What did you do with Brother Ben?"

"O, he wanted to fish, and I didn't want to—sort of." Then, with a look that was bright with fleeting hope, "Is Mr. Davis going to be long fixing your boat?"

"Forever," he said, excited by an idea. "What shall we do in the meantime?"

Her strange, beautiful eyes slanted toward him. She was making up her mind about something. . . . There was sudden rebellion in her look, bright mischief and a flash of temper.

"I don't care. Mother's perfectly ridiculous sometimes. I know it's horrid of me——"

"To invite me over to Folly island?" For so big a man Bart was light on his feet. It was one movement, his leaping into the canoe and taking up a spare paddle. But still she hesitated.

"Isn't this a special case?" she asked, worried.

"You bet it is. In case of shipwreck the laws of hospitality are reversed."

"They're always reversed in our island," she said, but not bitterly. There was an excited tinkle in her voice. With a spirited, independent shake of her dark head she dipped into the sea; the canoe shot along, rhythmic to the swing of two skillful paddlers. A wild exhilaration had hold of Bart, causing him to chuckle inwardly. With the prettiest girl in Brookhaven township he was stealing a march on an ogress, called Mrs. Bayley, who chose to keep her daughter on an island guarded by police dogs. What an adventure! Canoeing with Alice straight to Wonderland! . . .

They moved silently ahead, hypnotized by the beauty of motion. Her body was lovely when she swayed to the dip of the paddle; her neck was a proud little pillar of tinted ivory and her hair a garland softly laid upon it. Her father's island loomed bigger out of the sea.

"What were you saying?" she asked over her shoulder.

"I wasn't saying," he explained; "I was singing." Then he raised his voice and bawled:

"Glory-ous! Glory-ous!
One keg o' beer for the four-y us——"

"It's lovely," she rippled. "But what's the tune?"

"You'll never know—if I sing it."

"Well, maybe you'd better not now." She stopped paddling and assumed the rough voice of a sea captain. "Port a little!" she commanded.

"Aye, sir. And what's our port of call?"

"Dog cove." She was pointing to a deep cleft in the rocks. Then one of her sweet, free gestures indicated a high headland to the right. "We live over there. And that's not where we're supposed to go."

Again they were swinging into the rhythm, speeding now, enjoying a guilty sense of flight. Then the beauty of Folly island burst full into view: rocky buttresses of brown and purple, fronded above with rank green vegetation; a tropic illusion, out of place in these northern waters. And here he was to spend an enchanted hour with a girl he had never heard of until this morning, might never see again.

Below them the sand was the color of honey, spread like a cloth from water edge to rocks. Bart and Alice were sprawling on a bowider in the shade of rock pines which hung Japanesque over the water. It had been an adventure getting there. Laughing, racing behind her up the steep trail, he had realized that she was rather tall for a girl. Then, with a shout, not loud, but free as a bird's cry, she had mounted the path through young sumac and wild grapevine. Like a goat she ran. Or what more poetic thing? A bird of the forest? A fanciful creature, half deer, half sprite? Her brown face mocked him, laughing down through foliage. Her sudden music filled the grove.

"Daddy and I always take this on the run," she said.

Stealthily, like marooned voyagers evading cannibals, they stole through the uplands. Alice showing him the grassy places where quail could be beaten up in the fall and the high trees where crows built their rough homes out of shotgun reach. "Daddy loves to shoot," she explained excitedly. "It's funny about him. He hates to hurt anything, but he's perfectly vain about his marksmanship. He never misses."

"My father's that way, too," said Bart.

"Really?" She was all animation, her cheeks bright as peonies. "Daddy's a natural sportsman, and when he comes home we have a regular field day. He used to be the best swimmer in the family. But last year I beat him. He says he's getting old and has to slow down. Did you ever hear such nonsense? He's only fifty, and just like a boy."

KING

Mother of His Best Gal Seems Antagonistic

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Ben" tells of his love for a 21 year old girl and of hers for him. He's 22. The girl is an only child. Her parents were once well-to-do—but not now. "Ben" plans on marrying the girl in another year or two.

The girl's mother tells "Ben" her daughter is foolish keeping company with a boy not well-to-do, the girl being beautiful, clever and all that.

"'Instead of your mother encouraging me,' I told the girl, "Ben" says, 'she is discouraging.' And the girl remarked that is the way all mothers are."

"Are they?" "Ben" wants to know.

Well, many of them are! But their motive often is not so mercenary as it sounds. It's protective. It's indulgent. It's wanting to see the girl escape the trials and tribulations they themselves have experienced. But it isn't anything to stop a good romance, the young folk willing.

It's one of the older generation prejudices that should be waved aside; laughed at with the beautiful confidence of youth. It would be just too bad for the world did mothers have their way about gilded cages for their daughters.

The great majority of them don't, however! And they fall in line with the poor but ambitious young husband after the knot is tied. So, "Ben," you mustn't mind their little idiosyncrasy! Just tell the girl's mother to watch you! That some day she'll see that beautiful girl of hers in the setting to which she was born! And mom, herself, if she behaves, might be thrown a diamond tiara into the bargain!

These moms aren't hard to get around in spite of their seemingly hard boiled talk. They're just a little tired with all the struggle of rearing their girls to the state of desirability that's won you, "Ben." They may be just aching for a little appreciation. But you never thought of thanking her for fashioning the charming girl for you. Try it, some time!

Child's Days Should Be Calm and Uneventful

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Parents are wondering, questioning, weighing seriously this whole matter of modern entertainment for children, which is developing to a rather alarming degree. There are the movies, where they sit and look; the radio, where they sit and listen, and the comics, where they sit and read. Things are done to them; they are not doing things.

And as we question whether we are on the right track or not it is interesting to hear what Bertrand Russell, the philosopher, has to say on this subject in his book, "The Conquest of Happiness." ". . . Modern parents are greatly to blame in this respect; they provide their children with far too many passive amusements, such as shows and good things to eat, and they do not realize the importance to a child of having one day like another except, of course, for somewhat rare occasions.

"The pleasures of childhood should in the main be such as the child extracts from his environment by means of some effort and inventiveness. Pleasures which are exciting and at the same time involve no physical exertion, such, for example, as the theater, should occur very rarely. The excitement is in the nature of a drug, of which more and more will come to be required, and the physical passivity during the excitement is contrary to instinct. A child develops best when, like a young plant, he is left undisturbed in the same soil."

And then comes the provocative sentence which really prefaces this paragraph but which I will put last: "The capacity to endure a more or less monotonous life is one which should be acquired in childhood."

Children who can make their own pastimes (given proper implements, of course) are those who will find most happiness in life, who will be able to adapt themselves to their environment and will develop the resources within themselves. We all know the parents who, wanting their children to be happy, give them money for movies or take them themselves, who keep the radio turned on all the time for their entertainment, and in an honest effort to do their best for their children jazz up their lives until the children are incapable of amusing themselves.

* "We have spent More Money in the Chicago Tribune than in any other Newspaper in the United States"

386 FOURTH AVENUE
New York City, N.Y.
November 28th 1932.
OFFICE OF HENRY WATTERSON FLEXNER
Mr. W. E. Donahue, Adv. Mgr.
Chicago Tribune
Tribune Tower
Chicago, Ill.
Dear Mr. Donahue:
For the past five years B. T. Babbitt, Inc. has concentrated its Chicago advertising expenditure in the Chicago Tribune; in fact, we have spent more money in the Chicago Tribune than in any other newspaper in the United States.
This decision was made because of the vast market potential of the Chicago territory and the fact that no other Chicago newspaper could give us equal dominant circulation and sales influence in metropolitan Chicago, plus effective merchandisable coverage in that portion of the great Chicago Market which lies beyond those boundaries.
Bab-O is made especially for bathroom enamel and porcelain but it is also used by housewives in the pantry, kitchen and all over the house. Our Bab-O sales are to the middle and upper grade homes.
Naturally during these five years we have had severe competition, especially from trade-mark products selling under the Bab-O price. Nevertheless, our sales on Bab-O in the Chicago zone have steadily increased year after year.
Very truly yours,
B. T. BABBITT, INC.
Henry W. Flexner
Director of Advertising.

BAB-O
FOR ENAMEL AND PORCELAIN
MANUFACTURED AND GUARANTEED BY
B.T.Babbitt, INC.

WHEN a company like B. T. Babbitt, Inc. appropriates more advertising dollars for the Chicago Tribune than any other newspaper, they are satisfied it is a justified decision.

These famous makers of Bab-O know the Chicago market. They know its tremendous consuming power. They know its distributing facilities... the viewpoint of its merchants ... the nature and extent of its suburbs. And they also know Chicago newspapers.

Note, then, the preference for the Tribune disclosed in the letter from Henry W. Flexner, Director of Advertising of this successful company.

In 1927 ... the first year in which B. T. Babbitt, Inc. used any volume of lineage in Chicago newspapers ... this concern ran less lineage and spent less money in the Tribune than in any other Chicago paper. The following year they invested nearly twice as much in the Tribune as in any other Chicago newspaper. And in the past five years they have placed $35,249 more advertising in the Tribune than in all other Chicago papers combined.

The sales objective on Bab-O requires the greatest possible coverage of Metropolitan Chicago ... and it also necessitates thorough coverage of those thriving adjacent cities that look to Chicago for commercial leadership.

In Chicago and suburbs the Tribune has 191,000 more daily circulation than any other newspaper. It reaches better than one out of two families in Metropolitan Chicago. In the better grade districts and suburbs alone, the daily circulation of the Tribune is practically as large as the total circulation of any other Chicago daily newspaper.

The Tribune is not only first in such typical city districts as Rogers Park, Hyde Park and Austin and in such suburbs as Evanston, Glencoe, and Oak Park but in addition it is the preferred metropolitan newspaper of over 170,000 leading families in the principal cities and towns throughout the adjacent territory beyond the suburban area.

The Tribune supplies advertisers with the greatest coverage of and influence on buyers of advertised merchandise. It is recognized by retailers as the most powerful sales influence in the Chicago market. And Bab-O salesmen, as do the representatives of scores of other manufacturers, report immediate results in merchandising and retail sales wherever the Tribune is circulated.

Regardless of how limited the operations of an advertiser in the Chicago market may be, the Tribune delivers the lowest priced advertising space he can buy. The daily milline rate of the Tribune for 12,500 lines is 19.6% lower than the daily milline rate of any other Chicago daily newspaper. Even if the line rate for total circulation were to be charged against only city and suburban circulation the general daily milline rate of the Tribune is 4.4% lower than the rate of any other Chicago daily paper figured on the same basis.

If you want to get the most out of your 1933 advertising budget, write or wire the Chicago Tribune for the most pertinent information on Chicago business available today.

THOMAS SURE SENATORS WILL WIN PENNANT

Looks for White Sox to Improve.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Tommy Thomas, the talented right hander the White Sox sold to Washington for cash last season, came to town yesterday from his home in Baltimore to do some shopping and visiting and predicting. Following the vogue among ball players, which seems to be growing daily, Tommy settled the pennant race. It seems that Washington is going to win the American league pennant.

TOMMY THOMAS.

Thomas, like many others, believes the Senators were greatly strengthened by the winter trades and are the team to top the Yankees next year.

"Goslin and Schulte, along with Manush, will make us a great outfield, while Wally Stewart and Earl Whitehill will show some great left-handed pitching when backed by a team like the Senators," opined Tommy.

Sox Bear Watching.

"I was a little shocked to read that Earnshaw and Simmons had conceded the pennant to the Yankees. I don't belittle the power of the world champions, but they can be licked, as the Senators revealed in eleven games last year.

"Cronin is going to be a popular manager and he is not afraid of the Yankees, the A's or any of the other teams. The men I have mentioned are going to enjoy big success and Luke Sewell and Moe Berg will do plenty of good catching.

"Of course, I'll always be interested in the White Sox and I believe that they will have a better season in 1933 than they have had for a dozen years. Players like Simmons, Haas and Dykes can't miss and in the improved environment my old pal, Ted Lyons, may set the league on fire. And the Sox have several other pitchers who can win with some hitting."

Tommy Does Well.

Thomas, who was shipped by Fonseca in the hysterical and futile effort to successfully reorganize the team in mid-season last year, expressed the kindliest feelings toward Lew yesterday and said he was not among those who believe Fonseca will not survive the season as the Sox skipper.

Tommy has undergone an operation on his right arm since the close of last season and now says his trick elbow feels as good as new. Despite a kink in the joint Thomas had a good year after going to Washington. He was the only pitcher, incidentally, who was able to shut out the Yankees in nine innings. But even so Tommy didn't break the scoring run which still is unbroken, for Pitcher Charley Ruffing blasted a scoreless tie with a home run in the tenth to beat Tommy.

Thomas, who is a romantic fellow, expects to visit in Chicago for several days. He will return to Baltimore for a short time before proceeding to Biloxi, Miss., the Senators' training base.

GOMEZ WANTS MORE

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, left handed pitcher, who contributed 24 victories to the New York Yankees' American league championship drive last summer, believes his services are worth more than the $12,000 said to have been offered him in his contract for 1933.

Gomez joined Babe Ruth on the Yankees' list of official holdouts today by returning the papers unsigned. The reported sum is $1,000 more than the amount Lefty received last year. Gomez, Secretary Ed Barrow announced, was one of two pitchers offered larger salaries than they received in 1932. The other was Johnny Allen, who won 17 while losing 4 games. Barrow predicted today that Gomez would be signed after the customary conference.

"We haven't reached an agreement," Barrow said, "but there is not much difference between us. I do not think we will have any real trouble."

Gomez expected to leave Sunday for a short vacation trip to the Bahamas. He said no definite date had been set for his marriage to June O'Dea, musical comedy actress, to whom he is engaged.

SASSE DENIES HE SEEKS FOOTBALL COACHING JOB

West Point, N. Y., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Referring to press reports that he was seeking a position as football coach at Michigan State college, Maj. Ralph I. Sasse, former Army head coach, said tonight he had not been an applicant for such a position, nor does he intend to coach football in any capacity in the future.

Sasse expects orders from the war department within the next few months relieving him from his present duties with the second squadron, Tenth cavalry, stationed here, and detailing him for other direct military service.

RIPLEY TRADED BY HAWKS TO BOSTON FOR BILL BURCH

N.Y. Americans to Invade Stadium Ice Tonight.

Billy Burch, veteran all around hockey player who recently has been performing as a forward and also on defense for the Boston Bruins, will be in the Blackhawk lineup tonight when the Chicagoans meet the New York Americans at the Stadium. Burch was acquired yesterday in a trade for Vic Ripley, four years a Hawk, who has been incapacitated recently.

Burch is playing his eleventh season in the National league, but his first for the Bruins, who purchased his contract from the New York Americans last summer. He had been with the Americans for seven years.

He's Sprightly Gent.

Burch, who weighs 180 pounds, according to Hawk figures, still is a sprightly fellow despite his many years in the game and because of his versatility—he can play either wing, center, or defense—he is being hailed as a valuable acquisition. Record books give Burch's age as 30 and his weight as 200 pounds. The Hawks, nine points out of first place and seven out of third place in their division, sorely are in need of players who can do many things well, observers point out.

The Americans, Hawk foes of this evening, are proceeding at a rapid pace, and have not suffered defeat in their last eight games. The Hawks have not been able to defeat the Americans in three games this season, the results being a 1 to 1 tie, a 0 to 0 tie, and a 3 to 1 defeat for the Hawks.

Americans in 2d Place.

The New Yorkers are in second place in the Canadian division of the league and recent showings have indicated they will make it a tight race with the world champion Toronto Maple Leafs ere the season goes much farther.

Tonight's lineup:

BLACK HAWKS.		AMERICANS.

MIDWEST GOLF SET FOR APRIL 7-9 AT FRENCH LICK

Tom Heneage, director of the midwest amateur golf championship, announced yesterday that the second annual championship will be held at French Lick, Ind., April 7, 8, and 9.

The event will be three days of medal play, with prizes for A, B, and C classes. Chick Evans is the defending titleholder. An all expense trip similar to last year's is planned.

Paul Berlenbach Places an Ad—for Job as Chauffeur

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Buried in the "Situations Wanted" columns of local newspapers today was the following advertisement:

PAUL BERLENBACH, EX-LIGHT HEAVYweight champion, wishes position as athletic instructor with private family; will also act as chauffeur.

The ad tells the story. Paralyzing Paul Berlenbach, who battered down the world's best light heavyweights in his spectacular climb to the championship a few years ago, is broke and in need of a job. He retired from the ring worth $150,000.

Berlenbach's story is a familiar one—one of declining stock and bond values, lost property and dwindling cash. He was a good business man, but not good enough to buck the tide of reverses that followed the big blow-off of 1929.

In a modest three room flat in Astoria today, far from the palatial Pelham Manor mansion he moved into with his ring earnings, the one time Astoria assassin put his case simply:

"I'm broke, I'm bond poor, like a lot of other people. But why sell bonds that have depreciated from $1,000 face value to a market price of $8? So I want something to do to keep going. I'm 32 and I'm too old to fight or even wrestle any more. But I am not too proud to work."

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

EMIL FUCHS, owner of the Boston Braves, is contemplating twilight baseball in Boston, according to a recent dispatch to this department. The idea is a steal from the minor league cities where they have been trying for years to get the boys into the bleachers instead of the speakeasies by starting the game immediately after working hours.

EMIL FUCHS.

Mr. Fuchs has figures to support his claim that 85 per cent of the Braves' followers work days and are unable to get away for afternoon baseball. Which proves that he is an eternal optimist. In no other city in the United States do 55 per cent of the fans work, day or night.

We have observed no violent enthusiasm for the Boston suggestion on the part of other major league magnates. Possibly there are peculiarities about the Boston trade that are not to be found elsewhere. The idea certainly wouldn't click out this way. Chicago women never would agree to keep the dinner warm until hubby got home at 8 o'clock. How would they ever get to the theater in time to see their favorite actor in "Hearts Aflame"?

While the purpose of Fuch's suggestion is to increase attendance there are other financial possibilities that were not mentioned in the dispatches. The baseball magnates might find after the first twilight game that they had gone into the restaurant business. The well mustarded hot dog that goes over big in the afternoon might be entirely inadequate at the time a man is accustomed to eat his evening meal. The fan's appetite might easily develop into a craving for welsh rarebit, filet mignon, and tomato omelettes. Patrons could find time for desserts instead of taking part in the customary seventh inning stretch.

Reports persist that the time is not far distant when Michigan and Notre Dame will sign for a series of football games. The presence of Harry Kipke, Michigan coach, at the Notre Dame football dinner Monday night gave new life to the rumors.

Notre Dame and Michigan have not met on the gridiron since 1909. They have had contacts in other sports off and on for years, but the breach in football grew wider and wider because of personal differences between the late Knute Rockne and Fielding Yost. The coaching staffs are now on friendly terms and alumni of both schools have been trying to bring them together for a series that might easily develop into the greatest attraction in football.

Jesse Harper, athletic director at Notre Dame, who has added Purdue, Wisconsin, and Ohio State to the schedule in his two year régime, said there had been no direct move on the part of Notre Dame to arrange a game with Michigan.

"We are pretty well set for the next four or five years," Harper said, "but I feel sure we would find a place for Michigan if they wanted us as an opponent. The invitation must come from Michigan, however."

Competent football coaches may be scarce, but you can't convince Ralph Young, athletic director at Michigan State college. He has had 85 applications for the job vacated by Jimmy Crowley, who signed with Fordham two weeks ago. Most of them are from men with successful coaching records. Young predicts the list will grow to 150 if a selection is not made within ten days.

"There are three factions attempting to influence our decision," he said the other night. "One group wants us to hire a man of Crowley's ability and experience, provided there is one, and pay the salary that Crowley received this season. Another urges us to engage a young man with a fine reputation as a player who has possibilities of developing into a good coach. A third favors a man who has made a mark as a high school coach. Economy, of course, is the first consideration with the last two groups."

Young said that Charlie Bachman of the University of Florida was receiving considerable support for the position.

A New Way to Make Horses Run; Two Held

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 18.—(AP)—If what Detroit police suspect is true, followers of the ponies—as well as the ponies themselves—have received some shocks that were not in the form sheets.

With the arrest of Albert Frye and Joseph Sordman, police uncovered what they believe is a nationwide plot to clean up on race tracks by means of an electrical device enabling jockeys to deliver a galvanizing shock to lagging mounts on the home stretch. The device, one of which police said was in possession of the two men, fastens under an ordinary saddle and is operated by pressure of the jockey's knees.

Evidence that the device has already been successfully operated was believed by the authorities to lie in a cryptic telegram police said they took from Frye's pocket. The telegram was sent from New Orleans. It read:

"Four thousand dollars set for Detroit, New York, Chicago, and Boston. Charm taken care of."

Checking through race results, police discovered that a horse named Charm galloped home ahead of the field in a recent New Orleans race, much to the surprise of every one, and paid $19.50 for every $2 wagered. The race was won a few days after the date on the mysterious telegram.

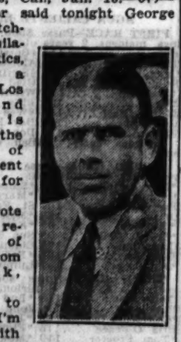
Authorities have communicated with police in racing areas to see whether they want the men held. They are also investigating the possibility that Detroit gamblers may be involved in the scheme. Police said Frye was a former horse trainer, but had been barred from the tracks.

Pitt Beats Carnegie Tech, 30-24, for 16th Time in Row

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 18.—(AP)—The jinx that the University of Pittsburgh holds over Carnegie Tech still camps on the doorstep of the Tartans, who tonight lost their 16th consecutive basketball game to their intercity rivals, 30 to 24. Not since 1927 has Tech beaten Pittsburgh.

Earnshaw Ready to Quit A's; Gets 75% Salary Cut

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 18.—(AP)—The Examiner said tonight George Earnshaw, pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, has written a letter to a Los Angeles friend saying he is about to quit the team because of a 75 per cent salary cut for 1933.



GEO. EARNSHAW.

Earnshaw wrote he had just received notice of the slice from Connie Mack, manager.

"It's next to telling me I'm not wanted with the A's this season," the pitcher continued, adding that Mack had declared, "He will take the cut or not play ball."

The letter hinted that another ace of the Athletics' pitching staff is to be traded or sold before the season opens.

CHEVIGNY SIGNS AS ST. EDWARD'S FOOTBALL COACH

Ex-Notre Dame Star to Be Director Also.

Jack Chevigny, former back field coach at Notre Dame, who last fall coached the Chicago Cardinals professional football team, has been appointed director of athletics and head football coach at St. Edward university of Austin, Tex., it was announced last night by the president of the university, the Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, C. S. C. Chevigny will take up his duties Feb. 1.

St. Edward's, established in 1881, is named after its founder, Edward Sorin. An accredited senior college of liberal arts and business administration for boys, St. Edward's has an enrollment of 500. It is conducted by the members of the Community of Holy Cross of Notre Dame. Chevigny is succeeding Al Sarafiny, St. Edward alumnus, as coach. The university is a member of the Southwest conference.

Injuries Handicap Team.

Chevigny, a graduate of Hammond, Ind., High school, played on the Notre Dame varsity in 1926, 1927, and 1928. During that time he was the varsity right half back and he was regarded by the late Knute Rockne as one of Notre Dame's greatest blocking backs. Following graduation Rockne kept Chevigny at Notre Dame to coach the back field. After Rockne's death, Chevigny became junior coach while Hunk Anderson was named senior football coach.

Last February Chevigny resigned and later accepted an offer from Dr. David Jones to direct the Chicago Cardinals of the National Professional Football league. Chevigny's professional team was seriously handicapped from early season by a series of injuries to its back field stars. Dr. Jones said last night he did not know who would replace Chevigny as coach of the Cardinals next fall.

No Successor Named.

"I am sorry to lose Chevigny, for I have the highest regard for his coaching ability," Dr. Jones said. "I understand that he has been offered a full time position with a salary which the club cannot afford to meet in our three months' season. Chevigny has the best wishes of the Cardinals in his new position."

ENGLAND ADDS TO MARGIN IN CRICKET MATCH

ADELAIDE, Australia, Jan. 19 [Thursday].—(AP)—England drew nearer to victory in the third cricket test match with Australia today as the Australian batsmen had scored only 186 runs for the loss of six wickets in their second innings at the lunch interval.

Starting with an overnight score of 120 for four wickets, the Aussies scored only 66 more this morning as two more wickets fell. This left them with a deficit of 345 runs to overcome by the end of the innings. The English team scored 341 runs in its first innings and 412 in its second for a total of 753 runs. Australia was retired with only 222 runs in its first innings.

GOLDEN GLOVES ENTRANT PROVES HIS STRENGTH

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—If Carl Galloway, 18, Golden Gloves boxing tourney entrant living at Newtown, near here, could make hand shaking a preliminary to his ring battling he ought to win a major share of his bouts. Miss Lee Howell, teacher in Crawfordsville High school, asked him if he were in condition for the tournament. "Here is how strong I am," he told her as he shook her right hand. Then he exerted pressure and broke three fingers and four bones in the hand.

Crane College Rallies to Defeat Valparaiso, 29-25

Trailing, 16 to 14, at the half, Crane college rallied in the second period to defeat Valparaiso, 29 to 25, last night on the Crane floor. Bauer scored 13 points for the visitors. Freeman clinched victory with a basket in the final seconds.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

MICHIGAN AND ROSE BOWL.

NEWSPAPER comment frequently has been made that Michigan executed an "about face" in its attitude toward Rose Bowl games this fall when the Wolverines were reported in a receptive mood for such invitation, and that supposed Michigan opposition to such trips by Purdue and Northwestern in the past was a factor in the informal poll taken on the proposition. Contributors to The Wake's "College Letter Box" voiced the same opinion.

FIELDING YOST.

Since these statements are said to misrepresent Michigan's past position, we tried while in Ann Arbor last week-end to obtain a statement. It was not deemed a subject warranting a statement.

Director Yost explained: "Of course, I did not vote against Purdue or Northwestern Pacific coast trips. I have no vote. It is the faculty board which decides, of which Prof. Ralph Aigler is our member. No vote on the question, so far as I know, ever was asked. That ought to end these outside rumors and innuendoes. In the conference family itself there is only harmony and good feeling."

To clear up the matter, Michigan's position this fall was obtained from another equally responsible source. Here it is:

Michigan made no official move toward having the Big Ten rule against post-season games waived. If it had done so, the trip undoubtedly would have been approved. The impetus came from the Big Ten organization of Los Angeles, which claims there are 10,000 Big Ten alumni on the coast.

That effort was directed to individual faculty members with request to mail their votes to Prof. Thomas E. French of Ohio State, chairman. That was not the usual manner of procedure and aroused some opposition. After pressure, most members expressed an opinion which was unofficially reported as standing 5 for and 5 against, if all voted.

Southern California was supposed to desire Michigan as an opponent if any definite assurance could be given. At the same time, Southern California did not wish to offend any other eleven by too long a delay. When Michigan declined to give assurance of permission for a trip or even a willingness to request official permission during a long distance conversation between Los Angeles and Ann Arbor on Dec. 1, two days before the scheduled conference meeting, Pittsburgh was invited to fill the date.

Michigan's board in control of athletics had approved the trip if permission were granted without request from Michigan. Even this action involved some difference of opinion over advisability, possibly owing to the handicaps which visiting teams must overcome to have equal chance of victory.

Michigan regards as unfair and unwarranted any statements that it in any way obstructed trips to the Pacific coast by any other eleven. It does not know that Purdue received such an invitation. If it did, it was not presented to the conference for approval. Northwestern lost its final game of 1931 to Purdue in the post-season charity contest, which marred its unbeaten record. So far as Michigan knows, Northwestern never sought an expression of opinion from the conference on a trip before its defeat. Michigan feels it is on friendly terms with all conference rivals, and discredits any rumors or reports to the contrary.

SCHEDULE FOR TODAY.

3 p. m.—Reiselt vs. Bozeman.
8:15 p. m.—Cochran vs. Thurnblad.

BY FRENCH LANE.

For a time last night down at the Wabash Avenue Recreation rooms it looked like Angie Kieckhefer's world's three cushion billiard crown had been knocked into a cocked hat.

He was playing his second game of the world's championship tournament. He had been beaten in his first start. He had played very bad billiards all through the early part of his second engagement. When his opponent, Tiff Denton, the tall fellow from the Ozark mountains country rallied in the 53d inning and went into a 37 to 36 lead the champion appeared to be crumbling.

Kieckhefer Fights Back.

Yet he didn't fall to pieces. In bulldog fashion he fought back at Denton and would go into the lead in one inning, only to lose it in the next. Then he started fighting all over again. They went into the 68th inning with the score tied at 45 each. Kieckhefer snapped back into his real stride. His cue carried its old time magic and as he waved it back and forth he clicked off a cluster of five to win the game, 50 to 45.

If Kieckhefer had faltered it would have all but eliminated him from the title struggle. He isn't any cinch to win it anyway for after the smoke of battle had cleared last night he still was down in fifth place trailing Clarence Jackson of Detroit, Jay Bozeman of Vallejo, Cal.; Welker Cochran of Manson, Ia., and Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo., who so far are undefeated. In the afternoon games yesterday Layton defeated Frank Scoville, and Jackson scored his second victory by beating Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago, 50-44.

0 2 1 0 2 0 3 1 1 0 1 0 0 1 0
0 1 0 0 2 0 0 0 1 0 0 1 0 2 0
0 3 2 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 5—50.
Innings, 68. High run, 5.

DENTON — 1 0 0 1 2 1 0 1 0 2 0
0 0 2 0 1 0 0 0 0 2 0 1 0 0 3
0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0 1 1 8 0 3 0
0 2 0 1 0 0 0 1 0 0—45. Innings, 67. High run, 6.

Layton, many times the world's champion, made a gallant start to regain the title when he swamped Scoville, the eastern champion from Buffalo, 50 to 8, in an afternoon tussle.

Starting with a run of eleven and maintaining a rapid fire attack which completely overwhelmed the easterner, Layton got a cluster of four in the 35th inning and ended the one-sided contest.

Johnny Gets Going Early.

Layton's play was spectacular from the time he started shooting. He made almost every difficult shot in the book when he clicked off his run of eleven in the first inning. He got another run of seven in the 20th inning and was then leading by a score of 36 to 4. He pulled away almost at the rate of a point an inning until he was leading, 46 to 8, in the 34th round. Then came his cluster of four in the 35th and the game was over.

Score by innings:

LAYTON — 11 3 1 2 3 2 0 0 0 1 0
0 3 1 0 1 0 1 7 1 0 0 0 2 4 0
0 0 1 0 2 0 0 4—50. Innings, 35.

1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—8. Innings, 35.
High run, 2.

Crowd Cheers Thurnblad.

The crowd turned out to cheer Thurnblad and when he was dropped to the bottom of the heap and became the first player to suffer two defeats the spectators hardly knew what to think about it.

One for the Book.

Thurnblad came through with the most brilliant shot of the match in the ninth inning. Jackson had missed an around the table drive, but left his cue ball in the left hand corner of the bottom and side rails. Thurnblad's cue ball was about a diamond away from the same lower rail but in the middle of the table, while the red ball nestled snugly in the corner at the opposite end of the table on the right hand rail.

Thurnblad hit the side rail with his cue ball and then it went spinning into Jackson's ball. From there his cue ball traveled to the bottom rail, skipped across the table to the left rail and rolled just far enough to click against the red ball for the count.

Score by innings:

THURNBLAD — 200 100 002 003 100

FINISH THE RACE NO MATTER WHAT HAPPENS-JAFFEE

Champ Gives Seniors Tips for Silver Skates.

This is the ninth of a series of articles on ice skating by Irving Jaffee, holder of three Olympic championships and the world's professional title, designed to aid all entrants in The Tribune's Silver Skates Derbies, to be held at Garfield park Jan. 21 and 22. Jaffee won the New York Daily News' Senior Silver Skates in 1926, the Olympic 5,000 meter title in 1928, the Olympic 5,000 and 10,000 meter races in 1932, and the world's professional championship two weeks ago. He also holds the world's amateur record for the mile. Readers wishing to obtain any information on ice skating should send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Irving Jaffee, Chicago Tribune Sports Department, Tribune Tower.

BY IRVING JAFFEE.

If you are a senior entrant in THE TRIBUNE'S Silver Skates Derbies to be held at Garfield park Saturday and Sunday, whether it's your first race or your hundredth, you should pay close attention to the advice contained in this article. For you can believe me that the suggestions included here are from none other than Old Man Experience.

Too often I have suffered the consequence of making mistakes which have done everything but break my confidence and enthusiasm for the game. Let me say here and now that the girl or boy is foolish who does not realize that he or she can never stop learning, whether a beginner at skating or an experienced champion.

Even Champ Learns.

Taking myself as an example, I have competed in several international events and won titles, but am still willing to give my attention to any source of information that can help me to improve and perfect my ability. A couple of weeks ago, when I skated for the world's professional championship at St. Paul, I thought that after winning the Olympic championships in 1928 and 1932 and breaking a number of world's records I was a finished product on the ice. I soon learned differently, however, for I made a couple of serious mistakes in the first two races and lost both of them. Fortunately, I discovered and corrected these flaws before the balance of the six races were skated, and won all four of them and the title.

None of us is too old or too smart to learn, but be sure that in the learning, you accept information only from somebody who knows his business. It is just as harmful to receive poor advice as none at all.

Follow Good Man.

Seniors should check up on the field they will meet, set their minds on the boys and girls they believe will be there at the finish, and watch them closely at all times during the race. You should concentrate on getting a good start and should skate hard the first time around the track, to avoid any entanglements with other skaters, which always develop in a race where the field is large.

After you have gotten loose, get in line as near the front as possible and try to skate back of a good man whom you know won't stumble or skate awkwardly in front of you. Keep your hands clasped behind you as soon as you have gotten into action. It will aid you to skate more smoothly and to conserve your energy. Don't get in a jam or a pocket, for there's always the likelihood of tripping or falling when in close quarters. Stay as closely as you can back of the skater in front of you to break the wind. Save that excess energy for speed on the last time or two around, where you will need it most.

Get Up and Finish.

Do not under any circumstances take your mind off the race nor let any of the more experienced skaters talk you into forgetting about it. It's serious business, and you should concentrate on it until you are across the finish line. Skate hard until the last inch. I have skated in and seen events where a skater who appeared to be a sure winner in the last few yards either tired or fell.

There's always a chance that such an occurrence as this makes a race. If you are unfortunate enough to fall, get up and finish, for the next one might have the same hard luck. Wear heavy gloves in case you fall to avoid ice burns or cut fingers. Above all, DON'T GIVE UP.

CHICAGO DISTRICT PING PONG MEET OPENS TOMORROW

The third annual Chicago district ping pong tournament sponsored by the Central Chicago Ping Pong club will open tomorrow at the clubrooms, 169 West Madison street. The tournament closes Saturday.

Max Rushakoff, last year's winner, who won the Cook county table tennis title recently, will not compete. Chief contenders for the title appear to be Work, Pearson, and Fushimi. The Becker challenge cup also is at stake.

One of the leading entries in the men's doubles is the Pearson-Lewis combination. Miss Flossie Bassler will defend her Chicago district women's title. The public is invited, it was announced yesterday by Mark Lindquist, club secretary.

MARQUETTE U. ELECTS HALFMAN AND KRUEGER

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Roland J. Halfman, Fond du Lac, Wis., full back, and Arthur L. Krueger, Milwaukee, center, tonight were elected co-captains of the 1933 Marquette university football team at the annual gridiron dinner.

Twenty-five members of the 1932 squad were awarded letters.

Marquette's complete football schedule for 1933 was announced by Athletic Director Conrad M. Jennings as follows:

Sept. 30, Lawrence in Milwaukee; Oct. 7, Wisconsin at Madison; Oct. 14 (night), Mississippi in Milwaukee; Oct. 21, Michigan State in Milwaukee; Oct. 28, University of Detroit in Detroit, Mich.; Nov. 4, West Virginia at Morgantown, W. Va.; Nov. 11, Creighton in Milwaukee; Nov. 18, St. Louis university at St. Louis, Mo., and Nov. 25, Kansas State in Milwaukee.

PHILLIPS RETAINS PREP LEAD WITH 26 TO 19 TRIUMPH

Wendell Phillips' heavyweight basketball quintet strenghtened its hold on first place in the central section of the Chicago Public High School league yesterday by defeating Hyde Park, 26 to 19, on the losers' floor. It was Phillips' fourth straight victory.

Phillips jumped into an early lead on baskets by Giles and Mitchell, and led at the half, 12 to 3. Hyde Park rallied in the early part of the second half and captured the lead, 13 to 16, only to fall behind in the closing minutes.

Tuley administered a double defeat to Harvard's quintets. In the heavyweight game Tuley won, 28 to 19, while the lights triumphed, 24 to 3.

Phagan Seeking 4th Pro Victory Against Schuman

Johnny Phagan, 1932 international Golden Gloves welterweight champion, will seek his fourth victory in five professional bouts against Harry Schuman of the west side at the Cicero stadium tomorrow night. The match is set for six rounds at 150 pounds. Phagan has won from Hamburg Wiskany, Harvey Carothers, and Herb Peterson and was held to a draw by Solly Dukelsky.

Dukelsky lost to Schuman at Sparta stadium last summer. Schuman has lost only one bout in 31. He whipped Clifford Greenwood at the Coliseum two and a half months ago in his latest battle.

Phagan finished boxing yesterday at Kid Howard's gymnasium. He sparred three rounds with Ray Trambis, Rockford, Ill., middleweight, who meets Joe Mendoza of the south side in another six rounder on the card. Schuman boxed two rounds with Tommy Atkins at Trafton's gymnasium.

Following his first card at White City on Jan. 30, when Frankie O'Brien and Kid Leonard meet, Promoter Pep Kerwin plans to present shows twice monthly. He is attempting to match Eddie Gill with Bud Saltis in the semi-final.

Charles Hall, head of the Coliseum Athletic club, said last night that the club's next show probably will be presented next month. The Coliseum will not be available for bouts until then.

Barney Ross has turned down offers to box Eddie Anderson at the Washington Boulevard Masonic temple on Feb. 6, and Andy Callahan at Boston, Jan. 30. He will meet Johnny Datto at Pittsburgh on Jan. 30 or Feb. 6.

Billy Townsend, Vancouver, B. C., junior welterweight, drilled yesterday at Trafton's gymnasium with his featherweight stablemate, Allen Foster. They arrived with their manager, Jack Allen, to box at the Chicago Stadium.

Joe Triner's resignation as a member of the Chicago Stadium corporation's board of directors, effective as of Jan. 2, was announced last night. The move was made by Triner in anticipation of his appointment as a member of the Illinois Athletic commission. The resignation was accepted at a meeting of the board of directors Tuesday. A new date for the Barney Ross-Billy Townsend contest, scheduled at the Stadium on Jan. 27, will be announced today.

AUSTIN TRACK TEAM DEFEATS ROOSEVELT, 33-21

KID CHOCOLATE HELD ON SHIP BY U. S. OFFICIALS

Key West, Fla., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Kid Chocolate, Cuban boxer, is being detained by United States immigration authorities here aboard the steamship Cuba, Deputy Inspector A. S. Caviness said tonight. The officer said he was not at liberty to make public the charge against the boxer.

Caviness said Chocolate would be given a hearing at 10 a. m. tomorrow before Isaac Smith, immigration inspector in charge of this area.

Chocolate arrived here aboard the Cuba today, Caviness said, and was prohibited by the authorities from leaving the boat. Neither the sheriff's office nor city police officials knew of the case.

Hialeah Track Opens 45 Day Meeting Today

Miami, Fla., Jan. 18.—[Special.]—Eighteen thoroughbreds, including many in the top flight as sprinters, have been named for the Inaugural handicap, 6 furlong dash, which will feature the opening of the Miami Jockey club's meeting tomorrow at Hialeah Park. Seven races will make up the program and the veteran Mike Hall will attempt a comeback in one of the lesser events, the Gen. Robert E. Lee purse.

Joseph E. Widener, chirman of the board of the Miami Jockey club, is on the ground and plans to remain for the duration of the meeting as in recent seasons.

Offer $300,000 in Prizes.

In all there will be $300,000 in stakes and purses to be distributed to horsemen in the forty-five racing days between now and March 11. The final day of the meeting will see the running of the $10,000 added Florida Derby.

The Inaugural handicap tomorrow carries $2,500 in added money and is for 3 year olds and upward. The top weights of the field have accepted the imposts and few scratches are looked for, since the weather is clear and the track fast.

Mr. Sponge, a gelded son of Luke McLuke, which has been one of the foremost sprinters on the eastern tracks for several seasons, will bear the colors of Mr. Widener and is top weight of the field with 126 pounds. His nephew, George D. Widener, has a formidable entry in Hi-Jack, Blackmock, and Finite, the first named weighed at 124 pounds.

Larranaga Gets 124 Pounds.

Larranaga, several times a stake winner in the Annal stable colors, also is assigned 124 pounds. The lightweights of the field, under 103 pounds each, are Blackmock, Jubilate, and Don Leon.

William Woodward, chairman of the stewards of the Jockey club, has Ormesby eligible, but it is possible that Ormesby will start in the race in which Mike Hall is entered. The Inaugural bears a strong eastern complexion, which is not surprising, since many of the best known stables from New York, Maryland, and Virginia are represented here. Included in the group are such owners as Mrs. Payne Whitney, C. V. Whitney, H. C. Phipps, Willis Sharpe Kilmer, William Ziegler Jr., Mrs. John Hay Whitney, the Wheatley stable, Marshall Field, and Robert L. Gerry.

However, My Dandy, 122 pounds, and Brown Wisdom with 112, both owned by A. C. Reichert, will uphold the hopes of the west. The former is a veteran which has surprised on many occasions.

ROW OVER FEES DELAYS REPORT ON RECEIVERS

But Lawyers Speed Up Inquiry.

BY AL CHASE.

Reasons for the two months' delay in the board of managers of the Chicago Bar association making up its mind about the first installment of the report by the receiverships and mortgage foreclosures committee, leaked out yesterday. It was learned that the report urges a maximum schedule of fees to be charged, which is considerably lower than the present haphazard method of charging whatever an attorney thinks his client will stand or what he thinks is equitable. This brought a roar of protest from certain members of the board of managers, who call a schedule unethical. Other members of the board are strongly in favor of the sub-committee's suggestion. And there the matter stands.

In this connection it was also learned from an official of the bar association that some one at last has succeeded in getting the inquiry from second into high, with the result that for the first time in nine months of weekly and sometimes semi-weekly inquiry at the Bar association by THE TRIBUNE, a definite date for the completion of the whole report was announced.

This official stated that it has been promised by Feb. 1. Despite the fact that the board of managers after two months arguing, can't yet make up its mind regarding the one part of the big report, concerning fees, this informant optimistically declares it'll take "not over ten days" to approve the complete report for publication.

Demand Starts Action.

The board of managers, it is understood, not only disagree on the question of whether or not they should have a schedule of fees, but they differ on what a correct schedule would be if they have one. The reason the subcommittee's report on fees reached the board of managers of the bar association more than two months ahead of the other reports is because of a strenuous demand by the Fort Dearborn Mortgage company [controlled by the Chicago Title and Trust company, the First National bank, and the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company] that something be done to put the brakes on certain attorneys charging outrageous fees, by drawing up a schedule of charges.

Meanwhile, it also was learned yesterday that a terrific wallop at exorbitant receivers' fees is being considered by the subcommittee investigating that angle of Chicago's receivership and mortgage foreclosure mess. It has been suggested than an equitable fee for a receiver is the same amount of money that would be paid a first class real estate manager to operate the property.

It was pointed out to the sub-committee that in countless cases the receiver is merely a dummy so far as any actual labor is concerned. About the only work he does is to put in a bill, through a highly paid attorney, for an exorbitant sum of money.

Receiver Hires a Manager.

Figures obtained from court records on one of Evanston's best known apartments, the Hinman-Grove building, disclose exactly such a situation. It also shows where some of the money goes in reorganizing a bond issue. Fees allowed the Chicago Title and Trust company for the services of Chester R. Davis as receiver were $7,000, and Max L. Satt, attorney for the receiver, was allowed $7,250.

Against this total of $14,250 the receiver paid N. H. Hokansen, of Hokansen & Jenks, a well known and reliable real estate firm and former manager of the building, $175 a month and a commission for tenants. In other words, the receiver merely hired a realty man to do the actual work at a fraction of the amount he was getting as receiver.

In this case, if the receiver did the actual work and was paid as a legitimate fee the same sum a good real estate manager would get there would be a tremendous saving effected.

$30,000 Foreclosure Fees.

In the Hinman-Grove building, which was financed by a $685,000 Holzer bond issue, foreclosure was begun Oct. 28, 1930, by the Chicago Title and Trust company. Mr. Davis, as stated, was made receiver. The property was sold at foreclosure on Feb. 7, 1932, for $200,000, and the receiver was discharged Feb. 27, 1932.

Foreclosure fees included $30,000 for Pritzker & Pritzker, attorneys for the Chicago Title and Trust company, as trustee. A fee of $3,500 was allowed the Chicago Title and Trust company as trustee.

And in view of the recent criticism of master in chancery fees in the Northwestern university law school's report, published in the Illinois Law Review, it is interesting to know that Archie Cohen, master in chancery and precinct committeeman of the 29th ward, was allowed a fee of $9,812.85. In addition, of course, there were fees for the bondholders' protective committee, depositary fees, and other attorneys' fees.

McMahon Named Head of La Salle Street Cashiers

Allotment Plan Greatest Price Fixing Scheme

This is the first of two articles dealing with the domestic allotment farm relief plan. This article treats with the scope of the plan and its background. The second article will appear Saturday.

BY SCRUTATOR.

Whatever may be said in favor of or against the domestic allotment plan for farm relief, embraced in the national emergency agricultural act now before congress, it is apparent that the plan contemplates the greatest economic experiment tried by the United States government. It has no counterpart except in Russia.

Stripped of its mechanical provisions, the plan means that the federal government will attempt to regulate in more or less degree the production of several basic commodities. This regulation is to be accomplished by a system of bonuses and penalties, with the conforming producer rewarded from the proceeds of an excise tax to be paid by the consumer and the nonconforming producer penalized by loss of the bonus and lack of markets.

Control Millions of Acres.

Through the bonus on wheat the government would regulate to a considerable extent the use of 60,000,000 acres customarily devoted to that product, while through the bonus on cotton an additional 45,000,000 acres would be regulated. In addition, if the bonus on tobacco is adhered to several millions of acres would be regulated, and if the bonus on hogs is retained it would regulate production of some 44,000,000 animals a year and would have an influence on the 100,000,000 acres customarily devoted to corn raising.

Translated into money terms, the government would regulate production of commodities which represent a considerable portion of total agricultural income, which has varied in recent years between 5¼ and nearly 12 billion dollars. And to this extent it is a price fixing scheme designed to augment the income of agriculturists through taxing consumers.

Theory of the Scheme.

The theory of the domestic allotment plan is not complex. Its purpose is to restore the exchange or purchasing value of the specified agricultural commodities to their pre-war level. Roughly, a bushel of wheat or a pound of cotton, hogs, and tobacco would be made to have, via regulation of production and price fixing, the approximate exchange value for other commodities that they had in the 1910-'14 period. Some government agency would determine periodically how much production and what excise tax would accomplish this.

The background for the domestic allotment plan lies in the position of agriculture. Assuming parity between farm and other products between 1910 and 1914, what has been their course since? In 1915 and 1916 nonfarm products rose less than other commodities, but in 1917 and until the middle of 1920 farm products advanced faster than others. Since then, however, farm products have declined more than others.

Prices Drop 12 Years.

The result is that for twelve years the general level of prices has been unfavorable to agriculturists and the spread has increased until farm products now stand at about half of the pre-war level, while other commodities are slightly above pre-war level. For example, gross income of American agriculture for 1932 is estimated around 5 billion 240 million dollars, compared with nearly 7 billions in 1931, nearly 9½ billions in 1930, and nearly 12 billions in 1929.

Beyond the disparity in price movements of farm and nonfarm products is the fact that farm mortgages have been piling up for more than a decade and the farm tax bill has steadily mounted for more than two decades. Farm mortgages now are estimated to total around 9¼ billion dollars, with other farm debt nearly 3 billions. Moreover, the annual agricultural tax bill has mounted until now it is estimated not far from 800 million dollars.

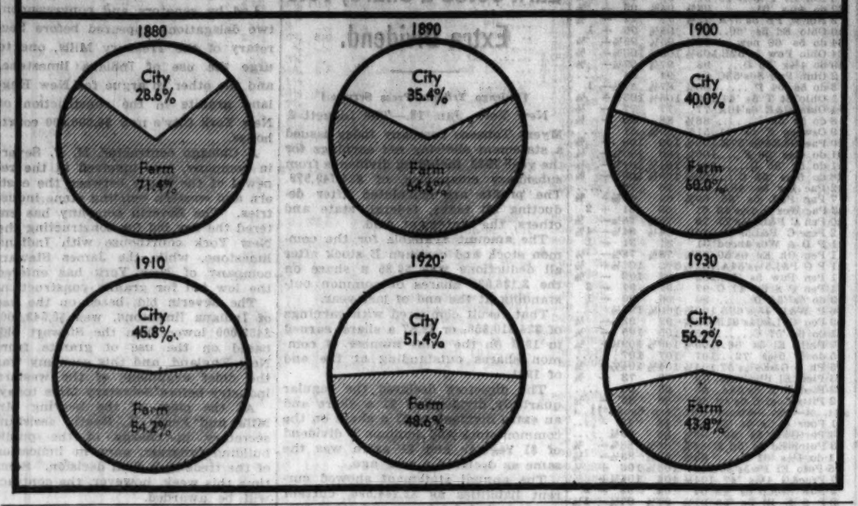
Distribution of Population Between Farm and City During Past Half Century



Motor Firm Lifted Out of Receivership

The Johnson Motor company, which ran into financial trouble early this year, has just emerged from a receivership. Last June the company, one of Waukegan's important industrial establishments, went into receivers' hands. A plan of reorganization was set up under which the company is being gradually restored to a normal basis. On Dec. 31 a federal judge approved the plan and the company was lifted from receivership.

The reorganization plan was accepted by creditors, bondholders, and stockholders. At a meeting of the stockholders recently H. G. Delabar, who, with F. E. Hummel, was a co-receiver, was elected president of the company, succeeding D. V. Stratton. C. P. Rossberg remains as secretary-treasurer.

The fiscal year of the company starts on Oct. 1, and Mr. Rossberg states that business during the period from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31, 1932, was better than in the like quarter of the preceding year. He says the company is making excellent progress in its outboard motor business, getting ready for spring delivery.

Jomoco, Inc., a subsidiary, is ready to start production on a new refrigerator unit, or cooling machine, at the Waukegan plant of the Johnson company.

UNITED FOUNDERS REPORTS GAIN SINCE MAY 31

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The United Founders corporation and its subsidiary, American Founders corporation, investment trusts, reported for the year ended Nov. 30, 1932, increased asset values over those of the end of last May 31, but sharply lower than those reported as of Nov. 30, 1931.

United shows, a consolidated net asset value for the common stock of 75 cents a share, against 52 cents a share on May 31, and $2.24 a share on Nov. 30, 1931. The American company had a consolidated net asset value of 22 cents a common share, compared with 7 cents on May 31 and $1.04 on Nov. 30, 1931.

The current market quotations, or fair appraisal where quotations were lacking, gave United's investments a total value of $35,373,316 on Nov. 30, and American's, $29,907,627.

GUARANTY TRUST PAYS $18,000,000 TO STOCKHOLDERS

New York, Jan. 18.—[Special.]—The report of the Guaranty Trust company today showed earnings during 1932 sufficient to cover dividends of $18,000,000 paid to shareholders and leave $936,000 over to be added to undivided profits.

William C. Potter, president of that company said in considering these earnings, it must be remembered, that $14,661,000 was taken frtm undivided profits in the course of the year and appropriated to reserve account.

16 Railroads Report Gain of 49,989 Revenue Freight Cars

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Sixteen leading railroads reported today a combined freight traffic increase of 49,989 cars last week, a gain of nearly 15 per cent over the previous week.

DEBTORS, FOOLED BY TRICK, TELL COLLECTOR ALL

Debtors have grown so reticent about giving information concerning themselves that one south side credit agency has resorted to a new trick. This was disclosed yesterday when the jury commission gave notice that it does not issue summons nor seek information about prospective jurors in this manner by telephone.

The commission has received fifteen complaints in the last two days from persons who had given information about themselves by telephone to a collection agency which had represented itself as the jury commission. The information presumably is used to garnishee wages of persons with unpaid debts. One call was traced to a "south side creditors' association."

"Summonses are issued formally," Commissioners W. F. Walkowiak and Col. Joseph H. Barnett said, "and any phone calls purporting to come from this office should be disregarded.

Coolidge's Thrift Lives On.

Calvin Coolidge's ideas on thrift are carrying on in the work of the National Transportation committee, of which he was the head. It is understood that the cost of the committee's report to the guarantors will be 60 per cent of the minimum amount originally estimated. The report will be issued in a few weeks.

Mystic Not for Profit.

The Mystic Order of Night Watchmen, whose incorporation papers were filed for record recently at the county recorder's office, is not a secret society of property protectors, James T. Kilcran, county map superintendent, reports. Its object is "to promote good fellowship and social intercourse among the officers and agents of the Continental Assurance company and not for profit."

GRIGSBY-GRUNOW WINS 'TRUST' SUIT AT NEWARK, N. J.

Newark, N. J., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Federal Judge Phillip Forman today directed a jury to bring in a verdict of "no cause for action" in the suit of the North Ward Radio company asking $750,000 damages from the Grigsby-Grunow company of Chicago.

The North Ward company's suit was a counter claim against the Chicago firm charging violations of the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust laws arising out of alleged restrictions placed on the distribution of radios.

Judge Forman said he granted the defense motion for no cause for action "with regret because of the industry that counsel have demonstrated in this case."

Chicago Retail Trade Makes Seasonal Gain

Retail trade in the Chicago area showed seasonal expansion last week and the interest shown in the special sales events of the leading department stores was greater than anticipated according to the weekly trade reviews. Favorable reports were also received from the wholesale houses, the reviews state.

"The normal January upturn is broadening appreciably and activities in a few important lines this week were noticeably ahead of last year," R. G. Dun & Co. says. "The physical volume of goods moved by the State street stores remained heavy. Sales through the retail outlets of the big mail order houses exceeded early January, 1932, dollar totals but these were offset by the continued decline in rural purchases by mail."

Favorable results were reported by the wholesalers, Bradstreet's stated. "The attendance of buyers for the seasonal and spring merchandise exceeded expectations, with purchases in all lines satisfactory. Prices on all lines of goods are holding steady, the textile industry being especially marked for activity in the steadiness of prices."

PUBLIC SERVICE OF NO. ILLINOIS MAY CALL BONDS

A block of the series G bonds of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois may be called to satisfy sinking fund requirements in place of open market purchases according to opinions expressed in financial quarters.

The bonds are now quoted at 105. They are redeemable at 102½ until June 1 next, after which the redemption price drops to 102. They are 5 year 6 per cent bonds.

Calling of a block would encourage holders to convert their bonds in the series H issue, which pay the same coupon rate and run for twenty years. it is said. Upon conversion the holders get cash at the rate of $50 for each $1,000 bonds.

U. S. FAVORABLE TRADE BALANCE IS $295,212,000

Means 2,000,000 Jobs, Says Chapin.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—United States foreign trade, valued at $2,940,542,000 during 1932, was the lowest dollar valuation on record since 1905, Secretary Chapin said today. The favorable balance was $295,212,000. His statement was made in connection with the publication by the commerce department of December foreign trade figures.

SECRETARY ROY D. CHAPIN.

Merchandise exports for the month were valued at $97,000,000, $7,466,000 less than those for November.

The year's exports were valued by the department at $1,617,877,000 as against $2,424,289,000 for 1931 and importations from abroad valued at $1,322,665,000 compared with $2,090,635,000 for the preceding year.

Notwithstanding these declines, however, Secretary Chapin made it clear that exports continue to be a vital factor in the nation's welfare.

Exports Not Small Item.

"Statistical evidence of this kind emphasizing greatly diminished foreign shipments, unless balanced by other factors, is likely to create distorted opinion and to add to the impression which seems to be prevalent in some circles that our foreign business has now reached the point of negligible consequence," Secretary Chapin declared. "One of the most important things we need in the United States today is more jobs for more people and above all else we need to keep the jobs we now have. Exports of $1,617,877,000 may appear small compared with the figures of 1928 and 1929, but after all something over a billion and a half worth of business, particularly during these times, is not to be ignored.

According to conservative estimates our exports in 1932 provided at least 2,000,000 American workmen with employment, out of a total of approximately 18,000,000 persons at work last year producing goods capable of being exported. In addition, there were about 1,250,000 persons engaged in activities supplying the daily needs of those directly employed. The two foregoing estimates do not include the number engaged in the clerical and mercantile phases of the export business proper, in warehousing, ocean shipping, banking, insurance and other related industries."

Cites Exports' Importance.

As an example of the increasing importance of export trade to many industries, Secretary Chapin pointed out that the proportion of domestic lumber production exported in 1932 was the highest since records were first compiled in 1869. Last year the lum-

Pick Co. Bids for Furniture of Blackstone

Possibility that the Blackstone hotel may be stripped of its furnishings was disclosed yesterday when a bid of $125,000 for the furnishings was submitted before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson by Albert Pick & Co., hotel furnishers.

The bid is $25,000 more than that recently made by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, which has taken over the real estate and the building itself in foreclosure proceedings on a $1,616,000 first mortgage. Albert Pick & Co. deposited $30,000 with a Chicago bank as proof of good faith.

Judge Wilkerson continued the hearing until tomorrow morning to give the bidders and the attorneys for the Metropolitan Life Insurance company and the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, which holds a chattel mortgage for $275,000, time to "get together and talk things over."

The Continental Illinois a few days ago rejected the bid of $100,000 offered for the furnishings by the Metropolitan, asserting that an appraisal showed that the chattels had a replacement value of $600,000 and an "auction" value of $158,000. Until yesterday, however, no other bid for the Blackstone's furnishings had been tendered.

Hotel Closed; to Reopen.

The hotel was closed two weeks ago for renovations, which, according to Edwin L. Brashears, will cost about $300,000. It will be reopened in time to take advantage of the Century of Progress business.

Representatives of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, whose chattel mortgage is also secured by a $500,000 second mortgage on the real estate, yesterday indicated that unless the Metropolitan would raise its bid the furnishings would be removed. Representatives of the latter asked for a day's delay to confer further with their officers in New York.

CHEMICAL BANK HEAD SEES SIGN OF IMPROVEMENT

Signs of an improvement in business sentiment were noted in the annual report of Percy H. Johnston, president of the Chemical Bank and Trust company, New York, on operations for 1932.

"People are beginning to realize that only by work, economy and saving can we right our condition," Mr. Johnston stated at the annual meeting of the shareholders. "We have been too prone to run to the government for help. We must return to the precepts of self-reliance and courage of our forefathers and work out our own salvation.

"The most important contributing factor to the return of better times is the necessity to live within our incomes; this applies with equal force to our nation, states and cities—their budgets must be balanced. We must abandon the fallacy that a small percentage of the population can supply the money to operate the government."

Reports Better Power Sale to Smaller Factory Units

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—More active operation of smaller industrial plants, the American Water Works and Electric company reported today, has enabled the company to hold its ins in power output. The company se'd smaller steel mills, glass factories, and textile concerns are operating more actively.

LIFE INSURANCE BUYERS CHECK POLICY BACKING

Receiverships Laid to Manipulation.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

The attitude of policyholders and prospective policyholders toward insurance companies has been greatly altered during the last few weeks by a number of spectacular receiverships, according to agents.

No longer can an agent do business merely by talking insurance. He now has to convince his customers that the particular company that he represents is all that it should be.

Up until a year ago it was the proud boast of the life insurance industry that never in forty years had a policyholder lost money on insurance taken out with a legal reserve life insurance company.

Some Advertised Soundness.

True, some companies had special arguments designed to convince the public of their soundness. One, for example, advertised a "farm mortgage behind every policy."

The big sales talk, however, was almost invariably insurance as an institution. The agent sought to convince his prospective client that he needed insurance, usually following up with the suggestion of a certain type of insurance especially suitable to the case.

Policyholders began to interest themselves in company affairs about a year ago. This was reflected in increased curiosity on the part of the agents. At company conventions officers adopted the policy of having one address analyzing the company's financial condition.

The recent string of receiverships has intensified this interest. Policyholders in large numbers are demanding information about their companies. This quest for financial facts has been reflected in the insurance inquiries received by THE TRIBUNE Investors' Guide department, where requests for insurance company data are now running about fifteen times as heavy as two years ago.

Most Answer Inquiries.

Most insurance companies have been quick to meet the new demand for information, and their replies have been reassuring.

One disinterested authority on the subject of insurance yesterday made this observation:

"Life insurance company failures during the last year have all been due to deliberate manipulation of one kind or another. I do not say manipulation contrary to law, but manipulation nevertheless.

"No company has failed simply because of ordinary bad business judgment."

Insurance experts point out that the well run company has nothing to fear from increased public skepticism. Its job, they say, is simply to show the inquirer plainly that the weaknesses that upset the failed companies do not exist in its financial set-up. These weaknesses are not hard to recognize.

The weakness of the Illinois Life Insurance company, they point out, lay in the bad loans to companies in which officers of the insurance company were interested and in a too

DRAFT OF LENIENT BANKRUPTCY BILL READY FOR HOUSE

Measure Probably Will Be Introduced Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 18.—An emergency bankruptcy bill drawn along lines suggested by President Hoover to permit voluntary readjustments between debtor and creditor, is scheduled for presentation to the house tomorrow or Friday.

At the conclusion of an all day session, members of the judiciary committee stated that they have virtually completed a formal draft of a bill embodying the McKeown bill relating to individuals and corporations, and the La Guardia bill dealing with railroads.

Hope to Hasten Passage.

Members of the committee stated that a special rule to hasten the measure's legislative journey through the house will be sought from the rules committee. It was regarded as virtually certain that the rule will be granted, since the bankruptcy measure meets with the approval both of the Democratic and Republican house leadership.

House leaders freely predict the passage of the measure by a considerable majority, since it is backed not only by the regulars of both parties but likewise by the radical coalition controlled by Representative F. H. La Guardia [Rad., N. Y.].

Ostensibly a bill to revise the bankruptcy statutes to permit imminent bankrupts from the stigma of bankruptcy and the complete loss of assets, the measure is claimed to have as its broader aim a general scaling down of corporate, and particularly railroads, indebtedness. Under its provisions, corporations and railroads will be enabled to reorganize with permission of or at the instigation of their creditors, without going into bankruptcy proceedings.

Amendment Hits Banks.

At today's session, it was reported, the committee adopted two amendments, directed respectively at large banking institutions engaged in handling receiverships, and at the Interborough Rapid Transit company of New York, now bankrupt.

The first provides that receivers shall be "natural persons" and not corporations, except where the best interests of all concerned are involved, and would provide in addition that corporations cannot be receivers in a multiplicity of cases.

The second amendment provides that the provisions of the railroad section of the bill shall not extend to railroads owned in whole or in part, by a municipality.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil was quiet today with the undertone steady. Final prices were unchanged on active positions, notwithstanding the reaction in lard, cotton, grains, hogs, and cattle. Sales were only 3 contracts or 450 bbls. Bleachable spot closed 3.60c; January, 3.69c; March, 3.73c; May, 3.84c; July, 3.95c.

North American Aviation.

Kindly send me information regarding North American Aviation stock. —Mrs. N. A.

North American Aviation, Inc., was incorporated in 1928 to deal in securities of aviation companies. It is now a holding company. Operations are divided into the manufacture of precision instruments, manufacture of airplanes, and transportation. Business in the first two lines is primarily with the federal government.

Transportation is the company's most important activity. Its planes carry passengers, mail and express along the Atlantic seaboard from New York to Miami. The company owns a 72 per cent interest in Intercontinent Aviation, Inc., which extends the line to foreign countries.

Loss of $197,000 was reported for the first half of 1932. This was before $51,000 loss on sale of securities. For the first half of 1931 net income was $540,000, or 26 cents per share. This included $84,000 profit on sale of securities.

Gross for 1931 was $2,185,000. Net loss, after $715,000 loss on sale of securities, was $413,000. This was on a consolidated basis. Net income for 1930, after profit of $242,000 on sale of securities, was $1,911,000, or 91 cents per share. This included consolidated operations of wholly owned subsidiaries only. For 1929 net income, after $669,000 profit on sale of investments, was $1,909,000.

In 1931 the stated value of the common stock was reduced from $12.50 to $5 per share, and the difference transferred to capital surplus. From this account was deducted $12,428,000 to write down holdings of listed securities to market value.

On June 30, 1932, current assets [not including marketable securities] were $4,970,000 and current liabilities were $428,000. Working capital was $4,542,000, against $4,986,000 the year before. Securities held included listed securities of companies engaged in allied businesses, carried at $2,395,000 [market value], and other securities [valued at not more than market] were $262,000.

There are outstanding 1,996,778 shares of $5 par common. There is no funded debt. No dividends have yet been paid on the stock.

A Small Investment.

Is there any way to purchase a small United States government bond, such as $20 or $50, without having to pay brokerage charge?—T. R.

Your best procedure would be to deposit your funds in a postal savings account. These rank equally with United States government bonds as to security. It would not be practical to purchase actual bonds with the small amount you contemplate investing.

TALK OF MORE TAXES DRIVES STOCKS LOWER

Tobacco Group Holds Up in Leisurely Selling.

BY FRED HARVEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 18.—Various items in the day's news combined to irritate the share market. Word from Washington that a new tax law is a likelihood of the present session of congress for all the promises of economy, fresh heaviness in wheat and cotton, the slash in midcontinent crude prices and the midweek steel reviews all had their effect in depressing speculative sentiment.

Price declines of from a fraction to around three points were the rule on the stock exchange. Except in the chain store and mail order department, where considerable pressure was in evidence, the selling was at a leisurely pace without particular discrimination.

Tobaccos Do Better.

Tobacco issues did rather better than the mill run average as a group, being bolstered by the good earnings report of Liggett & Myers and the maintenance of the corporation's extra dividend. Liggett & Myers B moved against the trend for a fraction and American Tobacco and Reynolds issues offered stout resistance to such selling as came their way.

Railroad shares gave way easily in spite of figures indicating a sharp increase in traffic last week in comparison with the previous week. Atchison, New York Central, Union Pacific, Delaware and Hudson and others of the division gave up from 1 to more than 2 points.

Lowering wheat prices cost Case $1.50 a share and drove International Harvester down after the group leader. Mail order issues also had to take a little punishment on this score.

Store Shares Drop.

Merchandise shares were generally out of favor as they have been for the last several sessions or since the failure of the McCrory stores and the receivership for the McClellan chain. Woolworth was a shining selling target and was hooked for nearly 3 points. Poor earnings by the company was this stock's extra burden. Another store stock to get a rough deal was Macy's. Reports of declining profits were likewise used against it. The setback of the some time favorite amounted to 3¼ points.

Oils as a group were not greatly upset over the midcontinent crude price cut.

A dispatch from Austin that the Texas legislature might double the state's tax on sulphur brought selling into Texas Gulf Sulphur, but the offerings were readily absorbed and the issue fared no worse than a majority of its fellows. Trading was at about the same pace as yesterday.

BALDWIN MAKES EXCHANGE OFFER TO NOTE HOLDERS

In accordance with the provisions of a plan approved by stockholders, the Baldwin Locomotive works is offering to holders of the company's $12,000,000 three year 5½ per cent notes in exchange for their notes, which mature March 1, 1933, a new issue of 6 per cent consolidated mortgage bonds in equal principal amounts.

In the offer of exchange the company states that because of existing conditions the maturity of the notes cannot be financed in the usual manner.

Each $1,000 of the new bonds will have a detachable stock subscription warrant entitling the holder, until Feb. 28, 1933, to subscribe at $5 per share for forty shares of common stock.

SHIPPERS FIND TRUCKS ARE NOT UNMIXED JOY

Cite How Such Transportation Reduces Prices.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The use of motor trucks in the transportation of fruits and vegetables has its disadvantages as well as advantages according to members of the National League of Commission Merchants, who are holding a joint convention with the Western Fruit Jobbers Association of America and the American Fruit and Vegetable Shippers association at the Palmer house.

The development of the motor truck has brought on a situation which is somewhat similar to that prevailing in the packing industry, one that is working to the disadvantage of the growers. H. H. Herr yesterday explained it as operating this way:

"Operators of motor trucks, for example, go through the Virginia orchard country and buy up second grade apples, which they carry to the Baltimore market. Their transportation costs are small and they are able to sell their apples to wholesalers at minimum prices.

How Grower Loses.

The orchard owner has been glad to market his second grade apples, but later he boxes his better grades and sends them to the Baltimore market. Here the effect of the cheap apples on the market is to cause a reduction in prices of the better grades, thereby entailing loss to the orchardist."

The same situation exists to a considerable extent in the live stock industry. Truck operators go through the cattle and hog districts, buying up the choice animals, which they take to local packing houses. The secondary grades are sent to the central market, where buyers refuse to pay top prices for inferior quality. As the central markets set the prices, the effect is that the prices established for secondary grades are quoted by truck operators when buying choice animals. Here again the grower suffers a loss.

Urge Transportation Post.

With this situation in mind the advisory board of the National League of Commission Merchants, under the chairmanship of L. J. Keach of Indianapolis, has suggested in its annual report that transportation be treated to include all subdivisions. The recommendation has been made that a secretary of transport be appointed to serve in the President's cabinet and that this secretary harmonize national policies respecting the various systems.

The convention as a whole today is to act on movement launched to have congress appoint a national advisory economic council, composed of college leaders in the field of economics, political theory, social movements, and foreign relations. It is proposed that the members serve without compensation.

The purpose of the council would be to guide congress on subjects of economic interest. For instance, it was pointed out, that possibly too much attention is given wheat and cotton in congressional planning, while vegetables and fruit, although producing a large gross, are given scant attention by the government.

GEN. AMERICAN TANK TO OPERATE ON ROCK ISLAND

A long time contract has been concluded by the General American Tank Car corporation with the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad company whereby it will take over the latter's refrigerator car service, according to an announcement made yesterday by Max Epstein, chairman of the board of General American.

Several thousand cars will be operated under the contract, according to Mr. Epstein. The territory covered includes a large part of the southwest and far west—over 8,000 miles of railroad operation.

EUROPE SELLS COTTON; MARKET CLOSES LOWER

Cotton was under pressure a good part of the day although there was a rally of around 10 points or more at one time, which disappeared at the last, and closing prices were practically the lowest of the day. Net losses in Chicago futures was 7@14 points with other markets off 9@15 points. Spots in New York dropped 10 points to 6.20c; New Orleans o 10 points to 6.10c; Galveston, 6.05c, and Houston 6.00c. Liverpool closed 3 points net higher and is expected to come 1@2 points net lower today. Professionals and cooperatives were the best sellers while the buying was scattered, mostly on trade account.

New Orleans reported a heavier movement to market, and port receipts were 46,431 bales compared with 49,146 bales a year ago. Exports on Tuesday were 28,678 bales against 27,478 bales last year. A leading authority reported no improvement in the export situation, bids being too low. Preparations for planting in the south are well along in Texas.

New York, Jan. 18.—Price movements in the bond market were mixed today. United government securities rallied somewhat from yesterday's depression, but the majority of domestic corporate issues receded to lower levels. German government bonds were a feature of strength in the foreign list.

Improvement in United States treasury bonds reflected a less certain attitude in Wall street concerning the probability of an early long term refunding issue. The view that the Feb. 1 maturity may be met through short term financing has gained ground as a result of recent price unsettlement.

German Bonds Advance.

The better tone in German bonds reflected the rally in German securities in London. Despite clouded political conditions, the Reich continues to show trade improvement. German exports for December were valued at 491,000,000 marks, which compares with 475,000,000 marks in December, 1931.

All divisions of the domestic corporation market tended to lower levels. Contributing causes are the fear of further modification of the reserve system's attitude toward government security holdings and the failure of business to show any marked improvement.

High Grade Liens Sag.

Sagging tendencies in high grade corporation bonds did not arouse any apprehension over the present level of prime issues.

No sharp reversal in money conditions is expected and the new issue market continues to absorb new offerings with ease. Yesterday's offering of $11,250,000 of Union Electric of Missouri bonds was quickly taken.

Speculative rail bonds as usual showed midwest price changes. Declines ranging from fractions to more than a point were common in such issues as St. Paul guaranteed 4½s, Baltimore and Ohio 4½s, due 1968; Chicago and North Western convertible 4½s, Denver and Rio Grande 5s, New York Central 4½s, issues of Texas and Pacific and others.

A sharp decline in National Dairy Products 5½s featured dealings in industrial bonds.

U. S. FAVORABLE TRADE BALANCE IS $295,212,000

Means 2,000,000 Jobs, Says Chapin.

ber industry exported 1,300,000,000 board feet, or about 13 per cent of the total output. He cited a similar example of the automobile industry with which he is most familiar, asserting that $80,000,000 worth of cars and parts were shipped abroad last year, representing 11½ per cent of the industry's production.

More than 50 per cent of the total cotton crop was shipped abroad in 1932, the foreign sales accounting for about 9,000,000 bales, Secretary Chapin asserted. He further demonstrated the importance of foreign markets in that they took 27 per cent of the leaf tobacco produced during the year, nine per cent of the apple crop, and 15 per cent of the total wheat production.

Germany's Balance Favorable.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—Germany's foreign trade in the last year still showed a favorable balance of $250,000,000 although this is a heavy decline compared with 1931

HEAVY RECEIPTS, SLOWER DEMAND CUT HOG PRICES

But Market Rallies Briskly Toward Close.

Hog prices slipped a notch under pressure of heavy supplies yesterday, the top going down 10c to $3.30, while the general average showed 5c loss at $3.10. Receipts were 30,000, compared with 23,258 the previous Wednesday. Only two Wednesday totals have been larger since a year ago. Simultaneously with this increase came a drop in shipping demand due to the sluggish condition of the pork trade at eastern distributing points. Outsiders bought only 1,500 head. However, local demand was broad enough to take care of the accumulation at the price reduction and a good clearance was effected before the close of the session.

Narrower outside demand subjected top grades to the brunt of the decline, hogs weighing under 225 lbs showing 10@15c loss for the day, while medium and heavy hogs lost 5@10c. Toward the close of the day the market took on a brighter appearance, with larger local packers fairly good buyers at prices within 5@10c of the extreme top of the list.

Light Cattle Steady.

Light and medium weight cattle maintained a good steady to strong price basis yesterday, but an increase in the proportion of heavy steers knocked the props from under prices in this division again.

With the exception of a few consignments of "stick outs" that sold on eastern account during the morning rounds at steady prices, heavy steers ruled weak to lower all day. The close was the low point for stock exceeding 1,200 lbs in weight. The market for these prime heavy long fed steers has declined $4.00@4.50 since the high point of the summer. This drastic cut has a parallel decline in the wholesale market for heavy beef. While light beef carcasses are selling as high as any time since the middle of November, the heaviest have slumped to the lowest levels in many years and are 3@4c per pound lower than the light beef.

Prime 1,207 lb steers to Wilson at $7.10 topped the cattle market yesterday. Others averaging 1,107 lbs cashed at $7.00, while prime 1,318 lb cattle sold at $6.25 and the bulk of the 1,300@1,600 lb averages at $4.25@5.25. Some fat 1,400 lb steers of plain quality had to go at $4.00. Weight was also a deciding factor in the butcher stock market.

Lambs Score Advances.

Gains were registered in slaughter lambs yesterday in face of the 10@1½c break in the wholesale trade since a week ago. Buyers were bearish, attempting to adjust live costs to correspond with the decline in the wholesale price of carcasses, but available offerings were too small for any change in a lower direction.

Sellers forced live lamb prices up 15@25c in some instances toward the close, when late estimates indicated that supplies were falling short of expectations. All interests paid up to $6.25 for well finished fed western lambs late in the day. Receipts were estimated early at 12,000, the second smallest for Wednesday since Nov. 9.

U. S. WILL GO ON SPREE WHEN SLUMP IS OVER, SAYS PSYCHOLOGIST

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Laughing at the contention that the business lull is having a sobering influence on America, Dr. Max Schoen of Carnegie Institute of Technology says "I believe just the opposite is true."

"The depression," observed Dr. Schoen today, "has caused a damming up of forces that will be let loose in intensified forms as soon as things pick up.

"Then the American people are going in for a real spree, for more intense work, more intense play, and for more intense amusements in all forms.

"Right now," continued Dr. Schoen, head of the psychology department at Carnegie, "people haven't the money to spend at night clubs, speakeasies, and parties.

"That's why they've gone in for jig saw puzzles and games that can be played at home.

"This country is an infant, unrestrained in play. Take candy away from children always used to it, and give it back to them in two weeks and they will eat themselves sick. So it is with the American people, who are frightfully spoiled children."

PRICES OF CRUDE OILS ARE CUT IN TWO FIELDS

Crude oil purchasing prices in the central west and the midcontinent fields were cut 25c a barrel yesterday.

The exceptions in the central west were a 12c cut on Indiana crude and 20c on Lima. The prices posted at Findlay by the Ohio Oil company, per barrel, were: Lima, 70c; Illinois, 62c; Princeton, 62c; Wooster, 70c; Indiana, 40c.

Stanolind and Sinclair were followed in the midcontinent field by Deep Rock, Continental, Barnsdall, Champlin, Anderson-Prichard, and Globe Oil and Refining. The new top prices are 52c a barrel for Oklahoma, Kansas, north and north central Texas, and 50c for east Texas.

German Banks Reduce Guaranty Loan $3,830,000

New York, Jan. 18. — William C. Potter, president of the Guaranty Trust company, told the stockholders today that German banks and customers owed the bank $34,848,000, a reduction of $3,830,000 from a year ago. The company paid about $18,000,000 in dividends in 1932 and added $936,000 to undivided surplus.

JOB INSURANCE, NOT 'DOLE,' HELD NEED OF NATION

Filene Sees Work as Way Out of Slump.

Asserting that the depression is the result of financial dislocation, Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant and philanthropist, in an address here yesterday urged that measures be adopted to supply credit facilities to wage earners and to protect them against unemployment.

The proposed remedies advanced by Mr. Filene were the development of a system of unemployment insurance and the encouragement of the credit union movement among workers. He spoke at a joint meeting of the ways and means committee and the advertising council of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

War Bad Investment.

The key to the whole economic unsettlement at the present lies with credit, Mr. Filene believes. Our present troubles, he declared, are not due so much to the fact that we spent too much in boom times, but that we spent unwisely. The war is one of the several investments which deserves a low rating, he said.

"Business must," the speaker declared, "evolve a system of unemployment insurance. Nor do I mean a dole. I mean a system of insurance that will so protect the masses against unemployment that they will not hesitate to spend their money to keep up a truly American standard of living."

Mr. Filene sets the cost of the present unemployment at $100,000,000 a day because 10 to 12 million workers are idle. Times will get better only when they are put back to work, he said.

Cites Credit Union Growth.

Referring to the credit union movement, Mr. Filene said that it was the only financial movement in America which has shown steady expansion during the depression and that it has enjoyed its greatest year in 1932.

"The movement," he said, "began 20 years ago. Workers got together and organized these credit unions. Sometimes they began with not more than a dozen members in a union, each paying 25 cents a week toward $5 a share, the money to be pooled and lent, on call, to members who find themselves in urgent need of loans.

"Today there are nearly eighteen hundred unions in America, with 300,000 members and total assets of more than 50 million dollars."
